Traffic spat ends in slaying

A Westland man was shot to death Sunday following an involved traffic altercation. A second Westland man faces second-degree murder and felony firearms charges.

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

A Westland man was shot to death Sunday night on a residential street — a killing that police have linked to an earlier traffic altercation between strangers.

Antonio Fillippo Maggio, 24, was shot four times with an assault rifle and died of a head wound during the 7:28 p.m. shooting in the 2000 block of Christine, southeast of Wayne Road and Palmer, Westland Detective Sgt. Marc Stobbe said.

Another Westland man, Thomas Robert Woodhead, 18, was arraigned

Tuesday morning before 18th District Judge Gail McKnight on second-degree murder and felony firearms charges. He remains in custody and has been denied bond.

Maggio died amid a shower of 20 bullets from an assault rifle — an attack that Stobbe said stemmed from an earlier traffic dispute between Maggio and a friend of Woodhead's.

The incident began when Maggio and two 24-year-old Westland men, riding in a van on south Wayne Road near Palmer, became angry that a Camaro in front of them was moving too slowly, Stobbe said. The men began blowing the horn of the van and flashing the high beams of the headlights, Stobbe said.

The driver of the Camaro responded by hitting his brakes, prompting the van to pass. But Maggio, a passenger in the van, got out of the van and approached the Camaro when the two vehicles stopped at the Wayne-Palmer traffic light, Stobbe said.

The Camaro driver, accompanied by a passenger, drove away and went

Isham resigns as O&E GM

Dick Isham announced Monday his resignation as general manager of the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers to pursue other interests.

Dick Brady was appointed interim general manager of the suburban newspaper group, effective immediately, by Richard Aginian, president of the parent company, Suburban Communications Corp. Brady will also continue to serve as vice president for sales and marketing of SCC.

Dick Brady was appointed interim general manager of the suburban newspaper group.

Aginian and SCC Chairman Phillip H. Power praised Isham for "contributing much to the growth and development of the O&E. We thank him for his good work and wish him well in the future."

Aginian said that SCC would conduct a national search for a new general manager.

"Running the Observer & Eccentric Newspapers is one of the greatest jobs in our industry, and we expect many qualified candidates will come forward over the next few months," he said.

Tax programs

Three public forums being held locally in the next few days will give voters a chance to learn more about the March 15 school finance proposal.

The first, at 7 tonight, is sponsored by Larry Thomas, Wayne-Westland school district superintendent. He and Randy Liepa, the district's top finance administrator, will review the ballot proposal and how it would affect homeowners and the school district. Finance directors for the cities of Westland and Wayne will take part. The session will be held in the Dyer Senior Citizen Center, on Marquette between Wayne Road and Newburgh.

The second forum will be at the Westland Chamber of Commerce membership luncheon at noon Tuesday in the Hellenic Cultural Center, on Joy between Wayne and Newburgh roads. Reservations must be made by calling the chamber,

The last program, sponsored by the United We Stand America/Michigan's 13th Congressional District organization, is scheduled for 6:30 p.m. Wednesday. Speakers will be Al Short, Michigan Education Association's governmental affairs director, and Sue Heintz, Gov. John Engler's southeast Michigan director. The program will be held in the Canton Township Library, 1200 S. Canton Center Road.

Jaycees honored

The Westland Jaycees were named the fourth best overall chapter in the state at a recent convention. Local member Laurie Eddy was also named the winner of the C. William Brownfield award. During the convention, held in Romulus, the local chapter presented $500 to the First Step organization, which provides a shelter and services for abused women. The chapter raised the money by playing a benefit football game in January.

Holiday project

The Westland Civitans and the city's recreation department will combine to hold their annual cottontail and Easter egg hunt at 4 p.m. Good Friday, April 1, in Joseph Tattan Park, next to the Bailey Recreation Center, on Ford between Wayne Road and Newburgh.

Canton Township clerk sets sights on Senate seat

Off and running: Canton Township Clerk Loren Bennett officially announced his candidacy for the state senate district that includes Westland.

BY JOANNE MALISZEWSKI
STAFF WRITER

Less government and more common sense is the prescription Canton Township Clerk Loren Bennett wants to write for the state of Michigan.

He wants to win the Republican nomination this summer and run against Sen. William Faust, D-Westland, who has been in the state legislature since January, 1967. Faust, a former Nankin Township supervisor and senate majority leader, hasn't announced whether he will seek an eighth four-year term.

