Man survives gunfight

By DARRELL CLEM STAFF WRITER

A 32-year-old Westland man was shot seven times Saturday during an exchange of gunfire outside of a residence in the 36300 block of Booth, near Palmer between Wayne Road and Newburgh, police said.

The man received no life-threatening injuries and sought medical help on his own, police reports said. He was shot four times in the right leg and twice in the left hand, and a seventh bullet grazed his head and knocked off his cap, police said.

Conflicting stories have emerged about the gunfight that erupted shortly before 8:30 p.m. Saturday, when the wounded man and a Booth resident exchanged gunfire with shotguns, Westland Detective Sgt. Marc Stobbe said. Both reported firing in self-defense.

No other injuries were reported. Both men could face criminal charges. Stobbe said, but they had not been arraigned early this week.

The wounded man, a Second Street resident, told police that he went to the Booth residence to confront a 27year-old man whom he believed was responsible for earlier threats made against him. Threats had been posted on plywood signs on the man's Second Street lawn, police reports said.

The wounded man told police he believed the threats stemmed from a dispute over a girlfriend. He reported that he put a 12-gauge shotgun in his van and drove to the Booth residence to scare his rival, police reports said.

When he arrived, however, the rival's 54-year-old father came out of the house with a shotgun and opened fire, wounding him seven times and also hitting his van with bullets, the man told police.

The wounded man told police that he returned fire, shooting four times at a vehicle parked in the driveway of the Booth residence, police reports

However, the 54-year-old Booth resident told police that the man driving the van fired first. Moreover, the Booth resident said the wounded man made threats against his wife and son, the reports said.

"Both (men) admit to firing shotguns at each other. However, neither admits to firing first, and each (man) claims they fired in self-defense," police reports said.

The Booth resident told police that he didn't know he had hit the Second Street man when he fired the shotgun, police reports said.

Council president accused of playing politics at meeting

By DARRELL CLEM STAFF WRITER

Westland City Council president Thomas Brown violated the city charter by passing his gavel to another council member who presided over a recent meeting, a council watchdog charged Tuesday.

But Brown denied allegations from Dorothy Smith that he let the council's second-in-command - president pro tem Sandra Cicirelli — conduct the Feb. 7 session to boost her visibility on Westland's government cable

A legal opinion from city attorney Angelo Plakas concluded that "the president pro tem may only chair an entire meeting of the council when the council, president is absent . . . However, votes taken during the session will stand, he said Tuesday.

Smith accused Brown of trying to help Cicirelli, a Westland attorney, as she prepares to challenge 18th DisNovember judicial race.

Smith also criticized Brown for changing the seating arrangement at meetings, placing Cicirelli at his immediate right. Before Brown was named president in January, former

"Why did you put the president pro tem in front of the camera and put the city clerk in the boondocks?" Smith asked, adding later, "Since this is an election year for judge, I just wondered if it was a matter of ex-

Plakas confirmed that Brown should preside over council meetings, though Cicirelli would step in during

In his own defense, Brown said he decided weeks ago to open up the presidency and let the pro tem person conduct meetings on occasion. More-trict Judge C. Charles Bokos in the over, he said Cicirelli had put together the Feb. 7 agenda because he was out of town.

Both denied any political motiva-

"You're bringing up politics now," Brown told Smith. "There's no politics intended." Cicirelli asserted that the actions were "not for political purposes. That's not why that was done. She asked the city clerk to get a legal opinion on the issue. Had she been seeking the spotlight, Cicirelli said she would be council president. "I had the opportunity to be council president. I declined that opportunity," she said. Brown said the city attorney's opinion will be reviewed, and "we will conduct these meetings as prescribed."

But he defended his decision to change the seating arrangement. "We do have some latitude," he said.

in the Wayne-Westland district as school officials eye teaching methods more compatible with a middle school concept.

Team teaching could become prevalent if officials follow through on a much-discussed, districtwide middle school plan, which would group students in grades six, seven and eight in the same buildings. Ninth-graders would be moved to the high schools.

This year, educators chose to group The project puts Stevenson in the lead only nine students together, allowing the smaller blocks to cross paths with other blocks as they move from class to class. But Stevenson, a 1,005-student school on Palmer west of Newburgh, is expected to return to the more popular 30-student blocks next year, Camp said.

Team teaching allows classroom teachers in all disciplines to focus on the same subject at the same time, reinforcing what students learn. During recent stud-Stevenson educators launched their ies of the Caribbean, students made maps to learn the area's geography, gave mock Caribbean weather forecasts in their science classes, and read books about the Caribbean in their English

Aside from the curriculum advantages, team teaching also has made it easier for teachers to focus on behavior problems of some students, said English teacher Barry Shiek.

"We can track them hourly," he said. Shiek also pointed out that parents who contact the school with concerns about their children can meet not only with one primary teacher, but the entire teaching team.

"That's been tremendously positive," Shiek said.

Although the project has focused primarily on seventh-graders, it has been expanded somewhat to the eighth grade, Camp said. Some students recently dressed in Caribbean clothing when they studied that section.

"Everybody in the building gets involved," Camp said. District officials haven't announced a specific timetable of moving to a middle school plan, but it would likely be at least a couple of years before the plan goes into effect.

In the meantime, however, Stevenson will continue to fine-tune the team teaching approach that would make the middle school transition easier, Camp said. Stevenson, in fact, could become a model for other Wayne-Westland schools during the transition.

Fire officials say residents should be wary of solicitors

Westland citizens "are being plagued" with telephone solicitations for cash donations by callers who are wrongfully using the name of the local fire department, said Patrick Harder, Westland's assistant chief/fire marshal.

In a press release, Harder stressed that the calls are coming from an organization known as the Michigan Association of Firefighters, which "is not affiliated with or endorsed by the Westland fire department.'

Some Westland residents may perceive that they won't receive assistance during an emergency unless they make donations — which is not the case, Harder said.

"The Westland fire department does not solicit funds over the telephone for any reason,' Harder said. People contacted by telephone "should simply state that they do not wish to make a contribution," he said.

If contacted in person, residents should ask to see the local fire department identification, Harder said.

"If threatened in any way, please make note of the time of day and the actual conversation," he said.

Complaints should be forwarded to the fire marshal's office, 467-3261.

City council delays vote on residential site plan

By Darrell Clem

In a conciliatory move, a condominium developer has agreed to meet with Westland residents who oppose his plans to build 25 homes on the south side of Hunter, just east of Wayne Road.

Despite some resident opposition, however, developer/architect Amarjit Chawney reminded the Westland City Council on Tuesday that he has met all of the legal requirements necessary to build Westhaven Estates, a detached condominium develop-

The proposal came before the council Tuesday night for a vote on the site plan, which would clear the last major hurdle to the project. A decision was postponed for two weeks.

Councilman David Cox sought the delay and asked Chawney to meet with residents to discuss concerns about increased traffic on Hunter and the use of heavy construction equipment in a neighborhood where children walk to school. Westhaven Estates would be built just west of Edison Elementary School.

"We're going to be neighbors in this area for a long time," Cox told Chawney. "I'd like to see us get off on the right foot."

City planning director Tod Kilroy noted that 25 single-family, ranch-style condominiums would be built. The smallest home would contain 1,260 square feet of space; the largest, 1,658 square feet. Prices would start at $120,000, Chawney said.

didn't want condominiums "in every available space" when she moved to her neighborhood eight

"I want real homes," she said. "I don't want abandoned buildings like Detroit's evesores.'

Aldrich said Westland has seen several developments fizzle, such as an abandoned PharMor drugstore project on Central City Parkway south of Warren.

"Let's take care of the buildings that we already have before we desecrate the rest of the city,"

Some council members have said Chawney's plan marks a vast improvement over an earlier-proposed townhouses development on the same site.

Smith, now principal of the Livonia Career Center, replaces Watson who will begin his duties as superintendent July 1, or sooner if current Superintendent? Joseph Marinelli steps down before June 30. Marinelli's contract with the district expires then.

In Wayne-Westland, Thomas said Liepa's job will be posted both inside and outside of the district. Thomas hopes to find a successor before Liepa leaves.

Liepa, hired as Wayne-Westland's supervisor of accounting in 1987, became the top finance official after Elwood London retired. Liepa earlier had worked for Plante and Moran, a firm of certified public accountants based in Southfield.

"It has been a good experience for me here in Wayne-Westland, and I think there are some good people who work here," Liepa said Tuesday, "We've done the best we could with the money we had."

Liepa said he decided to make a career move because "these opportunities don't come up very of-

At the Livonia board's meeting, officials praised Liepa and Smith. · "I'm please to have someone of his (Liepa's) caliber to our team," Watson said. "Both his education and background make him an Joutstanding person.

"And Smith has the ability to do what has to be done to move our district toward the 21st century. The strongest qualities he has are his vision, his willingness to express that vision, and his willingness to look at change as we move toward doing a better job." The district has not yet replaced a second key executive who will retire June 30 - Art Howell, director of operations. Watson called Laundroche a "difficult person to replace."

"He's played a significant role through times of intense budget problems," Watson said. "It's hard to lose good people, but people have different stages of their life and they move on. I'm happy for him.'

Laundroche plans to spend the summer in Alaska.

Smith, who has served as assistant principal at both Stevenson and Churchill high schools, called his new post a "great chal-

"We must not be afraid to try new things as we look to the year 2000," Smith said. "We can't stay in the status quo. If we do, we'll get behind. We need to better prepare our kids for the future. We need to start educating parents in terms of the changing job market."

Trustee Richard McKnight called Liepa an "expert number cruncher" who has worked closely and extensively with the 10 districts in the Metropolitan Association for Improved School Legislation (MAISL).

"He's an outstanding guy," McKnight said.

All the job changes take place when Watson becomes superintendent July 1, or sooner if Marinelli leaves sooner.

Marinelli has no definite job plans yet. "I'm exploring a number of very fine options that are available. This is the time of the year for announcements and turnover. It's a very competitive field."

In Livonia, Laundroche also has been a teacher at Bryant Junior High, assistant principal and principal at Riley Junior High, career center administrator, director of career education services, principal of the career center, director of secondary education, and assistant superintendent for business/instruction.

Smith joined the district in 1968 as a teacher at-Stevenson High. Since then he also has been Stevenson's social studies chairman, assistant principal of both Churchill and Stevenson, and vocational director.

Meeting topic: saving woods

Residents trying to protect a wooded area northeast of Palmer and Wildwood have scheduled a meeting for citizens interested in joining their effort. The meeting will be at noon Saturday at the YMCA at 827 S. Wayne Road, south of Cherry Hill.

Residents have been worried that the 50-acre site known as Sassafras Trails will be sold by its owner, the Wayne-Westland school district.

Family defends man convicted of killing child

By JAY GROSSMAN

It took less than 11 minutes to turn Donald Gimotty's life upside

But his family hopes to turn it right side up through appeals and a petition drive.

Gimotty led police on an 11minute chase that tragically ended with the death of a 3-year-old

The chase started on a warm July night after Gimotty, 30, of Westland stole six dresses from Winkelman's clothing store at 13 Mile and Woodward in Royal

Another man who was in the car, Calvin Billingslea, 44, of Detroit faces similar charges.

During his trial, Gimotty said Billingslea stole the dresses and pushed him to elude police.

Gimotty was driving his silver Ford Thunderbird when he led police through four different cities at speeds of up to 70 mph. He tried running a red light at the corner of Maple and Dequindre in Troy when he crashed into an Oldsmobile minivan.

The driver of the minivan, Lisa Ann Sarles, 35, of Warren, was left in critical condition from the crash. Her daughter, Nicole Thibideau, who was sitting in the front seat in a restraining chair, was killed.

Gimotty now faces an automatic sentence of life in prison without parole after a jury found him guilty last week of first-degree felony murder. His only previous conviction was for stealing a Walkman radio.

While his family is upset over young Nicole's death, they're also angry with the sentence. They say it's simply too harsh, especially since the whole chase began over a shoplifting incident.

"We're sticking behind him," said his sister, Jill Gimotty. "We know he deserves some punishment, but not what he got. That's ridiculous."

The family is already planning to appeal the verdict. Jill Gimotty also wants to start a statewide petition drive to place greater restrictions on police chases.

"Something has to be done," she said. "There's too many innocent people getting hurt on these

H 'He cries all the time and he keeps telling us that he's not a killer, that he never wanted to hurt anyone.

Jill Gimotty

chases."

Jill Gimotty shared an apartment with her brother. She describes him as a steady worker who never got into serious trouble before. "He just got involved in something that was way over his head," she said.

The family visits him on a regular basis at Oakland County Jail while he awaits the formality of his March 21 sentencing date. Jill Gimotty said her brother is still remorseful over Nicole's death.

"He cries all the time," she said, "and he keeps telling us that he's not a killer, that he never wanted to hurt anyone.'

Gimotty's mother, Judy Bullock, said she's received dozens of calls from supporters who agree the sentence was too harsh. "It's just so sad and he's so heartbroken," Bullock said. "It's not like we don't think about what the other family is going through . . . but I lost a son, too.'

Both mother and daughter believe police should have broken off the chase when it became clear Gimotty wasn't going to stop. Several police officers from Berkley and Madison Heights testified in court they were aware it was a --pair of shoplifters they were chasing. Troy police were not involved in the chase.

Bullock also claims she was misquoted in a recent news story that described her son as a con man, but not a hardened criminal.

"He's anything but a con man," she said. "And he's got dozens of friends who will testify to that."

Her goal, however, is to do more than clear her son's name. Bullock wants to see that he doesn't spend the rest of his life in prison. She thought the jury would return with a verdict of manslaughter.

Billingslea, who was a passenger in the Thunderbird, faces similar charges and is still awaiting

County residency requirement sought

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW STAFF WRITER

A Wayne County commissioner wants to force almost all the employees of the county government to live in Wayne County.

Currently, of 5,137 county employees (not including court employees), 439 live outside Wayne County.