"There will be no one in the state Senate who will be more frugal than me. That's not campaign rhetoric. That's my record," said Bennett, who announced his candidacy last week.

The senate district includes

Westland, Canton Township and other southwestern Wayne County cities and townships.

"While I have an enormous amount of respect and admiration for Sen. Faust, I believe he is part of the problem. He has consistently supported more government, not less. He has all too often been willing to stick taxpayers with the tab for programs that don't work and often make Michigan's problems worse," said Bennett, who was first elected as clerk in 1988 and re-elected in November 1992.

Bennett said he will oppose tax increases and support budgets that reduce spending.

Bennett told the gathering of senior adults and township leaders that he supports the school finance reform proposal on the March 15 ballot. "I believe there is a component of the argument that is not being talked about," he added.

That's the underground economy of legal activities — such as house cleaning services, paid for under-the-table — as well as illegal activities, such as drug trafficking. Neither of these groups pay income tax on their earnings. But they do pay sales tax for items purchased.

"When that occurs we're capturing that whole underground economy," said Bennett.

Bennett said he learned what he called his common sense management and budget trimming sensibility in the private sector when he worked as a manager for British Petroleum, a controller for the Plymouth Hilton and his own real estate business.

"I know the men and women who live, work and raise their families here want a government that provides for the help and service they need and allows them the opportunities to prosper and provide for themselves, without having to shoulder the burden of a bloated bureaucracy," Bennett said.

He was recently elected vice chairman of the Michigan Underground Storage Tank Financial Assurance Policy Board and is a member of the Wayne County Solid Waste Implementation Committee. Bennett also has served as co-chairman of the Police Reorganization Committee, arbitrator for union grievances and member of a farmland preservation group.

Bennett and his wife, Terri, have two daughters, Wendy, 15, and Cindy, 10.

Teen imprisoned for robbery

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

A Garden City teen has been sentenced to prison for three to 10 years for robbing a 14-year-old Westland boy at gunpoint and taking his $150 Miami Hurricanes coat.

Jason Krasson, 18, also has been sentenced to eight to 15 years for an attempted murder in which a Wayne apartment was sprayed with bullets while four people were inside. No one was injured.

The two incidents weren't related, said Wayne police Sgt. Christopher Johnson.

Krasson, who pleaded guilty to the charges last month, was sentenced Monday by Detroit Recorder's Court Judge Dalton Roberson. Krasson also received a mandatory two-year term for a felony firearms charge stemming from the Wayne incident.

Cases are still pending against two of Krasson's friends — co-defendants Michael Elkins, 17, and Christopher Boyd, 18, both of Westland.

Krasson pleaded guilty Feb. 8 to the attempted killing in which a unit at the old Nankin Apartments, 35550 Michigan Ave. in Wayne, was sprayed with bullets from a .22-caliber rifle and a 12-gauge sawed-off shotgun. The incident occurred Dec. 6.

Krasson also pleaded guilty to armed robbery charges stemming from a Nov. 28 incident in which the 14-year-old boy was robbed at gunpoint near Wayne Road and Fairchild in Westland. The boy wasn't injured.

The Wayne shooting stemmed from a dispute between Krasson and acquaintances and had nothing to do with the Westland robbery, Johnson said.

Krasson was initially arrested on the Westland charge and was later linked to the Wayne incident. He could have faced a maximum sentence of life in prison when he was sentenced Monday.

Ford joins school restoration effort

The Perrinsville School restoration project has received a $1,000 donation from North Brothers Ford.

Project coordinators and the Friends of the Helen C. Brown Westland Historical Museum were pleased with the donation, which was made to the "brick walkway" program, said Joseph Benyo, Westland City Council liaison.

To complete the restoration of the 1856 one-room schoolhouse, project organizers have decided to engrave donors' names on bricks that form a walkway at the school, Benyo said. The school on Warren Road was the first brick-constructed school in Nankin Township, now Westland.

Those who wish to have an engraved brick to commemorate either themselves or a family member are being asked to donate $100 for each brick, Benyo said. Part of the building has been completed, but a phase to rebuild the bell tower and to construct an outbuilding still has to be completed.

The ultimate goal is to have teachers and students use the building for such events as field trips, so they can see how previous generations were educated.

North Brothers Ford hopes its donation of $1,000 for 10 bricks will be matched by others in the community, Benyo said.

Individuals, groups or businesses wishing to "buy" a brick may contact Benyo, 467-3183. He has the necessary forms for the project.

No more than 20 letters total may be used for each brick.