Commissioner Bernard Parker. D-Detroit, has introduced an ordinance that says, "Each person who is hereafter hired to a position as an employee of the county of Wayne shall maintain their principal residency within Wayne County. The chief executive officer shall place the highest priority upon implementing this policy when bargaining with each (union) of Wayne County employ-

Furthermore, Parker's ordinance gives the commission and Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara an option to waive the residency requirement "in those cases where particular skills are required which are not possessed by a county resident."

The commission has scheduled a public hearing on the ordinance for its next meeting, 10 a.m. Thursday, March 3, at 600 Randolph in Detroit. Interested people may comment on the proposed ordinance at that time. Commissioners can adopt the ordinance after the public hearing. >

Commissioner Thaddeus McCotter, R-Livonia, who also represents Plymouth and Plymouth Township, opposes the ordinance, but thinks it will be approved. "This is all just gut-level. said.

It would be nice if county employees all wanted to live in Wayne County, but they shouldn't be forced to do so, McCotter said.

Commissioner Bryan Amann, D-Wayne, who also represents Canton Township, opposes the ordinance, too. "We need to have the freedom to get the best and brightest (employees)," he said. "From the taxpayers' perspective, you want to get the best, most qualified people you can.'

Commissioner Kay Beard, D-Westland, who also represents Garden City, voted for the ordinance in committee.

 Commissioner Michelle Plawecki, D-Dearborn Heights, who also represents Redford policy making at its worst," he Township and part of Livonia, opposes the ordinance. She fears. that neighboring counties might also adopt residency requirements, making it more difficult for Wayne County residents to find work.

> Howard Rubenstein, president of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, Local 101, said the union's position is that a residency requirement, if implemented, should apply to all employees.

"One of the things unions want to be about is fairness," he said. Other than that, the union doesn't support or oppose Parker's ordinance, Rubenstein said.

Parker could not be reached for comment.

Readers' questions on Prop A answered

Most of your dozens of questions on Proposal A continue to be about the homestead exemption affidavit — the simple form you must sign to make your home eligible for the 6- or 12-mill property tax instead of 24 mills.

Q. I own and occupy my own home. My daughter and son-in-law are on the deed as co-owners. Whose name and Social Security number are needed?

On my deed, there are myself and my wife. But my wife's name is on her mother's deed.

A. Only co-owners who occupy the home as their principal residence must sign the affidavit, the state Treasury Department says. Family members who are co-owners but don't live there should not sign.

Be careful if you own a house and are listed on a parent's house as co-owner. Sign an affidavit only for the house you occupy. You are entitled only to one homestead tax break. Q. My children are owners of my home, but I hold a life estate. May I claim the exemption? A. "Yes. Fill out the affidavit using your name, address, Social Security number and signature. Your children should not sign the affidavit," Treasury says.

Q. We live in a mobile home in a trailer park in South Lyon. Do we get any break?

A. You may claim an exemption on your garage and shed if they're taxable. But mobile homes in a licensed park are taxed under a different law, not the homestead property tax.

Homeowners object to SS number request

BY TIM RICHARD STAFF WRITER

Homeowners who object to giving the local assessor their Social Security numbers may have to prove by other means that they're eligible for the lower school property tax rate this year.

Citing fears of "Big Brother," some homeowners are refusing to give their Social Security numbers when they send city or township hall the affidavit entitling them to a six- or 12-mill tax rate on their domiciles.

Without some proof, they may have to pay 24 mills.

"The Michigan Department of Treasury has the legal authority to use Social Security numbers for tax purposes," according to the state treasurer's Feb. 10 advisory memo. "Federal law prohibits the state or local governments from releasing a Social Security number to unauthorized persons. Local governments may not use Social Security numbers for any purpose other than to administer the homestead exemption.

Maximum penalty for improperly disclosing a Social Security number: five years in prison and a fine of $5,000.

Will you receive the homestead exemption if you fail or refuse to enter your Social Security num-

Treasury's answer: "The Department of Treasury may ask for further verification of your homestead exemption claim." It does not say what "further verification" might be.

All property will be taxed at 24 mills for school operations except your principal homestead. If Proposal A, a constitutional amendment, is approved March 15 by voters, the rate will be six mills; if it's rejected, 12 mills. Deputy treasurer Madhu Anderson said the state requests the number to "preclude any person from having or claiming more than one principal residence at any time.

are stocked to the ceiling with large-stone gravel for the unpaved roads and cold patch for the potholes," Wayne County director of roads Robert Mahoney reported in a press release.

The way it works is this: Thawing frost near the surface, unable to drain through the frozen ground below, mixes with soil to form a soft mud unable to support the weight of pavement and vehicles. This causes areas of the road to collapse and potholes to form.

frost-bearing ground can become three feet of slick mud, as was experienced across much of the eastern United States last spring.

The only way motorists can avoid a bad spring is if the temperatures rise gradually, allowing moisture to be released slowly, and if there are no significant spring rains. But if the thaw is really fast, large-stone gravel will be dumped by the truckload on unpaved roads, which will later be graded, or scraped to smooth out

Homestead form

Engler attempts to extend deadline

late.

BY TIM RICHARD

Homeowners are likely to see a May 1 deadline for filing a homestead exemption affidavit to get a major break on the school property taxes.

The state has taken two steps to push back the deadline from the original March 1:

■ Gov. John Engler issued an executive order extending the deadline two months effective if Proposal A is adopted by voters March 15. Engler said he lacked authority to push back the deadline under the statutory plan that takes effect if Proposal A is rejected.

■ The state Senate Tuesday approved a bill to extend the deadline under the backup plan and sent it to the House, where passage may come as early as today.

"The March 1 deadline has caused a great deal of confusion and anger — and I don't blame taxpayers for being upset," Engler said. "I've made it clear that I think our property owners should have more time to file, and I will sign a bill that. extends the deadline.'

Affidavit forms weren't mailed out until mid-February, giving vacationing homeowners too lit-

Meanwhile, freshman state Rep. Deborah Whyman. R-Canton, learned a major lesson of politics: There's no limit to what you can accomplish if you don't care who gets credit.

Whyman, a member of the House Taxation Committee, drafted the bill to extend the deadline, but it ran into problems in committee.

"I got a call from Posthumus (Sen. Dick." » Posthumus, GOP majority leader) asking if the Senate could use my blue back (original copy of the bill)," Whyman said. She consented, Senators; then introduced her bill as their own and passed-

Officially the sponsor will be Sen. Gil DiNello, R-Eastpointe. Among 23 co-sponsors are area Republicans Michael Bouchard of Birmingham, Robert Geake of Northville, Fred Dillingham of Fowlerville and Mat Dunaskiss of Lake Orion.

The bill also allows a homeowner to reapply for an exemption every two years instead of annually. It requires the state treasurer to reimburse the: taxpayer for overpayment if an affidavit is filed -

The school finance reform package taxes principal homesteads at a lower rate, but homeowners. must file an affidavit stating that a property is. their principal residence. The affidavit must include the PIN (property identification number), co-owners' signatures and their Social Securitynumbers.

A. Yes, but only the portion of your home you live in, not on the portion you rent out. On the affidavit, find section 3, and enter the percentage of your home that you occupy and explain with a note on the form.

Q. My home and an additional lot are on the same deed and mortgage. But the lot has a separate PIN (property identification number) on the tax bill. Can the vacant lot qualify for an exemption?

A. Yes, you may claim an exemption for the lot if it's adjacent and contiguous to your home, according to Treasury. If it's across the road, the lot is still contigu-

A. That continues to bother readers. We get two answers:

Rep. Willis Bullard, R-Milford, co-chair of the House Taxation Committee, wants to pro-rate the exemption. If you're in the home a half-year, you'd get half the tax break.

Treasury's answer: "No. The property was not being occupied as a principal residence on tax day, Dec. 31, 1993. However, the 1994 assessment will not be based on the value of a completed home since a completed home did not exist on the tax day. A. This reporter is neither a CPA nor an attorney and isn't licensed to give such detailed advice. Treasury's answer is short and sweet: "You must claim the exemption for the home you occupy as your principal residence." Treasury does not check your affidavit against your voter registration. County plans to take over DNR's regulation function

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW STAFF WRITER

In an effort to speed the process of everything from road building to redevelopment of property, the Wayne County government is trying to take over many of the key oversight responsibilities of the state Department of Natural Resources.

"We have major problems with the DNR now, as I suspect everybody does," said deputy county executive Michael Duggan. "Ultimately, what we'd like to do is be free of the DNR bureaucracy."

Specifically, Duggan objects to the DNR's performance regarding permit applications, which must be submitted whenever building activity occurs near water or requires soil to be moved.

Some developers, Duggan said, have waited more than two years for the DNR to act on a permit application. Wayne County won't take as long, he said. "The answer may be no, but we promise them a prompt answer."

So far, thanks to a Clean Air Act bill passed in Lansing last year, Wayne County has the responsibility to administer air pollution laws that the DNR handles everywhere else in Michigan. All air pollution emission fees in Wayne County are now paid to the county instead of the DNR.

County officials hope to get authorization this year to add ground contamination and wetlands to its list of responsibilities.

Michael Duggan Deputy county executive

The county commission voted last Thursday to establish "The Wayne County Department of the Environment," to be administered by Executive Edward McNamara. A commission committee to oversee the new department's activities was also created.

Commissioner Michelle Plawecki, D-Dearborn Heights, who also represents Redford Township and part of Livonia, is chairwoman of the committee. Commissioner Thaddeus McCotter, R-Livonia, who also represents Plymouth and Plymouth Township, is the vice chair-

Plawecki said last week that she will run an activist committee. "We're going to actively go after companies and industries we can trace who have contaminated the soil," she said.

The committee will hold public hearing throughout the county beginning in less than two months to hear complaints about pollution and pollution regulations, Plawecki said.

Duggan said the environment department will be built from portions of existing county departments, including health and public works. The new department will probably be headed by James Murray, who currently is: the public works director. No new employees will be hired. Duggan

The environment department is almost universally supported on the county commission.

Commission Vice Chairwoman Kay Beard, D-Westland, is among the supporters, but she attempted Thursday to block the vote establishing the new department.

Because McNamara didn't submit an executive department reorganization plan to the commission after he was re-elected in 1990, as Beard believes the county charter requires him to do, commissioners would "make ourselves look foolish" by authorizing the new department, Beard

The commission would be amending a re-organization plan that doesn't exist. Beard said.

Several other commissioners argued that a ballot proposal approved by voters in 1992 requiring the county executive to submit a re-organization plan to the commission every four years makes Beard's point moot.

Award recognizes teacher's enthusiasm

Diane Duncan is surprised that she was nominated for the Wayne-Westland school district's "Teacher of the Year" award because many of her colleagues have more experience. Duncan teaches language arts at Lincoln Elementary School.

BY LEONARD POGER

Diane Duncan, Lincoln Elementary School teacher in the Wayne-Westland district, doesn't hold the typical teacher's resume.

While she did receive her bachelor's degree at 22, she found out a month after graduation that she was pregnant with the first of her two chil-

She stayed home with her son and daughter before entering the work world in 1979 as a Wayne-Westland Family YMCA preschool gymnastics instructor. In 1982, she served as a teacher's aide at the Red Bell Nursery School Westland. Three years later, she was a substitute teacher in the Wayne-Westland district as well as at St. Mary Catholic School, Wayne.

Duncan, now 42, began teaching full time at Hicks Elementary before transferring to Lincoln, Elliott and back to Lincoln.

Because of her dedication and enthusiasm in the classroom, Duncan is the school district's nominee for the "Teacher of the Year" recognition program sponsored by Newsweek/WDIV-TV.

Duncan's "teaching style is diverse and offers her students variety and opportunities for learning," said coworker Janice Tomlinson, a Lincoln School resource room teacher. The nomination was initiated by Marian Greer, Lincoln principal.

Duncan uses music, art, movement, drama and extensive cooperative learning experiences, said demically," Tomlinson said.

Tomlinson in her nomination.

Over the past two years, as Lincoln's special education students re-entered conventional classrooms, Duncan "rose to the challenge. She is progressive in her attitude toward inclusion (of disabled students in the conventional classroom), is flexible in her program adjustment, and makes it possible for all of her students to learn and be successful," Tomlinson said.

Duncan is also a risk taker and an innovator, she said.

The nominee is active in pursuing opportunities for incentive and esteem-building projects.

For example, Duncan co-wrote a 10-week goal-oriented incentive program in which 98 percent of students involved were successful.

During the current school year, Duncan and her students took part in "Creative Connections," an inter-generational mentoring project. A language arts teacher in a two-person team-teaching arrangement, Duncan found time from her work and family to enter graduate school and earn a master's degree in reading in 1992.

Duncan said she was surprised at being nominated for the annual recognition award, especially since many others have more experience.

Working mainly with students from the Norwayne neighborhood, which has a high concentration of low-income families, many pupils are "considered to be high-risk aca-

But Duncan daily provides a "safe, challenging environment for teaching and learning," she said.

What has been been her family's reaction?

Her husband, William, is a little 'embarrassed," being concerned mainly with accompanying her to a televised recognition dinner to be held in early May.

Duncan's daughter, Katy, a John Glenn High School sophomore, "doesn't know what to make of it." A son, Neil, attends Michigan Technological University in the Upper Peninsula where he is love it," referring to her profession.

a freshman.

Typically, her family is very supportive of her career, she said.

Duncan said she has no regrets in staying home with her children shortly after earning her degree.

"It was a good thing," she recalled, "in that I gave my children a good foundation. I'm not sorry I staved home."

Duncan said she wanted to be a teacher when she was a youngster.

The only regrets are the days when "I take home papers to grade and stay up until midnight, but I

Firm makes loans available to individuals with troubled credit

There are many reasons why millions of Americans fall victim to credit problems every year. From maxing out credit cards to more sobering causes including loss of employment, family growth, medical emergencies and poor training in personal and household financial management.

Fortunately, there is now a local company making consolidation and new purchase loans available to people in these situations. We asked Bill Cunnington, Vice President of Security Home Loan...

Who is eligible for one of these loans?

We will work with individuals who have equity in their homes and have had debt problems of one type or another.

How does the loan work?

We take people who are living from paycheck to paycheck and consolidate all of their obligations into one lower payment. In fact, the average person will save from 30 to 40 percent a month with a consolidation of this type.

How can someone apply for one of these loans?

At Security, we pre-approve people over the phone at no charge. At that time, we also give the person an idea of how much money we can save them.

Call Bill Cunnigton at Security Home Loan (810) 669-4334 if you are interested in having a payment

False spring fools nature

Animals, plants get caught short of food

Spring officially starts in just a few weeks but last week our weather was spring-like. In combination with longer daylight periods some thought spring was here.

Animals and TIMOTHY plants are aware of these changes too. The lengthening daylight period begins to stimulate changes in the body that initiate changes in behavior. Migration and courtship begin. But animals must wait for the right condition before mating begins.

Warm periods, like the one we experienced last week, may cause birds and plants to act like it's spring. Redwinged blackbirds may come north and establish nesting territories. Buds on trees may begin to swell.

Spring may be recognized as a period of regrowth, but it can be one of the hardest times for plants and animals. Warm conditions at about the right time can cause behaviors that turn out to be premature. If a bird migrates north too early, it could encounter a severe storm that would put the animal in jeopardy.

Many migratory birds are insect eaters. Not many insects are available early in spring. They could get trapped here because of ice and snow and not be able to find food.

Trees may open their buds too early because of the warm weather and force flowering too early. If freezing temperatures occur during blooming, the flower dies and no fruit will form. Since fruits are what make more trees, the chance to replace dead or dying trees has been lost.

Food supply for winter residents also is at its lowest point. If there has been a hard winter and spring temperatures are late in arriving, there many not be enough food to last until new food supplies occur.

On the other hand, if a bird arrives early and can find food and a nesting territory, it may be able to raise more young than those birds who do not arrive early. If a tree blooms early and leaves come out early, because of the warm temperature, it will set seed early and have leaves to produce food for a longer period. Producing more food for storage will help the tree to survive during periods of stress. Behavior of plants and animals

Beating the blahs

A winter festival would be fun

estland — Michigan's winter wond-That could be the theme of a community-based winter week of fun, similar to the summer Fourth of July activities. City councilwoman Sharon Scott recently raised the idea of a winter festival, politely commenting that this season is dull for local residents.

Scott may be on to something.

While the city doesn't have the centralized downtown that Plymouth and Wayne have for their festivals, Westland does have a lot of other facilities that can be used.

Among the major physical improvements which could be used for a winter festival are the Central City Park and its Friendship Lake, already used for ice fishing. But the large, open expenses could provide excellent cross country skiing with the tennis courts flooded over for ice skating.

The nearby Bailey Recreation Center could be also be used for inside winter-theme activities, such as a holiday dance or dinner under the sponsorship of local civic groups. A short distance away, the Westland Sports Arena could be used for a hockey tournament or figure skating exhibition.

A short drive away, the Wayne-Westland Family YMCA is always looking for ways to generate more use of its excellent facilities, such as an indoor swimming pool and the nearby child care center where Santa Claus listens to children's gift requests.

On a commercial level, Westland Center can be tied in to special winter-season events or activities for people who want to stay inside.

While Westland has no major hotel/motel base like Plymouth, any winter festival can be geared to making sure people just have funwithout spending a lot of money.

Hopefully, the administration and city council will convene a committee this spring or summer to develop plans for some type of winter festival.

Flower power

Make believe it's spring: No matter what the weather is like outside, a few flowers like these irises being collected by shop assistant Lois Bierman at McFarland Florist on Grand River in Farmington Hills have the power to bring spring indoors.

School district will miss Liepa

he Wayne-Westland school district will miss Randy Liepa, who was named Monday as the new business manager for the nearby Livonia Public Schools. Besides his professional expertise, Liepa added substantial credibility to the district, after several years of problems when the school administration's financial projections weren't believed by the community.

Liepa always handled the financial and political juggling of school finance with honesty and

He joined the school district's business office nearly seven years ago as supervisor of accounting and was promoted to department head 21/2 years ago.

The board of education is sorry to see him go, as well the district of some 16,000 students and thousands of local taxpayers who benefited from his expert and clear analysis of various state school financing reform proposals.

Marketing ploy a useful tool hen someone advises you to "call New York," it's usually a sarcastic inference that you're incapable of handling things yourself.

Well, some Oakland County folks did call New York — actually The Wall Street Journal - recently. But, in so doing, they lead us to believe that they're handling things just fine.

Oakland County will be the subject of a 12page advertising supplement in the Journal. Stories and pictures will tell and show how good it is to live and do business in Oakland County.

The supplement makes Oakland County look good. A similar effort could do the same for Wayne County, we believe.

Oakland County is the fifth wealthiest in United States, according to one estimate, and is certainly "the epicenter of business in Michigan" in the words of Ken Rogers, the economic development director for county government who helped secure the deal with the Journal.

The supplement will appear tomorrow, Friday, Feb. 25, in Wall Street Journals that are sold in 15 Midwestern states.

If Rogers and Oakland County Executive L. Brooks Patterson are smiling over this deal, it could be because all the positive publicity about their turf apparently didn't cost the county one single tax dollar.

The Wall Street Journal wrote the stories, took the photographs and sold the advertisements that appear in the supplement. That's fine with us. Oakland County is blowing its horn on somebody else's battery juice... But the important thing is that the horn gets tooted and the county's story gets told to some very important Midwestern readers who are concerned with business.

■ The supplement makes Oakland County look good. A similar effort could do the same for Wayne County, we believe.

And, if it works in Oakland County, why not try it in Wayne County, too? After all, western Wayne County is certainly no slouch when it comes to providing good places to work and do business.

When Ed McNamara was mayor of Livonia, we remember, the city administration engaged in a lot of one-on-one promotion, advertising and recruiting.

Such efforts haven't been very noticeable for a long while south of Eight Mile and west of Telegraph. It's time to revive them, and something like this Wall Street Journal supplement would be a good way to do it.

"We think it (the Journal supplement) is an opportunity for everyone to explore," said Oakland County's Rogers.

Rogers said he thinks the Oakland supplement will recur next year and the year after and

"It's a demonstration of government not settling for the status quo," he said. "We need to find new ways to talk to the people we want to do business with. We're trying to do new things, getting off with the old and on with the new.'

Vote 'yes' March 15

emocrats who argue in favor of a 6-percent state income tax are being penny wise and dollar foolish. A higher state intax would be devastating to poor and lowincome people in Michigan.

Why? Because a higher income tax is a tax on jobs! Poor people need jobs more than rich people. The income tax is a "jobs tax." If you tax something, you get less of it. Fewer jobs in Michigan is the last thing that poor and lowincome people need. The jobs tax is the cruelest tax of all!

By creating a "normalized" tax structure in Michigan — you encourage existing business and industry to stay and you attract new industries. There is already talk of re-opening General Motors' closed Willow Run plant.

The sales tax is a tax on "conspicuous consumption." Rich people who buy lots of new cars and luxury items will pay most of this tax. Poor people are mostly exempt from this tax because food, rent and medicine are not taxed. To say otherwise is pure policy wonk nonsense!

Vote yes on March 15. Don't tax poor and low-income people out of their jobs. Instead raise the "conspicuous consumption" tax on your doctor's new Mercedes and your dentist's new Porsche. Don't worry — they'll still be able to afford it.

Walter Warren, Westland

Support legal challenge

here is a third choice! Proposal "A" and the "Blackmail" backup statutory plan do not represent a choice between the sales tax and the income tax, nor the Democratic plan versus the Republican plan. They represent the actions of an arrogant and deceitful government who, having lost fairly several elections in the past, is now trying to force you to accept a massive tax increase and the loss of your constitutional right to tax limitation and tax fairness.

The uniformity clause in the constitution is destroyed by Proposal "A" and seriously violated by the statutory plan. This includes both the uniformity of property assessments and property tax millages levied. The door will be wide open for tax discrimination!

Both proposals immediately discriminate against business people, renters and other people foolish enough to have invested in Michigan. Under Proposal "A," they will pay four times the property tax of single-family owners, twice as much under the "Blackmail" plan.

Both proposals also nullify the property tax limitations of Article 9, Section 6 of the Michigan Constitution. A state education authority is created for the sole purpose of levying property taxes which will be exempt from these limitations. Local school boards may vote to become authorities, thus exempting their taxes from ' these limitations. The stated property tax limits in these proposals of 6 or 12 mills on homesteads and 24 mills on non homesteads are sinking fund millages. Many property owners will pay more property taxes than they currently

To add insult to injury, Proposal "A" takes away your right to vote on future school tax increases and grants this right to the legislature!

The proposed sales tax or income tax increases are less than 18 percent of this total school spending program, which has been increased by $1.2 billion. Obviously, many other taxes are increased, such as land transfer taxes, single business taxes, cigarette and tobacco taxes and telephone taxes.

All of this is supposedly being done for education and school finance reform, neither of which is accomplished by either proposal! The funds behind each student will still be unequal and the little education reform involved pushes us further down the path of outcome-based education and school intervention in student privacy and parental rights. The funds raised by these proposals are not earmarked for kindergarten through 12th-grade education. They may be used for higher education and school employee retirement costs, the proportion of which will be determined by the legislature.

You do not have to choose the lessor of these two evils! Defeat Proposal "A" at the ballot and support Taxpayers United in mounting a legal challenge to the unconstitutional and illegal statutory plan. Then support the simple constitutional 20-percent property tax reduction contained in Senate Bill 667.

Job talk becomes a political constant et a job" is more than just a popular song by the Silhouettes from the late 1950s. It's the politically correct thing to talk about. "Jobs. jobs. jobs." Jim Blanchard

His replacement, John Engler, crooned in his state of the state address this year that not only were good paying jobs important, but unemployment was lower than the national average for the first time in 23 years.

Wednesday, U.S. Rep. Bob Carr added his voice to the chorus by declaring himself a candidate for the U.S. Senate, saying the issue was to grow the economy in order to promote — you guessed it - jobs.

Making it a quartet is the Detroit job summit now in the planning stages.

But it seems that always has been a tune for the times. Those of us attending the University of Detroit back in the '60s studied medicine or marriage, as sometimes still happened at that time. But basically we were there to get jobs, and when the university president declared that we were an urban school with a mission to the community and to ourselves personally, we figured he was just tooting his horn.

I switched to journalism while in college and found not only a way to earn a living but a way of living.

However, my college career hit a high note while on the job as an editor with the Varsity News at U-D. It's about this time each year that I remember when in 1968 Martin Luther King Jr. came to speak at the original Grosse Pointe High School.

My job that cold night, as we crossed the picket line of right-winger Donald Lobsinger, was to photograph King as he spoke before a packed auditorium. A writer by training, it would be the first time my photos would be published.

I did my job and got the pictures, but I often wonder how much richer I would have been had I been able to listen to his words.

Sometimes, when I have the moody blues, I remember those days and what I later learned from those in and out of my career. From a professor: Stay flexible. From Roger B. Smith, a Bloomfield Hills resident and former chairman of General Motors who spoke to our Observer & Eccentric editors group: If you don't like the job you're doing, switch.

Some years after college graduation, I met one of the editors I had worked with on the Varsity News during the great Detroit daily newspaper strike the year that King died. While daily reporters walked the streets that year, we published a special edition. I met that former editor at a suburban art show. He said that he now traveled the country - making jewelry.

That's why I'm concerned about a political refrain that is fast becoming public policy — whether we like it or not. There are spin doctors out there who tout training high school students for jobs.

While it's one thing to provide them with work skills, it's quite another thing to train them for one specific job. High school students may still be exploring their interests, and the job market is in a continual state of flux, now that high school grads are no longer guaranteed slots in the auto indus-

Which brings me to my final point. We certainly don't want our youth coasting through life without a job. But politicians talking about jobs are a lot like country music: They'll always go on whining.

Just think of this. Michael Jordan, a basketball megastar recognizable from Chicago to Calcutta, left it all behind for an infinitesimal chance to be the last man on the Chicago White Sox bench.

Or is it all a stunt? I don't know. I do know that if the Mets, the Tigers or the Toledo Mud Hens called, and if they invited me down to spring training, and if they let me get even one time at bat, I'd dig right in, swinging with all the strength I could muster;

State coffers are losing bet on funding through wagers ambling may be going the way of smoking: down.

Both horse race wagering and the State Lottery are losing customers and yielding shrinking revenue for state and local govern-

Why? You hear lots of reasons: the economy, competition from other states' lotteries, simulcasting of races in Windsor.

I would like to think people are getting smart. Economists say it's healthy when people try to achieve wealth by savings and investment; bad when they try to hit a jackpot with one wager.

Lawmakers look folks square in the eye and talk taxes instead of preying on gamblers.

Horse racing is regulated by the Michigan Department of Agriculture. In the old days, horses were considered a farm industry deserving of promotion, the way apples, cherries and beans are promoted today.

Clearly, horse racing's heyday is past. Ladbroke DRC in Livonia set its attendance record Memorial Day 1952; Northville Downs, May 15, 1950; Hazel Park, Memorial Day 1965.

From the tax standpoint, Michigan's record horse racing year was $28.9 million in 1975. Since then, state taxes have slipped more or less steadily to the $21 million mark, accordingto the racing commissioner's annual report.

Michigan has been trying desperately to raise the take by expanding the racing season from 590 days in 1975 to more than 900 days currently - even as wagering and attendance have . slipped.

It was silly, in my opinion, to expand racing dates because the horse supply is down -17,000 in 1991 compared to 19,000 in 1984, according to the Senate Fiscal Agency.

Fewer horses and more races mean poorer quality. A decade ago, I went to Northville Downs on a Wednesday night. The first five or six races were "maidens" - horses who never had won a race. Handicapping (rating) horses of such poor quality is impossible — like predicting the weather without satellite maps or looking out the window at the sky. Any bet is a sucker bet. I haven't been back. Obviously, other ex-fans agree.

The Michigan Lottery is having a similar experience. A decade ago, ticket sales were less than $600 million a year. They topped in 1988 and have been slipping since then.