Handicapped parking violators face stiffer fines, judges say

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

Able-bodied motorists who park illegally in handicapped spaces in Westland will now face stiffer fines.

Westland District Judges Gail McKnight and C. Charles Bokos have announced their joint decision to increase the fines to $75 from $50.

The decision comes on the heels of a crackdown by Westland police on the handicapped parking violations. Police officers have beefed up patrols of retail parking lots in the wake of citizen complaints.

The complaints began to surface in growing numbers during the Christmas shopping season, but continued into 1994.

"This increase (in fines) is in response to the numerous complaints the police and the court have received regarding parking violators," Judge Bokos said in a press release.

Bokos added that violators who fail to respond to the citations will be brought to court for a contempt hearing. Arrest warrants will be issued for offenders who don't show for a hearing, Bokos said.

"The issuance of a warrant for these violations is something new for the court, but considering the volume of complaints the police are receiving and the numbers of persons not answering the charges, we believe that it is our only recourse in enforcing these violations," he said.

Bokos also noted that some motorists who have handicapped parking permits sometimes forget that the permits must be renewed, while some motorists don't have their permits properly displayed.

For those violators, the fines will be reduced to only $10 if motorists submit proof of a valid permit to 18th District Court, Bokos said.

"These permits do expire, and permit holders should check their expiration dates to ensure they are in full compliance with the law," the press release said.

Mayoral ball waltzes off successfully

More than 400 people attended the mayor's ball Saturday night, exceeding Mayor Robert Thomas' expectations.

Some party-goers called the annual event the most successful mayoral ball they have attended. The ball was held at the Hellenic Cultural Center on Joy Road.

The social evening began with a cocktail hour and harp music, followed by dinner, dessert and dancing.

"I love you all," Thomas told the crowd

A long line of cars formed at the Hellenic Cultural Center entrance as the semiformal ball got under way. Party-goers exited their cars at the front door and let valet workers attend to the parking.

Westland residents and city officials were joined by officials from some neighboring communities, such as Garden City and Livonia.

Early in the evening, Thomas remarked that he had feared the turnout might be low.

In fact, extra chairs had to be brought into the room to accommodate the crowd.

Fortunately for Thomas, a winter storm that hit Friday had subsided, and roads had been cleared prior to the ball.

The event — Westland's biggest social — came on the heels of Thomas' election to a second, four-year mayoral term in November. But he steered clear of political talk Saturday, saying the goal of the night was simply to have fun.

Most seemed to have achieved the goal.

School officials praise departing finance director

BY DARRELL CLEM
STAFF WRITER

Wayne-Westland's top school finance officer drew sweeping praise Monday during his first school board meeting since being lured to a new job in the Livonia district.

Randy Liepa, assistant superintendent for business and operations, will leave Wayne-Westland June 30 for a similar post in the Livonia school district.

"He has helped take us through the most difficult financial year in this district's history," Superintendent Larry Thomas said Monday.

School officials had to slash $14 million from the district's budget after voters refused to approve a tax increase. Moreover, Liepa oversaw the budget during a whirlwind of state-level changes in school financing.

"We will never replace you," Thomas told Liepa. "We will get someone to come in and take over your job."

School board member Laurel Raisanen noted that Wayne-Westland's loss is Livonia's gain.

"They are very lucky people over there, and they have an excellent eye for talent," she said. "Randy will be missed very, very much."

Liepa, 31, was hired as Wayne-Westland's supervisor of accounting in 1987 and was later promoted to his current post. He is in his third year as the district's top finance official.

His financial expertise helped to restore some of the public trust that Wayne-Westland had lost in recent years, though voters continued to turn thumbs down on tax increases.

On Monday, the school board gave Thomas permission to post Liepa's job. Liepa said he hopes his successor will be hired early enough so that the two can prepare for a smooth transition in the finance department.

Gallery exhibits children's art

Youth Art Month is celebrated at Nelson's Gallery/Custom Framing in Livonia with 34 art pieces created by local elementary school students.

An opening reception for the exhibit will be 6-9 p.m. Friday.

"The reception will be a family-oriented night where the children can share the pride of their creative work with siblings, parents and grandparents," said Laura Hardy, owner of Nelson's Gallery and Custom Framing, on Middlebelt south of Six Mile.

The projects given to the children were not announced as a competition, but only as part of the learning process in art. Of the 18 Livonia school district elementary schools participating in this show, the teachers chose one picture from lower and upper grade from each school. The district includes the northern section of Westland.