Lottery Commissioner Jerry Crandall notes

Clearly, lottery players are making a wager with poor payoff odds.

Crandall thinks taxes should be cut. He thinks legislators blundered when they exempted lottery winners from the Freedom of Information Act. Newspapers used to give the lottery a lot of free publicity when they published feature stories on local winners. No more.

Crandall also thinks lottery fans become distrustful when Lansing doesn't (can't) tell them winners' names. Folks suspect bureaucrats are hiding the money.

Some lottery players believe fervently that certain numbers have "luck," as if luck were a measurable quality like radiation or calories. That's raw superstition, unscientific and antireligious. The chances that any digit will come up are always one in 10. Ask your pastor. Ask your kid's math teacher.

Special Olympic games planned

The Wayne County Special Olympics Basketball Tournament will take place Saturday at Hilbert Junior High.

The tourney, an annual event co-sponsored by the Redford Jaycees, will begin at 8:15 a.m. in the school on Puritan west of Beech Daly between Five and Six Mile roads.

The tournament will include teams from Redford, Livonia, Westland, Dearborn, and downriver communities. More than 250 athletes and coaches are expected to attend.

The tournament at Hilbert will serve as a warm-up for upcoming district tournaments.

In addition to the many basketball games, athletes will compete in skill contests. Interested individuals who would like to support these athletes are encouraged to attend. There is no admittance charge for any of the day's events.

Special Olympics is a program of physical fitness, sports training, and athletic competition which helps individuals gain confidence and build a positive self-image.

The Redford Jaycees set up the site, and provide basketballs, a free lunch to the athletes and coaches, manpower, trophies, patches, and programs.

Water fowl benefit from free lunch

By Kevin Brown Staff Writer

Lured by food from folks who flock to visit them, geese and duck populations have surged on the west end of Newburgh Lake in Hines Park.

Birds that normally migrate as far south as Tennessee have chosen to make this section of the lake their year-round home.

But the glut of birds isn't causing any particular problems, say authorities.

A county sheriff's department corporal, who declined to be named, said sheriff's deputies' only concern is that geese and other birds slow up traffic when they waddle across Hines Drive in search of food.

And of people who stop, "We don't mind them feeding birds as long as they don't litter up the joint," he said.

The corporal gestured toward plastic bags strewn about the area, containers that once held bread or other feed left for the birds.

While he was observing the scene from a blue and gold sheriff's department patrol pickup truck, a woman and her two young children pulled alongside the road in their van, carrying loaves of bread to feed the birds.

When the sheriff's department corporal asks to talk to her, Sally Aninos of Plymouth says, "I know you weren't supposed to feed them in Livonia."

"You can feed them there," the corporal responds, adding that this section of Newburgh Lake is in Plymouth Township — and you can feed them here too.

He asks her not to leave the plastic wrappers holding the bread. "We always take them," she said.

Aninos said she and daughter Nicole, 6, and son Paul, 2, started feeding the birds last fall. "We usually feed them five days a week before she goes to school," Aninos said.

Even before unwrapping the bread, dozens of geese and ducks begin approaching them in anticipation of food.

"Once in a while, the kids get their fingers nipped," Aninos said. On this morning, the birds don't get that close, as they wait a few feet away before spearing pieces of bread ter.

tossed on the muddy ground.

"See the one with the broken wing? We always have to make sure we get him something because she's always worried about him." Aninos sald.

Tim Payne, district wildlife biologist for the state Department of Natural Resources, said: "We're very strongly against feeding Canada geese or ducks for that matter. "We discourage that because usually they're not getting a good diet."

Canada geese naturally graze on grass in the summer and eat corn and other grains in the winter — and wetland vegetation year-round. They're even known to eat apples, Payne said.

The DNR does relocate young birds when enough lakefront owners ask. But Payne said the county government has not asked the DNR to look into the rising geese and duck population in Hines Park.

Payne said geese and ducks have enough insulation to survive a severe cold snap like the one in January, adding they need open water and food.

He suggested that people who have in effect made pets out of the birds by feeding them in summer should continue to feed them in win-

Brighton team pins Spartans

Livonia Stevenson's state tournament aspirations fell short Wednesday when Brighton came away with a team dual meet triumph in the Class A regional wrestling semifinals at Ann Arbor Huron High School.

By Brad Emons STAFF WRITER

The road to Battle Creek for the Livonia Stevenson wrestling team met a dead end Wednesday night at Ann Arbor Huron.

The Spartans suffered their first defeat of the season against Brighton, 34-24, in the Class A regional team dual semifinals.

Brighton, ranked No. 4 in the state, won the meet's first six matches to build a commanding 25-0 advantage.

The Bulldogs then scored a pivotal victory when sophomore Larz Olsen won a close 6-4 overtime decision over Stevenson junior Chris Mullett in the 152-pound match.

L.B. Beurman wrapped it up for Brighton at 160 when he pinned Matt Fisher.

With the victory in hand and a spot against Northville in the finals, Brighton voided the final three matches.

"I'm very happy," Brighton coach Ted Buckless said. "I thought we would be tough in the lighter weight classes, and if we could be competitive upstairs, we would be in good shape. Stevenson is a nice team. They gave us all we wanted."

Stevenson coach Don Berg was forced to alter his lineup when Chris Jaztrembski couldn't make weight at Jaztremski won at 140 and teammate Scott Goldman followed with a win at 145, but Mullett, wrestling up, fell in overtime.

"Chris wrestled a great match," Berg said. "The kids wrestled hard and that's all I could ask for.

"Brighton qualified eight of 13 for the (individual) regionals. We saw them last Saturday and we knew it would be a tough road to hoe. It would have been a miracle upset. They had too much of a lead and they didn't really give us an opportunity to come back."

The future, however, looks bright for Stevenson, a team loaded entirely with underclassmen.

"It's been a nice road and it will be interesting next year," Berg said.

Ford ousts Lady Ocelots, 69-49

It was one game and out for the Schoolcraft College women's basketball team in the Michigan Community College Athletic Association tournament.

On Monday, host Henry Ford CC used a strong second half to subdue the Lady Ocelots, 69-49.

A 19-2 run to open the second. half sent Schoolcraft (11-11 overall) reeling. The Lady Ocelots made six turnovers, missed three field goals and made only two free throws during their first 10 possessions after trailing by only three at intermission, 28-25?

"For the first time this season I went hard after my team at halftime," Henry Ford first-year coach Dan Henry said. "We've been playing hard all season long. but for some reason that was missing in the first half.

"We had a big win Saturday over Flint Mott and maybe they had come off that game 'high-fiving' themselves. The second half we came out and played. I knew eventually they'd play their tails

Shelly Sockow (Plymouth Salem) scored nine points for the Lady Ocelots, who committed a total of 30 turnovers.

On Saturday, the Lady Ocelots took the lead with 12 minutes to play and never looked back in besting the host Alpena CC Lady 'Jacks, 73-69.

The win allowed SC to finish its regular Eastern Conference season at 6-8. Alpena ended up 2-

Angie Cerne paced the Ocelots with 16 points. She finished the regular season by reaching double figures in every SC conference game. Cerne averaged 15.8 per game, shooting a spectacular 91 percent from the free throw line.

"She's kind of our anchor," said SC coach Jack Grenan. "We always know we'll get 15 to 20 points from her."

Cerne will represent the Eastern Conference in the MCCAA All-Star game Saturday at Kalamazoo Valley.

Madonna can't keep pace down in Kentucky, 84-67

For the first half anyway, Madonna University's women's basketball team gave a more experienced (four seniors), more talented Brescia College a battle.

But the Lady Crusaders couldn't keep pace in the first round of their NAIA regional playoff contest in Owensboro, Ky., and ended up dropping an 84-67 decision Wednesday.

Madonna finishes its season at 12-13. Brescia improves to 20-9 and advances to play rival Georgetown (Ky.) College Saturday at Georgetown. The two teams split during the season.

The Crusaders kept pace with Brescia throughout the first half and trailed by just one, 32-31, at the intermission. But Brescia was able to open the game up in the second half behind 6-foot senior swing person Jennifer Marcum, who led the winners with 32 points, connecting on 10-of-11 from the floor, both three-point tries and 10-of-11 free throws. Joyce Hensley added 10 points.

Madonna countered Marcum's assault with Jill Burt, the team's only senior, who scored 18; Vikki Koenig and Meegan Marlatt, with 12 aplece; and Stephanle Crelley, with 10. Koenig also nabbed 10 rebounds.

Warriors topple C'ville; Patriots fall to 6th seed

Lutheran High Westland held off-a-furious-fourth-quarter-rallyby Livonia Clarenceville to gain a 62-59 Metro Conference boys basketball win Tuesday.

Senior guard Andy Manthei paced a balanced Warriors' scoring attack with 17 points.

Lutheran Westland withstood a 29-18 Clarenceville scoring run in the final period to gain the win.

Junior forward Jon Smolka added 14 points, while junior guard Chris Tiernan contributed 10 points and five assists for the Warriors, now 8-9 overall and 7-5 in the conference.

Senior forward Mark Kalaj scored a game-high 30 points and grabbed 16 rebounds for the Trojans (8-9, 5-7). Kalaj also had eight steals.

Junior center Mark Berry chipped in with 10 points and 11 rebounds, while John Kalaj, still slowed by an ankle injury, had 10 rebounds and seven steals.

Trailing 31-20 at intermission, Clarenceville picked up with tempo with a full-court press. The

Trojans made 10 of 12 shots from the field, but shot only 19 of 51

(37.2 percent) for the game. Both teams shot accurately from the free-throw line.

Lutheran Westland was 21 of 26 (80.7 percent), while Clarenceville hit 19 of 21 (90.4 percent).

CANTON 68, FRANKLIN 59: On Tuesday, host Plymouth Canton clinched the third-place seed in the upcoming Western Lakes Activities Association playoffs behind Matt Pau-

After Tuesday, it's hard to believe the Wayne Memorial boys basketball team would want to face Belleville a third time.

But it's true.

The state-ranked Tigers embarrassed Wayne, 74-47, and the Zebras must look ahead to the possibility of meeting their archnemesis next month at the Romulus district. - 4

Belleville won the first game against Wayne, 57-53, on Jan. 24.

"If they beat us, it will be three times in a row and they say it's hard to beat a team three times in one season," Wayne coach Chuck Henry said. "But I think you can say that Belleville has established itself as the team to beat."

Belleville, 16-2 overall, also has established itself as the Mega Conference Red Division champion, with an 11-0 record and still two games remaining. The Zebras slipped to 13-5 overall and 9-3 in the division.

"I don't look forward to seeing Wayne again," Belleville coach Mike Garland said. "Chuck is a great coach and I'm always uneasy when we play them. It will be a tough district — a dogfight."

This wasn't the typical hardfought battle between both teams. Each Belleville player who dressed scored, and garbage time arrived midway through the third blowouts of Monroe and Detroit Cooley. Garland said the Tigers' four-point victory over Garden City on Feb. 8 was a wake-up call. "They don't do anything fancy," Henry said. "They did a nice job on offense and we were miserable, probably to their credit.

They have all the ingredients to do well. They have athletes and they are pretty deep." Wayne entered the game on a six-game winning streak and playing its best ball of the season, according to Henry. After shooting a dismal 30 percent from the floor (19-of-63) and committing

22 turnovers, Henry struggled to find any positives. coming in, but I knew this game would be tough," Henry said. "It's shut up' time. The only bright spot was Lorenzo Guess, who has been playing well all year." Guess was the only Zebra in double figures, scoring 15 points and collecting 13 rebounds. "I didn't expect this," Guess said. "We just didn't have our heads in the game. We just weren't ready." Belleville took control with 2:23 remaining in the first quarter. After a Courtney Howard free throw for Wayne tied the game at 11, the Tigers went on a 19-2 run to finish the first half.

The run began with two Scott Chatfield free throws. After the first shot, a disgruntled Garland called timeout.

"I just wanted them to shut up and start playing basketball,' Garland said.

From there it didn't get much better for the Zebras. The Tigers made 11 of 15 shots in the third quarter and built a 56-29 lead heading into the final quarter.

Foley, a senior guard, scored 13 of his 15 points in the quarter. Chatfield and Christopher Cannon added 13 and 12 points, respectively, for the Tigers.

The Tigers shot 50 percent from the floor (28-of-56) and held a 36-32 rebounding advantage.

"This game meant a lot to us," "I thought we were playing well Foley said. "We haven't won a conference outright in awhile and we want to keep the undefeated almost March and it's 'put up or season (in the league) going.'

Daly double leads CC to semifinal win

By Steve Kowalski Staff Writer

Redford Catholic Central senior center Joe Daly said he tries to avoid taking outside shots unless 'he's at the free throw line.

The 6-foot-6 Daly followed the game plan Wednesday, scoring a career-high 25 points to lead CC to a 61-40 win over Dearborn Divine Child in a Catholic League boys basketball semifinal playoff game at Schoolcraft College.

With DC's tallest starter being 'a guard, 6-5 junior Dan Geoghegan, it figured there would be a Daly Double: double figures in points and rebounds for Daly.

"All of the guys told me before the game they'd look to me because of the mismatches," Daly said. "They didn't have a whole lot of height and we had to get the ball in the post.'

CC, 13-4 overall, advances to the Catholic League title game for the first time since winning the Ichampionship in 1989. The op Borgess and Detroit St. Martin DePorres game will meet CC for the championship at 4 p.m. Sunday at the University of Detroit-Mercy's Calihan Hall. For CC coach Bernie Holowicki, these Daly performances have become the norm.

"Joey is a nondescript player but he can shoot and has good touch around the basket," Holowicki said. "We ran a couple things for Joey and luckily it panned out."

"He's one heck of a player," Holowicki said. "I told the team before the game we had to keep him in his limit and hold the rest of the team down.'

"Every game, Dan is double teamed like that," DC coach Joe Charnley said. "They did a good job on him. Usually, the other guys look to score but today, they weren't.

CC made 23-53 shots from the floor (43 percent) and had a 39-32 rebounding advantage.

Junior forward Mike Ridley scored nine of his 10 before halftime and grabbed eight rebounds. Kummer had eight points and seven rebounds, Slankster had seven points and six rebounds and Anthony Hesano scored six.

"We're limited in that we don't have a bona fide star but they work hard," Holowicki said. "We're playing a lot of kids and ball hawking full court."

Schoolcraft men bow out 8-18 overall

Any unhappiness Schoolcraft College men's basketball coach Dave Bogataj harbored after Saturday's 76-72 defeat at Alpena CC had little to do with his team's performance.

"The kids were playing well very well," he insisted. "It came down to them shooting free throws and us shooting none. I don't think it was a well-officiated game, but the kids played Certainly, free throws decided the game. SC was 10-of-16 (65 percent) from the line; Alpena was 21-of-31 (69 percent).

In the second half, the Lumberjacks were 16-of-24 to SC's 3-of-6.

The Ocelots' inside game, centered around Todd McNeil, wasn't as effective. McNeil, who leads the Eastern Conference in scoring, managed just 15 points and eight rebounds.

"We missed a lot of shots from the 7-to-10 foot range," said Bo-

Stevenson qualifies 6 for regional

By Dan O'Meara Staff Writer

Chris Jazstrembski was just trying to keep pace with the Livonia Stevenson wrestling team) Saturday.

That can be as challenging as the competition since so many of the Spartans are doing well in the big post-season meets.

Stevenson produced three district champions and six regional qualifiers in the Class A individual district tournament at Walled Lake Western.

Jaztrembski (135), Ben Lewis (171) and Craig Martin (189) finished first at their weights, Scott Goldman (140) and Chris Mullett (145) placed second and heavyweight Dave Ross was fourth.

Other Livonia wrestlers advancing to the regional Saturday at South Lyon were Churchill's Josh Banks (119) and Franklin's Jesse Shakarian (171). Both placed third.

'All the captains are placing, and I just want to keep up with them," Jaztrembski said. "I'm peaking at the right time, not too early in the season."

He was seeded third but beat No. 2 Willie Daniels (Pinckney) in the semifinals 11-5 and whipped Farmington Harrison's Marc Lesperance 14-1 in the fi-Lesperance was injured and hadn't wrestled for several weeks. That made him somewhat of a surprise finalist, but Jaztrembski dominated his opponent and the match.

"He's a pretty built kid," Jaztrembski said. "Everybody told me not to lock up because he's so big. But, hey, I'm not too small, either. So I locked up and tookwhat he gave me.

"I think, after I put him on his back the first time, he lost gas and didn't wrestle like I expected he would.' Martin, who went to state last year, improved to 34-0 while pinning all three opponents, including Novi's Ben Wendt at 1:49 in the final. Martin faced Wendt once Joneses (his teammates on the before and pinned him in the third period.

"Whenever you see someone a second and third time, you know what's coming at you," Martin said. "He almost took me down. He didn't get the points, but he had a nice fireman on me.'

Martin finished the day with nine consecutive pins and tried to extend that streak Wednesday against Brighton in the team dual regional. The school record is 11.

"It's always a goal just to win it, but it's a bonus when you go through and pin everyone," Martin said. "The thing with this district is I've already wrestled everyone. I think that made it a little easier. I knew what to expect."

Martin, who was second in the district and regional last year, is more experienced and confident this year.

'Last year I was only a sophomore, and I was seeing a lot of seniors and juniors," he said. "I have more of an edge this year be-that, I'm hoping to do a little better.'

Top-seeded Lewis scored early the final, but his toughest bout was a rematch with No. 4 Shakarian in the semis.

It was the third-straight Saturday they wrestled, although the last two occurred in the finals of the Observerland and Western Lakes Activities Association tournaments.

All of their meetings have been decided by a point, and Lewis won this one 2-1 when he escaped with two seconds left in the second overtime.

"It's always tough; we know what to expect from each other," Lewis said. "After wrestling Shakarian, that was a good warmup for (the final). That got me pumped up.

"I expected to see him in the finals. We were all surprised (that Shakarian was fourth). They messed up the seedings. He should have been second, because cause I'm the junior; and, with I beat the Pinckney kid (No. 2 Chris Lavin) 11-3 and Jesse beat me. Goldman and Mullett wrestled and stayed in front against South—the same opponents as in the Lyon's Jeff Archey, winning 9-5 in WLAA-finals a week earlier and had to settle for second again. Both are going to the regional a second time.

Farmington's Mike Prough managed an 11-4 decision over Goldman despite hurting his right shoulder early in the match. No. 3 Goldman pinned No. 2 Steve Richardson of South Lyon 26 seconds into their semifinal bout before facing No. 1 Prough.

"I was going upper body with (Prough) and just slipped on my throws," Goldman said. "My major goal is just to get to state. Nothing else matters but next week. Two matches and I go to state."

Mullett had a 3-1 lead over Walled Lake Central's Frank Lovio after two periods, but Lovio got an escape and two takedowns in the finale to win 6-4. Lovio was seeded first and Mullett second.

"I'd like to have another shot at Lovio," Mullett said. "I have to move a little more on my feet and work on escaping, because he rode me pretty well. I'd like to pull it off in the end. I've been coming up short a couple weeks in a row."

Ross was disappointed but also encouraged by his results. He lost 3-2 in the consolation final to South Lyon's Jason Firby when he was given a penalty point for locking hands with a second left in the second overtime.

"It was an important match because I'm going to see the No. 1 seed from the Bedford regional instead of the second," Ross said. "I'm disappointed but I'm going to come back Saturday."

That match could have gone the other way and the same is true of a 3-2 loss to Brighton's Scott Niles, the heavyweight champ.

al and I'll come back next week."

Sellers, Underwood champs

Lutheran High Westland heavyweight Brian Sellers scored a 1-0 decision over Brian Gribbin of Harper Woods Lutheran East to claim a Class C-D individual district wrestling title Saturday.

Sellers, a junior, is one of three Warriors to advance out of the Lutheran East district.

Mike Faith (125 pounds) added a third place and Joe Kemp (189) took fourth, advancing to Saturday's individual regional at Goodrich. Lutheran Westland was missing three standouts at the individual meet due to inju-Brian Horvath (112), a Metro Conference champ, could not make the trip.

Also out was Steve Faith, who dislocated an elbow in his first match at the Metro tourney (Feb. 12 at East), along with Jason Brasgalla, who cracked a sternum in practice.

Glenn's Underwood 1st

Westland John Glenn's Anthony Underwood captured first place in the Class A individual district Saturday at Temperance Bedford.

Underwood took the 119pound title with an 8-1 decision over Derek Greene of Wyandotte Roosevelt.

Glenn's Brian Kolb (160) and Mike Henry (130) also qualified for this Saturday's individual regional at South. Kolb lost in the finals to

Lally makes return in Boston

Brett Lally says his next fight, scheduled for Tuesday, March 15, in Boston, Mass., is "sort of like a do or die situation."

Lally, a Westland native who turned 31 last month, will meet 22-year-old Dana Rosenblatt in a 10-round super middleweight bout that will be shown live on USA Cable.

Rosenblatt, ranked 12th by the North American Boxing Federation in the middleweight division, is 18.0 with 15 knockouts. Lally, once ranked as high as No. 2 in the junior middleweight division by the World Boxing Council, has lost three of his last five fights.

Lally, 31-9 overall and currently ranked 16th by the WBC, fought twice in 1993. He lost to Eve," he said.

Cast does a good job in 'Guys and Dolls'

THEATER

VICTORIA

With its opening and closing numbers, the Plymouth Theatre Guild production of "Guys. and Dolls" gets off to a flying start and finishes up with a big bang. In between, though, it's an odd mishmash of ingredients that is sometimes delightful, sometimes disappointing. With music and lyrics by Frank Locsser, "Guys and Dolls" is, as you'll remember, a story about a zany group of Runyonesque card sharks, horse players, etc. who hang around the sidewalks of New York, and eventually meet up with a group-(also zany) from a Salvation Army mission. Romance plays a large part, of course. After all, this is musical comedy.

Adam Carey is the suave Sky Masterson, who eventually wins the hand of the Salvation Army's Sister Sarah Brown (played here rather inconsistently by Lisa Brandow). Carey has a pleasant voice and a distinctly appealing way with a song. In the acting department, he does a good job, too (although one sometimes wishes his Sky were a bit more "shady" and a little less

The irrepressible Ivory Mckay plays Nicely Nicely Johnson, one of the most lovable crooks you'll ever encounter. When McKay is onstage, his sense of fun is of epidemic proportions. His appearances seem to literally energize this cast and, consequently, the audience benefits, of course. His hig number, "Sit Down,

ON STAGE

"Guys and Dolls".

You're Rockin' The Boat," is a veritable showstopper.

Stephanie L. Hindmarsh as the frustrated songstress, Miss Adelaide, punches up this production too. A gifted comic who can really belt out a song, she's also cute as a button, even when she's wearing some pretty frowzy costumes.

Nathan Detroit, a character afflicted with probably the worst fear of matrimony in the history of musical theater, is played by John Jordan. Although Jordan is fun to watch, his portrayal of Nathan seems slightly off the mark. Isn't "good old reliable Nathan" in fact about as slick and slippery as a sewer rat? Here, he just seems flustered and overwrought most of the time. which is kind of funny in itself, but is it Nathan Detroit?

Jeannette Sowman, as Sister Arvine Abernathy, has an especially nice moment with Loesser's fine creation, "More I Cannot Wish You." And Wendy Sielaff, along with Musical comedy: Nathan Detroit (John Jordan of Westland) and Miss Adelaide (Stephanie Hindmarsh of Canton) in a scene from "Guys and Dolls.'

Brandon Gauvin, Amber Thrift, and Andrea Gauvin as Gen. Cartwright and her sidekicks, are always a riot.

In general, the sizable supporting cast of "Guys and Dolls" does a good job.

Peripherals are a little spotty, although clever sets amount to some first-rate fun.

Much of the show's disappointment has simply to do with the exasperating acoustics at the Water Tower Theatre. The snappy dialogue so much a part of the fun in "Guys and Dolls" - is often lost to the audience. Even more regrettable, , many of Loesser's great lyrics are Also, though musical director and conductor Cheryl A. Bubar appears to try hard, her musicians often fail to do right by Loesser's splendid tunes. It's not that they bungle the music or miss cues or overpower the singers onstage. It's just that spark and verve needed to really deliver this great score glimmer only now and then. Consequently, this musical comedy, directed and choreographed by Sally Dubats, is left frequently with a very real struggle.

"Of Mice and Men" is a symphathetic look at lonely, unfortunate souls who are unlikely to achieve their impossible dreams; given their inadequacies and lack of opportunities offered by society.

Two characters dominate the story - George Milton and Lennie Small. George is a compassionate, street-smart sort of a man. Lennie is big, strong and simple-minded. There's not a mean bone in his body. But he has trouble remembering right from wrong.

Brothers pay price to fulfill their destinies in 'Sugar Hill'

By KEELY WYGONIK

Abandoned by their father, the bovs - Roemello (Wesley Snipes) and Raynathan (Michael, Wright) battle their way to the top of their own crime empire. Roemello weary of the violence that surrounds him, and offered the promise of a better life with a new love, Melissa (Theresa Ranille), has decided to walk away from this destructive world. When the film begins, Raynathan and Roemello are boys. Williams and Randle agree "Sugar Hill" is a reality-based story which illustrates both sides of street life. Musical star Leslie Uggams makes a dramatic appearance in "Sugar Hill" as Melissa's embittered, yet over-protective mother. "We have a love/hate relationship," said Randle." I think it's a must-see movie.'

The seeds of the story and screenplay of "Sugar Hill" were planted in the weeks following the opening of the film "New Jack City," also written by Barry Michael Cooper. Brought back to New York for the film's production and opening, Cooper, born and raised in Harlem, suddenly found himself besieged by other young black men he had grown up with who had since made their careers and fortunes in street life. Tense encounters developed between once-childhood friends whose lives had followed different

Rough and tumble life depicted in '8 Seconds'

From Academy Award-winning director John G. Avildsen comes an unforgettable portrait of a true American hero, "8 Seconds," based on a real-life story, chroni-Eles the turbulent world of championship bull-rider Lane Frost, played by Luke Perry, whose ambitious and meteoric rise to fame was cut short by his rough andumble lifestyle.

* The movie, opening Friday at local theaters, begins as Frost is just a boy living on a small ranch. in Oklahoma. The son of Elsie [Carrie Snodgress] and Clyde Frost (James Rebhorn), a former bareback champion, Lane inherits his father's passion to ride professionally and become a recegnized-champion.

When Lane is old enough to hit the circuit, he goes on the road with his closest friends, Tuff Hedeman (Stephen Baldwin) and Cody Lambert (Red Mitchell). He quickly distinguishes himself as a young master of the sport and suddenly his career takes off. But not before he falls in love with and marries Kellie Kyle (Cynthia Geary), a champion horse rider.

The perseverence and sacrifice. he dedicates to his craft tests the boundaries of their marriage as the young couple struggles with the pressure and hardships that come with Lane's burgeoning fame, "8 Seconds" provides a vivid glance at the roughest and most dangerous of all sports professional bull riding. It's a grueling competition that requires staying on top of a 2,000pound bull for eight seconds while holding a mount with one hand. Equal parts skill, courage, luck and determination are re- quired from those willing to risk all for the ultimate thrill.

Perry, best known for his part in the hit series "Beverly Hills 90210", studied the art of bull riding for the movie and even did many of his own stunts.

While set against this unpredictably precarious world, "8 Seconds" emerges as a hit-

Malone family is plunged into a nightmare - a world where people's lives are drained, only to be replaced by soulless, emotionless aliens emerging from their cocoon-like "pods" and taking possession of their human "hosts."

Once-normal people, with the full range of human emotions and behavior, have become silent, blank-eyed automatons. Those who have not changed are consumed with fear and paranoia, frantically denying the behavior of their loved ones. And, eventually, denying their own lives.

"Body Snatchers" is a Robert H. Solo production.

Tantrums: Some ways to stop them friend and associate of mine talked shop over a cup of coffee the other day. We were between meetings, so what did we talk about? Whining, teary eyes and temper tantrums, of course.

Although Helen is a child care consultant and teacher, she admitted her weakness in dealing with and handling her own daughter's temper tantrums. Helen's youngest child of three years apparently has been giving her the blues with her whining and wailing while stiffening her young body, making it hard to hold or move her.

By the time we reached our respective cars, I had given Helen some written information that I had in one of my many file folders in the back seat. It apt offered tips on how to stop temper tantrums.

Many young children show their angry feelings by screaming, kicking, throwing themselves on the floor or banging their arms. These temper tantrums are no fun for parents or children. Here's how to help curb them:

(1) After making sure your child cannot hurt him- or herself, someone else or objects around him or or her, ignore the temper tantrum. Don't talk to your child during the tantrum.

(2) Walk away from your child, if you're having trouble ignoring the tantrum.

(3) If your child follows you, close yourself in a bedroom or bathroom until the tantrum ends. (4) When the tantrum is over, tell your child,

"I like being with you when you are smiling (or sitting quietly or playing with your sister, etc.)" Say nothing about the tantrum.

(5) Don't give in to a tantrum. That is, do not give your child what he or she wants to make he or she stop screaming.

(6) If the tantrum is over something your child does not want to do, wait until the tantrum is over, then calmly but firmly say, "Now it is time to do " Again, say nothing about the

With company

It is often difficult and embarrassing if your child has a temper tantrum when you have company or are visiting. At these times, it might seem easier to give in to your child. However, if you give in to tantrums only when company is present, you may teach your child that temper tantrums work when company is around. It is best to respond as consistently as possible to tantrums whenever they occur. When possible use the six steps listed earlier and alert your visitors to your plan. If you're unable to carry out this plan, you might try the following:

(1) If you or your guests are unable to ignore the tantrum, lead or carry your child to his or her room, saying, "Your behavior is not OK. You may come out when you're finished."

(2) If your child comes out of his or her room before the tantrum has stopped, lead him or her back to the room without saying anything. If your child leaves his or her room repeatedly and you are uncomfortable leaving your guests, try to ignore the tantrum as much as possible. When your company leaves, you can then lead your child back to his or her room...

(3) Once the tantrum is over, let your child leave his or her room, saying, "Would you like to join us?" or "I like the way you are behaving." Say nothing about the tantrum.

(4) In some cases, you may not be able to allow your child to "scream it out." If your child is starting to throw a tantrum in front of company, you might try distracting him or her. Another approach is to give your child a choice other than what he or she is demanding. For example, if your child is demanding a drink of soda, you might offer him milk or juice.

(5) Sometimes it is difficult for young children to share their parents' attention, particularly if they are used to being with them much of the day. You may be able to prevent tantrums for your attention if you spend a few minutes helping your child become acquainted with your company and by giving your child a little special attention during the visit.

Some children seem to wait until they are in public places before they throw temper tantrums. Not only is this behavior highly embarrassing; but also many parents don't like to let their children scream in public because they are afraid of what people might think. Again, it is important that you not give in to tantrums in public unless you want your child to learn that tantrums sometimes work.

Finding food for thought

■ Classroom learning can have a few limitations, especially if the subject is culinary arts. That's why a group of Plymouth Salem High School students took to the road to see what goes on behind the scenes at two hotels in the metropolitan area.

-By Christina Fuoco STAFF WRITER

At one time, high school students dabbled in home economics. The student of the '90s, however, is into the culinary arts.

A name change for turning out scrambled eggs and buttermilk biscuits for the family? Nope. It's the first tentative step toward a possible career in the food service industry,

For culinary arts students at Plymouth Salem High School, the class gave them a chance to see what goes on behind the scenes at two of Wayne County's better known hotels - The Ritz-Carlton and Hyatt Regency, both in Dearborn.

"Most kids say I want to work in a hotel . . . this gives you an idea of what you have to do," said senior Paul Montresor.

The students, most of whom work at their school's Salem Rock Cafe, learned that it takes an army of people to run a hotel. They toured the laundry facilities, the kitchens, VIP suites (which seemed to be a favorite), health clubs, restaurants and management offices.

At The Ritz-Carlton, the teens participated in the India portion of the hotel's International Cultural Festival, watching a demonstration by visiting chef Jeet Reen of Shalimar Restaurant in Farmington Hills. Afterward, the students tasted Reen's Tandoori Chicken spiced with ginger, pepper, allspice and paprika.

While waiting for the school bus Tide to the Hyatt, aspiring botol manager and high school junior Chris Weidman took the opportunity to inquire about future employment. Others quizzed The Ritz-Carlton's employees about their experiences and pay at the hotel.

At the Hyatt Regency, the teens got a bird's-eye view of the hotelthrough the glass walls of the elevator, visited with the hotel management team, and compared the hotel's facilities with those of The Ritz-Carlton.

The students also gazed at the view of the Detroit skyline from the revolving restaurant atop the hotel. They finished the day by having lunch at Kyoto Steakhouse in Dearborn.

In retrospect, Stephanie Fill, a senior, said she was impressed with the benefits that hotel employees receive like "how the staff gets to eat free, how they take care of them," she said.

The tours and meal were scheduled to prepathe students for their participation in the Salem Rock Cafe, said teacher Carey Garey. The restaurant, open to the public, offers a variety of dishes, including Cajun

"We have a set menu for entrees, salads and sandwiches and grill items and desserts to our specials that we have everyday," she said. The restaurant, which opened in 1971, is open to the public and teachers. Plymouth Salem and Canton students - except those who work in the cafe - cannot eat in

"That's part of the perk for giving up their lunch period. The time we need to be open is during lunch so they have lunch after our doors close, but they eat in our dining room," Garey said. The students have also toured the restaurants at Henry Ford Community College and Schoolcraft College. In March they will tour Oakland Community College and

These field trips, Garey said, offer orientations to the different schools' programs.

Her students have gone on to become chefs on cruise ships, managers of restaurants in Hawaii and at Disney World in Florida. Another student was presented with the first bachelor's degree from Johnson and Wales College and has since become a teacher's assistant. That's the part of the job that makes Garey proud.

"That's one of the best things about this job, training these kids for actually doing something.'

Students who choose to go onto other fields still learn valuable employability skills, she said.

"Even if a kid decides they are not going to be interested in culinary arts . . . all the employability skills are all the same no matter which job they go to," she said. "They have a time clock that they have to punch. We try and treat it as a regular job. They don't get paid but what they do get in terms of experience and experiences that they wouldn't have gotten otherwise."

Junior Heather Anderson wants to go into marketing but she agrees with Garey. Her experience and experiences have taught her valuable skills of dealing with people.

"The people . . . I like to work with people. I love serving people," Anderson said. "Except for the people that come through and yell at me because their food isn't ready or something. They don't understand that I don't cook."

That's part of maturing, however, Garey said. The students find "out a lot about themselves which is part of the learning process."

Now is the time for people to build bridges, not walls

In this month dedicated to the ideals of brotherhood, I reflect upon bridges and walls. They are the most challenging and inspiring symbols of human speech and thought. Walls have a definite value and purpose in human life, giving us shelter, security and privacy. They enclose us in a manageable world. They define for us beyond doubt and dispute what is ours and what is our neighbor's. They are part of the necessary elements of civilized life.

But there are other walls we erect which serve no such good purpose, but are harmful to the best interests of society.

Selfishness is such a wall. When a person barricades himself He fondly believes that this wall of self-centeredness will give him greater strength and security. Actually, it isolates him and shuts him off in loneliness from the great and exciting world around

Prejudice and intolerance, racial and group hatred are tragic walls which people build around themselves. Our age has unfortunately witnessed the erection of many such forbidding walls walls that divide, separate and sunder the peoples of this earth. Robert Frost said it well: "Something there is that doesn't love a wall. Before I build a wall, I ask to know what I was walling in or walling out, and to whom I was to give offense.'

Over the centuries, people have had enough religion to hate each other, but not enough to love each other. Minority groups have sooner or later. The mighty walls found themselves excluded from of Jericho fell and the broad walls behind-it-it-becomes-his-prison.—participation-in-the-social-and-of-Babylonia-were-utterly-overeconomic life of the societies in thrown and, in our own age, we which they lived. We have vital concerns in American life where we should continue to build bridges. Our joint efforts can make a major contribution, and our common action can change the present and. shape the future.

The condition of family life is of primary concern. We are faced with the disintegrating family. The high divorce rate, the decline of standards of sexual morality and the attenuation of parentchild relations have all assumed epidemic proportions. In the past, standards of ethics and responsibility have been communicated in the family from one generation to another. The challenge to us, all religions, races and creeds, is to restore the quality of family life. There are many other areas where we have joint concerns. Among them, the problems of the aged, health care, drugs and the ever-rising rate of crime. While the executive and legislative branches of government seek solutions for these problems, we must recognize that such solutions require the collective strength and moral consensus and shared support of the American people.

We must be builders of bridges rather than of walls. Charity, compassion and magnanimity are such bridges. So are friendship, tolerance and brotherhood. "Love Thy Neighbor as Thyself' is the noblest and most enduring of all the bridges ever devised.

The following suggestions should help you stop your child's public tantrums.

(1) In some cases, you may be able to end tantrums quickly by saying nothing and/or walking out of your child's line of sight. but staying where you can see your child. Although it is difficult for most parents to be comfortable with this technique, it is highly effective for many children.

(2) If you cannot ignore the tantrum or comfortably walk away, lead or carry your child to the car, saying, "Your behavior tells me you do not want to be in the store (or the mall, or McDonald's, etc.). You can try again tomorrow (or the next day).'

(3) If you have taken your child home because of a tantrum, be sure to give him or her another chance within a day or two.

(4) If your child throws a lot of tantrums in public, start out with very short (15-20 minutes) trips close to home. As the tantrums occur less and less, you can go out more often and for longer periods

(5) It often helps to control their behavior, if you include something they enjoy as part of your outing. For example, when going to the mall, you can stop at the pet store or after shopping for shoes, you could go to the playground.

While I realize I have said this before, I think it bears repeating here. First we learn to write as we are taught, then as we wish. People like T.B. who have a need to express their creativity will usually change from their copybook training.

Our writer was raised in a home with strong female influence. Very early in life, she wanted to be independent and may have been a little rebellious to gain the freedom she needed. And yet she sometimes feels a need to return emotionally to the mother figure when things are not going well.

She wants both variety and action in her daily life. At the time this letter was written, she had many irons in the fire and may not be entirely satisfied with things. Fulfillment seems to be eluding her.

Cultural leanings are here. She is much aware of the arts, literature and music. She is a creative and probably gifted person.

You will know when this woman is around. Her ego craves success and attention and she wants to do things in her own way. Her need for status and/or stroking serves to propel her on toward higher achievements.

I've always been indicated in highdwithing analysis. I'm amazzad that you can pull out so much about an individual simply by looking at heir handwriting

She can make quick decisions and get right to the point. She is not rebuffed by sudden new de-

Here is a woman of strong convictions and appreciation of hard work. She sticks to essentials and has the ability to keep things simple. She clearly recognizes the importance of getting down to fundamentals.

This is a risk taker. She knows who she is and has a need to remain aloof from the demands of conventional society.

In a position which offers stimulation and challenge, she will excel. If involved in routine chores with too much detail work, she will soon become restless for a change.

For relaxation, she would probably like sports or activities that require physical endurance and/ or an opportunity to compete.

If you would like to have your handwriting analyzed in this newspaper, write to Lorene C. Green, a certified graphologist, at 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150. Please use a full sheet of white, unlined paper, writing in the first person singular. Age, handedness and full signature are all important and objective feedback is always welcomed.

Doctors to discuss prostate cancer

NEW VOICES

Dr. Philip Lafata, chief of general surgery, and lecturer Dr. Ali Rahmanian, senior urological surgeon of the Horizon Surgery Center and St. Mary Hospital, will be the speakers at a health education program on prostate cancer 7 p.m. Thursday, March 3.

Lafata will introduce Rahmanian. The lecture, at the Horizon Surgery Center, on Haggerty south of Eight Mile, will include a slide presentation as well as a question-and-answer session.

A packet of information will be available to members of the audience, courtesy of the Michigan Cancer Foundation and the National Cancer Institute. Light refreshments will be served.

In the United States, prostate cancer is the leading malignancy in men, and the number two cause of cancer deaths. Current estimates are that a 50-year-old American male has a 40 percent chance of developing microscopic prostate cancer during his lifetime, a 10 percent chance of being diagnosed with the disease and a 2-3 percent chance of dying of prostate cancer.

ease Control's National Center for Health Statistics shows an alarming increase in the incidence of the disease since 1980. The number of prostate cancers diagnosed increased 8-10 percent annually the past few years.

This trend may be due in part to aging of the population (prostate cancer occurs with a greater frequency in elderly men), to improved diagnostic procedures that discover tumors that may otherwise have been undetected in the past, or to increased awareness

Data from the Center for Dis- and health-seeking behavior of

... Research is being done, with an emphasis on oncogenes and genetic predispositions as well as more efficient methods of diagnosis and treatment of prostate can-

The Horizon Surgery Center is at 19900 Haggerty, south of Eight Mile, Suite 100, Livonia. There is no charge for the seminar, but seating is limited, so call 462-1888 for reservations or more information.

Applications accepted for BPW scholarships tending an accredited college, Applications are being accepted for the Elizabeth J. Szilagyi Scholarship, offered through the Plymouth Business and Professional Women's organization.

As a member of the Plymouth BPW, Szilagyi was vital to the group's scholarship program. She realized the impact a scholarship could have in helping women who alone supported their families.

The scholarship program was founded in 1990 by the Robert J. Szilagyi family with memorial contributions from family and friends of Elizabeth Szilagyi to benefit women preparing to re-enter the business, financial, technical or educational fields. Since then, more than $2,000 has been given to recipients.

To apply for the EJS Scholarship, an applicant must be a single, female head of household, have a high school diploma or equivalent, be accepted to or at-business, or vocational school and identify financial need. The deadline for applying is March 15. To receive an application, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to EJS Scholarship, Plymouth BPW, P.O. Box 5338, Plymouth 48170. For more information, call Marilyn Alimpich at 453-4845.

Hold fast the FORM of sound words (2. Tim 1:13). Form means. "ARRANGEMENT OF PARTS." Thus Rule #5 of Bible study: STUDY THE GRAMATICAL STRUCTURE OF SCRIPTURE. By Jesus saying. "Before Abraham was. I AM" (John 8:58), He claimed to be the "I AM" who appeaared to Moses at the burning bush (Exodus 3:14). Here grammar establishes Jesus identity as God.

School events focus on better living

The Parent Connection of the Metropolitan Seventh-day Adventist School in Plymouth and Better Living Seminars will offer several events for the family in March.

Frequently heard on radio and television, Dr. Joseph Arends will kick off the series with his lecture on fitness and the whole family at 7 p.m. Tuesday, March 1, at the school, 15585 Haggerty, Plym-

Arends, who received his training in preventive medicine from the U.S. Navy in Pensacola, Fla., will offer a program designed to motivate people to start and stay with a regular fitness program as well as provide the facts on all the fitness madness.

 Arends has been seen on ABC's "20/20," NBC's "Today Show" and PBS's "Late Night America" and has been written up in Sports Illustrated, Time, Newsweek and Saturday, March 5. Children also will have a chance to work out with the team 9:30-11:30 a.m. Sunday, March 6. Youngsters will be divided according to age and skill level. The workout will provide them with new skills as well as sharpen old ones. No experience is necessary. The Saturday performance costs $3 for adults, $2 for students and children and $10 for families. The gymnastics and acrosports clinic costs $5 per participant. For tickets and information or to reg-

Summer camp fair offers big selection send your children to next summer?

If so, then consider attending the fifth annual "Camp and Activities Fair" 11 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Sunday, Feb. 27, at Bloomfield Hills Middle School, 4200 Quarton Road.

Sponsored by The Merrill-Palmer Institute of Wayne State University, Metro Parent magazine and The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, the fair features representatives from 72 camps and activity programs from around the state and across the country.

Twenty-two of the 72 programs represented are new to the camp fair, so there's something new for those who attended last year's

Merrill-Palmer spokeswoman Sandy Schwartz reports that there is a camp specializing in virtually any activity a kid could conceivably be interested in.

Those activities include skiing. sailing, windsurfing, kayaking, biking, canoe paddling, rock climbing, dancing, photography,

Are you looking for a camp to horse riding, rifle shooting, archery, scuba diving, snorkeling and rocketry.

Other camps emphasize computers, ecology skills, leadership, marine biology, music, art and drama. There is even a camp for speech- and hearing-impaired kids and a camp for kids from abusive families.

Also, representatives from Nacel Cultural Exchanges will be on hand to answer questions about sending your children to foreign countries or hosting a foreign student in your house.

Admission is free and camp operators are asked not to take any money.

Among organizations scheduled to attend the fair are the Howe Military Summer Camp, the Tall Timbers Sports Camp, the Upland Hills Farm Day Camp, the Beverly Hills Racquet/Health Club, the Jewish Community Center, Detroit Country Day Camp, the Farmington Gymnastics Center and the Catholic Youth Organization.

For additional data, call Schwartz at 872-1790.

LACTOSE DEFICIENCY

Lactose intolerance is a common digestive problem. It has been estimated that 30 million americans are lactose intolerant. 50 or 60% of these people will experience abdominal bloating, flatulence 2-6 hours after ingesting 1 or 2 glasses of milk, or a large amount of ice cream especially on an empty stomach.

Lactose intolerance occurs as a result of lactose deficiency in the intestine. Symptoms of distention, bloating, abdominal pain, flatulence, or even diarrhea occur frequently but the severity of these symptoms varies widely between people who have this condition. Reducing the exposure to milk or milk products will help to alleviate the symptoms. lactose enzymes supplements are also available in capsules and tablets form. Which will also hoep to digest the lactose containing product or products and help to avoid symptoms of lactose intolerance.

Connections Members Earn Greater Rewards On Car Loans.

Connections from First of America is the only bank program that actually rewards you for your business. Making your banking relationships mean more than just putting money in and taking it out.

You get higher interest rates on deposits. Lower rates on loans. And reduced or even waived service charges. Essentially, the more business you give us, the more rewards we'll give you.

You qualify for all these benefits every time you or a member of your household opens a new deposit account, receives a new credit card or takes out a new loan at First of America.

On a 48-month, $15,000, new car loan, for example, the application fee of $50 is waived for Connections members. In addition, members could receive up to .65% interest rate reduction. A total savings of $270.

And it's easy to get into. There's no membership fee or sign-up hassle. Just stop by a participating First of America branch, and ask about Connections. You'll start getting back a lot more from your banking relationships.

Savor flavor, aroma of homegrown herbs ave you always wanted to have an herb garden, but thought you didn't have enough sun?

A surprising number of herbs do grow well in a partially shady location. Some of them well in a partially shady location. Some of them are perennials, meaning they grow from year to year without having to be replaced, while others are annuals, those that need to be replanted each year.

Herbs generally don't require much effort and don't need a lot of fertilization because flavor is sacrificed when there is lots of growth. And fresh herb flavor can't be beat! Herbs also are fragrant and pretty and reward the gardener in many ways.

Herbs do like a rich soil. Compost or spaghnum peat worked into the existing bed will accomplish this. Good drainage is necessary. Herbs don't like wet feet any more than we do.

Most people begin growing herbs for the part they play in our culinary world, so that is the type of garden I have planned. Start small — the garden can always be enlarged and I don't want you to be discouraged with too much work. But as I said, what little is required is well worth the effort.

Garden planning

I've designed a small rectangular garden about 20 feet by 5 feet. It doesn't have to be "squared off" — it could be oval in shape or some other configuration. Use this plan as a guide (see related story).

A raised bed will allow the soil to warm up earlier in the season, but isn't necessary. It will be easy to reach all the plants from all sides, but if the garden abuts a building or hedge, a path of stepping stones, gravel or wood chips will make it easier to care for the plants. A layer of newspaper or landscape fabric under the latter two will reduce weedling chores.

Some perennials will form the bones of the garden and will do fine in the semi-shady location. They can be bought as plants in May, while the annuals can be started from seed indoors in early March or sown directly into the garden when the soil warms up.

Savory characters

Perennial plants include Lavender, which blooms a beautiful deep blue-purple and will provide a fragrance as you brush the foliage — Munstead and Lavender Lady are good choices. Common Thyme is a relatively short upright plant with deep green foliage, while the foliage of Lemon Thyme is tinged with yellow. Sage plants are lovely with gray-green, purple or variegated foliage. Taste the leaf of the French Terragon plant before you buy it to be sure the flavor is strongly aniselike. Space them 18 inches apart.

Livonia shows African art objects

In honor of Black History Month, the city of Livonia exhibits its African art collection thought to be objects of the Ovimbundu tribe of Portugese Angola.

By Linda Ann Chomin Special Writer

n celebration of Black History Month, the Livonia Arts Commission presents an exhibition of the city's African artifacts through Feb. 25.

The turn-of the century art, thought to be tribal objects of the Ovimbundu people from Portugese Angola, is on display in the circular showcases on the second floor of the Livonia Civic Center Library, Farmington Road and Five Mile.

"This is the appropriate time to display our African artifacts, in honor of Black History Month," said arts commissioner Lee Alanskas.

"It is an expensive exhibition that belongs to the residents of Livonia and they should be able to enjoy it."

Donated to the city 30 years ago by The Rev. and Mrs. Paul Haskell Clark of the Pilgrim Congregational Church in Livonia, the art objects were collected by the missionary supported by the congregational church.

The collection was originally assembled by Brewster Pilgrim Congregational Church of Detroit, which became Pilgrim Congregational Church when it moved to Livonia in 1957. It was the wish of the church that the artifacts be shared with the community as a whole.

Handcarved figures and drums, baskets, war clubs and corn cob dolls reveal a culture where art was a part of daily life.

Appraised in 1985 by David Ackley on the recommendation of Evan Maurer, director of the University of Michigan Museum of Art, the value of the collection was placed at $32,545.

Most of the objects were readily identified and appraised, being comparable to known objects in the literature and on the art market, stated Ackley.

However two of the objects, a handcarved mask and a female figure with child, posed problems of evaluation, leading Ackley to believe they could be priceless due to the fact the existence of such a mask, if it is a tribal work of the Ovimbundu, until that time had been unknown.

When arts commissioner Dorothy Wilshaw found the collection tossed haphazardly into a library closet in 1992, she took it upon herself to see that the objects were stored properly in acid free paper.

"I think since we have this valuable collection, it should be looked after," said Wilshaw.

City librarian Michael Deller says that when he first came to Livonia, he was impressed by the quality of the African art collection. He considers the residents of Livonia very lucky to have these artifacts.

In his travels, he has seen comparable pieces only at museums in New York and California.

Of course, that's not to slight the fine collection of the Detroit Institute of Arts, whose collection former Gov. G. Mennen Williams was instrumental in assembling during the time he served as ambassador to Africa.

"The items themselves are important because they represent a culture that's rapidly disappearing as we know it in Africa," Delier said.

Over the years, the collection was loaned to local schools and colleges as well as the University of Michigan Art Museum.

Hollowed from a tree stump, a tribal drum with pyro-engraved incised patterns sports a four-legged animal crawling up the side. The animal and drum were carved from a single piece of wood. In 1985, the drum was appraised at $375.

Another of the art objects, a female figure holding a child has the word fetish carved into the back. It is more than likely a fertility image.

The figure of woman with child according to Ackley is a rare object that he roughly valued at $2,500.

Hours are 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday to Thursday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday-Saturday and 1-5 p.m. Sunday.

Fertility fetish: Right, a sculptured wood female image holding a child is thought to be a fetish used by Ovimbundu tribe of Portugese Angola.

Very Special Arts seeking performers

By Linda Ann Chomin Special Writer

Very Special Arts of Southeast Michigan is searching for performing artists with disabilities to participate in its fourth annual festival, "A Celebration of Arts-Ability" May 6-7 at Wonderland Mall in Livonia.

Performing artists with varying disabilites are invited to apply, including adults and children with sight, hearing, mobility, emotional and development impairments.

The festival celebrates the power of the arts to triumph over physical and mental challenges. It serves to expose and educate the community to the artistic talents of individuals with disabilites.

of artists with disabilities. We're focusing on ability, not disabilities," said Connie Lott, chairwoman of Very Special Arts Southeast Michigan headquartered at FAR Conservatory in Birmingham.

"We want to share with the community the impact that the arts can have on disabled people."

The festival spotlights art skills honed in Very Special Arts programs throughout the year. Performances will include, but are not limited to, instrumental and vocal music, dance, drama, comedy, mime, puppetry, baton and pompon.

"For the first time this year, we're going to have drama. We will have hands-on activities for the participants not only with disabilities but for the people from the communities who attend the festival," Lott said. "We will also have the touring art exhibit showcasing artists with disabilities from around the state."

Interior design seminar planned

A free interior decorating seminar will take place 7:30-8:30 p.m. Thursday, March 10 in the Holiday Inn of Livonia, I-275 and Six

The seminar, "Home Decorating: Pickle or Panache?", is hosted by Linda Kittredge and Nadine Henderson, both sales associates with Quality Real Estate/ Better Homes and Gardens of Plymouth and Livonia; and interior designers Patricia Newman and Kathleen Tomassi. Purpose of the seminar is to identify decorating/pickles and gain practical solutions for achieving personal panache.

For reservations, call 462-3000 by Saturday, March 5. . .

The seminar is a result of Kittredge's "realization that many homeowners have refinanced their homes and will not be moving in the near future."

Because she wanted to continue providing services to her clients and friends, Kittredge thought a free home decorating seminar would be a great idea. "I wanted the seminar to provide practical, yet fun decorating ideas that could be put into operation immediately when the attendee got home," she said.

Newman owns Patricia Newman Interiors. Residential homes, condominiums and apartments are a few of the specialties she has developed over the past 20 years. She was an award winner at the 1991 HOMERAMA, was involved in the 1993 Parade of Homes and has been featured in the Creative Living section of the Observer & Eccentric.

"Good taste and good design do not necessarily have to be expensive," Newman said. "Color, form and scale can deliver a lot of panache without being made of pricy materials."

Tomassi started M.K.T. Interiors of Grosse Pointe in 1986. An interior designer for more than 17 years, she started out making drapery and soft furnishings for residential homes. She also worked for a company that custom-designed aircrafts for the likes of a Saudi Arabian princess. She has done residential and contract work throughout the United States as well as serving as a consultant to other interior design-

Henderson has been a sales associate for 17 years. Because of experiencing firsthand eight moves in 20 years, both domestically and internationally (Brazil, Mexico and Venezuela), she says she understands how helpful the Realtor can be in locating services, interior decorating, painting, carpeting, etc. "My primary goal is to create customer and client satisfaction," Henderson said.

Before beginning her career in real estate, Kittredge was an admissions assistant at Henry For Community College. 'In my previous position, I worked to market the college to the community.

Now, as a sales associate, I can apply my experience to marketing homes," she said.

"I recognize that people need to make wise choices where their lifestyle and pocketbook are concerned. I work hard so they can make decisions they won't re-

We're looking for the tallest sunflower, and for the sunflower with the largest seed head, grown in the 1994 season through July 28. The sunflower's height is to be measured from the soil level to the base of the head where the stem attaches to the flower. The head is to be measured diagonally If you're raising a super sunflower, let us know. Savor from page 1D

The annuals include Basil, which comes in several "flavors" - large or small leaves. Choose your favorite and include one with purple foliage. Flat-leaved (Italian) and curly-leaved parsley will both be used. Summer Savory is low-growing with light green foliage. Coriander grows two to three feet tall — the seeds are coriander and the foliage is known as cilantro. It, as well as the parsley, may self-sow.

The seeds of the basils and savory can be started indoors in March, although they can be sown directly into the garden as can parsley and coriander. Follow the directions carefully that are printed on the seed packets — they contain a wealth of information.

Photo essay can tell whole story

Most of us rely on a single picture to record an event or happening. And, done well, this shot would "tell" a lot about that particular circumstance.

But a picture series or photo essay can add NAGLER much more information and convey an entire story. A sequence of pictures for your photo album can be as few as four or five shots.

For example, imagine the children going for a walk in the woods on a blustery day.

You could start with a shot of them putting on their boots and windbreakers. The next picture could be of them entering the woods along a leaf-strewn path. Halfway could be a shot at the top of the hill showing the children excited but windblown. Your series can be completed with a photo of the youngsters emerging from the woods with smiles on their faces.

Do you see the impact a series of photographs like this can have rather than just a single shot?

There are numerous other possibilities: a family member's birthday party, going to the zoo. heading out to the beach or a Sunday barbecue. Linking together pictures with a common theme will "tell a story" about a meaningful event in your life.

Travel offers excellent opportunity for photo essays. In most cases when we are looking for a way of photographing a particular place, we tend to look for the definitive picture that sums up our impression in one shot. Yet it can often be more interesting and sometimes more effective to produce a series of pictures that combine to create a record of a particular occurrence.

Artists can get grants

Michigan artists may apply for up to $7,000 in the creative artists grant program provided by the Arts Foundation of Michigan and the Michigan Council for Arts and Cultural Affairs.

This program is intended to fund projects by professional artists in all disciplines. Projects must be significant, original new work. Funded projects must include provision for public access to the work through a sponsoring nonprofit group.

Artists must apply through a Letter of Intent process. The deadline for receipt of Letters of Intent is 5 p.m., March 16 in the Arts Foundation of Michigan offices. Artists successful in the intent review process will be invited to return a full application.

For a copy of grant guidelines or more information about the Foundation and its programs, call 313-964-2244 weekdays or write: Arts Foundation of Michigan, 645 Griswold, Suite 2164, Detroit 48226.

Realty show markets homes via cable

The Real Estate Show, a method of "showing" houses on cable TV, is going great guns as it approaches its first anniversary.

That's the word from Sam Cherrin of Farmington Hills, the local founder, organizer and producer of the program, and a couple of Realtors who use that marketing strategy.

Sam and his wife, Bonnie, buy onehour blocks of time from Metrovision franchises, then go out and sell 15second bites to real estate agents to tout individual houses they have for sale. A couple hundred houses can be shown in a fast-paced hour.

"We take still shots of different houses supplied by Realtors, the facade of the house," Sam Cherrin said. "We do a 15-second voice over for

We've had homes as low as $20,000. The most expensive property to date, I think, was $1.8 million. Typically, they range from $70,000 to $250,000.'

> Sam Cherrin The Real Estate Show

"On the screen, we show a picture of the home, a picture of the Realtor, two phone numbers and the price of the home during the voice over,' Cherrin said.

The tape is updated weekly.

"Currently, I'm running 20 different companies," he said. "We've had homes as low as $20,000. The most expensive property to date, I think, was $1.8 million. Typically, they range from $70,000 to $250,000.

Realtors are charged $25 weekly per house for a minimum of 67 exposures and up to 127 in Redford and Livonia (Channel 51) and Farmington Hills, Farmington and Novi (Channel 22). Discounts are offered for more extended buys.

Cherrin, a former Realtor, was introduced to the concept while vacationing in Florida.

"I actually sat there and wouldn't turn the TV off," he said. "The concept is very simple and very effective. It's a good way to comparison shop for a new home and determine the value of your own home.

"Recently, we've done a survey to see how effective it's been," Cherrin said. "One thing that kept coming up was Realtors were happy about the exposure it gives them. They're excited when people come up to them in a store and say, 'I know you from television. I recognize you.'

Cherrin said he has no figures on how many people tune in. "There are approximately 72,000 households with Metrovision in the viewing area," he said.

Cherrin said he looks at his service as complementing rather than competing with print advertising.

"Our program and your advertising really work in tandem," he said. "In real estate, it's very important the public believes there's a lot of advertising out there on houses. We're reinforcing what's in your newspaper and your newspaper reinforces what's on our show.

Cherrin also distinguished his show that airs continuously from similar productions with much more limited air time. "We're bulk. We have as many as 127 hours per week." Connie Isbell, a Realtor with Red Carpet Keim in Farmington, said she's enjoyed much success with The Real Estate Show.

"By far, it's our best source of advertising," she said. "Yesterday, I had four calls from The Real Estate Show. To get four calls in one day from any source of advertising is unheard of.

"The other thing we're impressed with is a lot of buyers calling who watch the show are just starting to look," Isbell said. "We meet them early in the process, start on the right foot. That makes for a much easier transaction. They don't always buy the house advertised . . . but the contact was made as a result of the show.'

Isbell continues to advertise in newespapers and magazines, but says her best results come from cable TV. 'I think it's because this is the age of the clicker," she said.

Sue Heglin, a Realtor with Coldwell Banker Schweitzer in Livonia, also has enjoyed her 21/2-month experience with the show.

"It works well for me," she said. "It gives me exposure, gets my name out there. When I call on people to list their houses . . . they recognize me.

"I definitely get calls on them," Heglin said of listings. "Whether I get direct sales or not, I'm not sure. This is very new for me.'

Jack Padley, classified advertising manager for the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, said he's familiar with shows like Cherrin's.

"It's a neat, new twist on an old concept that could complement traditional advertising," Padley said. "But on a cost or response basis, real estate ads in newspapers have always and will continue to be the most effective advertising.

Cherrin's next expansion will be to cable systems serving other commun-

BUILDERS HOT LINE DIRECTORY

It's worth a little mud to find the right new home, but why not check out what's happening in the new home construction business before you trek out into the building fields?

All you have to do is call our new Builders Hot Line Directory number from your touch-tone telephone and take a "talking" tour of what's being offered. A lot of builders plan to include their Hot Line numbers right in their ads, so if you should see an interesting advertisment in the Real Estate section of our classifieds look for the builder's Hot Line number there, too.

The Chichester: This 2,400-square-foot model, with four bedrooms upstairs and a brick and vinyl siding exterior, is available at White Oak from James Joseph Enterprises.

White Oak boasts north Michigan feel

Builders and developers who work together on several projects tend to build good rapport and quality subdivisions. Three with Rochester connections are combinig efforts on a 35-acre parcel a few miles north of The Palace of Auburn Hills.

By Doug Funke STAFF WRITER

A residential subdivision that attracts buyers with no models on the site must be something special.

That's how Rochester builders James Rutkowski, president of James Joseph Builders, and Mario Cerqua, president of Stella Homes, view White Oak in Orion Township.

"You've got a wooded, beautiful subdivision, you're right by Bald Mountain State Recreation Area," Rutkowski said. "I was out here Sunday and people were riding horses through here."

You feel like you're in northern Michigan, but a quarter mile away you're in town," Cerqua said.

Rutkowski controls 36 lots, Cerqua 12, each at least 100 feet wide, in the subdivision off Clarkston Road just east of Lapeer

Mike Foley of Rochester developed the parcel and figures that the natural beauty and seclusion will be big draws.

"It's somewhat wooded off a gravel road," Foley said. "The site is surrounded by wooded, wetland areas.

"Our intent and the builders' intent was to keep homes with a base price in the $190s, which is considered affordable here today in northeast Oakland County," Foley

"Both of these builders have been with me through several subs - Paint Creek Ridge in Orion, Oakland Farm in Township," he added.

The models should be up by June, Cerqua and Rutkowski said.

Prices range across the spectrum from $179,000 for a threebedroom, 1,800-square-foot ranch to $209,000 for a four-bedroom, 2,425-square-foot two-story to $255,000 for a colonial of 3,000 square feet.

Standard features include sideentry, two-car garage; first-floor utility room; basement; and range, dishwasher and garbage disposal in the kitchen.

The site is serviced by city water and sewers.

"Foley bought the land at the right price," Rutkowski said. "The land is inexpensive now for the area and it got passed along to us."

"These houses probably will be second time (new) buyers," Cerqua said. "That's what I'm dealing with at Silver Bell. Most have kids less than 10 years old."

"I'm getting a lot of interest from the Chrysler Tech Center," Rutkowski said. "What are we eight minutes away?

"I talked to one customer and she said she preferred the (Lake Orion) schools in this part of town, the wooded area," he continued. "It's wooded sites, schools and upgraded homes."

Home banking: David J. Morin, product manager with Michigan National Bank, demonstrates how to write a check on a personal computer using Microsoft's Money program.

Bank at home through your PC

BY. DOUG FUNKE STAFF WRITER

Michigan National Bank, founded in 1941 and now headquartered in Farmington Hills, impacts the community in many ways.

With 191 branches statewide, it touches virtually every corner of the Observer & Eccentric coverage area. The bank reported:

Some 900 employees at headquarters and about 3,500 overall in the tri-county metro area. A mortgage service portfolio of $13.6 billion, which includes $4 billion of its own originations. Consumer loans outstanding of some $596.6 million.

Morin, product manager; Alan M. Ostroff, senior vice president for corporate marketing and retail products; and Douglas E. Ebert, newly appointed president and chief operating officer:

What's home banking all

Ostroff: We've given our customers the ability to bank with us from home with a personal computer. They can do just about everything except receive cash.

It tracks loan accounts, investments. You don't even have to make (check register) entries with this. It reconciles automatically.

Morin: What we have in addition is the ability to categorize. You know where you spend your money and know your net worth at any given time.

What's needed to get the service?

Ostroff: A personal computer with 386 or better processor, which is the speed of the machine. It needs Microsoft Windows 3.1. That comes with most computers now. You would need a modem and you would need a bank account with us. And, of course, Microsoft Money (software) version

What does this cost the individual consumer?

Ostroff: We can order the software for $29.95. In addition, we provide a $20 rebate when they sign up for the service.

The Bank On-Line allows automatic reconciliation of up to 10 accounts, balance inquiries and electronic mail to the bank for $7.95 per month. Pay On-Line, where we make 20 payments per month is $9.95. The two together, which we would expect most people to get, is $14.95.

What did you have to do at your end from a technical standpoint to make this service possible?

Morin: There was programming done on our main frame. We make files available.... customers' data. The customer dials in, the personal computer takes it and brings the data down. Who is your prime target group? Who is most likely to use something like this?

Ostroff: There's a large segment of people who want to keep all their finances well organized.

Morin: A lot of people write the checks for the same amount every month. They have an ability to press a button and we'll send the checks for them.

Ostroff: There are people who don't like to reconcile a checkbook, but want to know how much money they have all the time. To do a good job, we have to

How long will it be before your competitors offer a sim-provide a delivery system that ilar service? Ostroff: Exclusivity (with Microsoft) is a provision of our contract. The agreement is long enough to give us an advantage.

Morin: The software business always has been innovative. I think they will start testing, but it will be a full year before they put a system in place.

Mr. Ebert, you joined Michigan National in December. How do you think the bank is perceived in the community?

Ebert: The most important constituent, of course, is our shareholders. That's why we're here. Shareholders fall into two categories.

People who bought our, stock, will never sell and look at it for income. Over time, this group has done well with us and will continue to do so.

Another group who buys for capital appreciation is happy when the price goes up, unhappy when it goes down.

Then there's the customer group. Qur market share of deposits has grown faster than all but one major bank in the state. We're 8 percent market share. In a market that's mostly stable, we're growing.

On the commercial side, business borrowers and government institutions, we probably have one of the strongest and loyal customer base of any financial institution.

Our third constituent is our employees. We have a quality of team members. I don't know life our turnover compares to other banks, but it's quite low. We want to keep it that way.

What do you see as your biggest challenge?

Ebert: How do we expand beyond our brick and mortar to allow people to transact-business with us regardless of where they are . . at the lowest cost?

Jim LeGray and his fiance, Roxanne Lee, plan to build a story and a half model on a back lot.

"We prefer the great room and master bedroom on the main floor and two bedrooms upstairs," LeGray said.
"I work for Chrysler and expect to be at the CTC in the near future," he said. "My girlfriend works in Flint. We were interested in Orion Township for that reason, plus she grew up there.

"The development is quite heavily wooded off Lapeer Road which moves pretty good," LeGray added. "We were looking for a walkout lot that backed up to Bald Mountain Recreation Area. We were looking for privacy.'

David and Lynette Ormsby, with two children, will build a ranch in White Oak.

'We've looked around." David said. "We looked at what he (Rutkowski) built. He does pretty good work. That's what a lot of people do - look through plans then find a builder.

"We're moving up a little bit from the first new house we built. I'm in the country, but near the city, too," he said.

Kevin and Sabrina Morelli, also with two children, ordered a story-and-a-half from Cerqua with the master suite on the main floor and three bedrooms upstairs.

"It's our first new house," Sabrina said. "It's so wooded, a real country atmosphere. Yet, we have access to the highway to get where we have to get fairly quick. We fell in love with the lots in general."

The current property tax rate to provide school, township and county services in the subdivision is $54.54 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation, half of market value. That means the owner of a $179,000 house in White Oak would pay about $4,881 annually now in taxes.

However, that will change when voters decide a new school financing plan.

Rutkowski's sales trailer at White Oak (call 810-814-0375) is open 1-6 p.m. daily, closed Thursday. Cerqua's sales trailer (810-693-4004) is open 2-7 p.m. weekdays, noon to 6 p.m. Saturday and Sunday, closed

Videoconferencing offered

The Kinko's stores in Southfield and Ann Arbor now offer videoconferencing services.

The system offers customers high-quality, face-to-face communications technology Business people can use it to open a video link with other Kinko's stores or with videoconferencing facilities worldwide.

The system will make it possible for executives to communicate with colleagues on the road or at home and for families to reunite for the holidays.

Kinko's and Sprint announced an agreement in September to offer the largest public retail videoconferencing network ever in the

It plans to have the network, featuring PicturTel videoconferencing equipment, installed in 100 stores by April. Many of the company's 650 stores eventually