"I wanted this to be a fun experience instead of a competition among the kids," Hardy said. "The pictures found in this art show represent what the kids have learned in their art studies."

Nelson's Gallery/Custom Framing frequently exhibits the work of local artists. "I felt it was time to give the children an opportunity to exhibit their talents and show what they learn in art-class," said Hardy.

The pictures represent 22 different projects given to the students throughout the year ranging from creating a winter landscape using brush and sponge techniques to drawing an object moving.

The exhibit will run through March 31. Nelson's is on Middlebelt south of Six Mile in the Terrence Corners plaza. Hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday.

Elevator shaft fire causes $10,000 damage

Plymouth and Plymouth Township firefighters were called to put out an elevator shaft fire at 2:47 p.m. Monday at Adistra Corp. on Union Street.

An electrical motor apparently overheated and a wooden floor caught fire. No one was trapped in the building's elevator, nor was anyone injured in the blaze, extinguished within moments by firefighters using an aerial truck and other equipment.

The fire was unrelated to the three-week-old strike ongoing at Adistra, said Plymouth fire Chief Al Matthews.

"We had a concern about debris dropping down to the shaft into wood structures below," said Matthews. The fire was contained before that happened.

As firefighters left the scene, they responded in their rigs to a call from Lina's Bridal Salon on Main Street. It turned out to be a false alarm.

to the June Street residence where Woodhead lives to seek help, but they were trailed by the van, Stobbe said.

The Camaro driver and passenger left the car running when they went to Woodhead's door to seek help, and Maggio got out of the van, stole the Camaro and drove away, Stobbe said. The other two men in the van left the scene.

The Camaro owner, joined by two June Street residents, then got into a 1983 Mustang and — armed with an assault rifle — began trailing Maggio to Christine Street, where he lived, the detective said. One of the June Street residents was identified as Woodhead, Stobbe said.

When the men in the Mustang pulled behind Maggio, he put the stolen Camaro in reverse and slammed into the Mustang, Stobbe said. That prompted two of the men to get out of the Mustang, and one of them opened fire with the assault rifle and fired 20 shots, Stobbe said. The men fled the scene, but moments later police arrested two suspects.

One of the men was later released, but Woodhead was charged in the killing.

A not guilty plea was entered for him Tuesday morning in 18th District Court. He is scheduled for a preliminary examination

March 10 that will determine whether he should stand trial on the charges.

Woodhead could face up to life in prison if convicted of second-degree murder. The felony firearms charge carries a mandatory two-year term upon conviction.

Services for Maggio, a welder, were scheduled for 1 p.m. today at Uht Funeral Home. Interment is to be at Cadillac Memorial Gardens West.

He is survived by a daughter, Desirae; parents, Philip and Anna Maggio; a brother, Philip Jr.; three sisters, Angela, Tonja and Meija Lee; and a grandfather, Philip.

Hospital offers health screening

Project Health-O-Rama will be 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday, March 19, in the auditorium of St. Mary Hospital, Levan at Five Mile in Livonia.

The free health screening for those 18 and older includes a health hazard appraisal, height and weight measurement, blood pressure measurement, vision/glaucoma test, counseling/referral, medication counseling, skin cancer screening, and mental health awareness counseling.

Optional tests include: a take-home colorectal test for $4; blood panel, a profile of 22 tests, for $15 (fasting is advised for four hours prior to arrival; continue to take any prescribed medications); prostate specific antigen (PSA) test for $25; and a pulmonary function test for $5.

New this year is the addition of HDL (high-density lipoprotein cholesterol) to the blood panel. HDL is the lipid fraction known as "good cholesterol" because high levels are associated with a decreased risk of heart disease.

Project Health-O-Rama is an extensive community effort conducted Tuesday, March 1, through Thursday, March 31. Anyone 18 or older may take advantage of the free/low-cost screening tests and educational materials.

It is estimated that the average participant obtains eight health screening tests/services valued at more than $200 per participant, totaling nearly $10 million in services to all participants.

Those with abnormal test results are followed up by phone two or three months after the program to encourage continued good health.

Project Health-O-Rama is sponsored by Blue Cross/Blue Shield of Michigan, Blue Care Network of Southeast Michigan, WXYZ-TV, and the United Health Organization, a United Way agency.

New SC building still taking shape

BY RALPH R. ECHTINAW
STAFF WRITER

After five months of construction work, Schoolcraft College's 61,000-square-foot, $7.8-million student services center is on schedule and on budget for completion in October and occupation in January 1995, according to Adelard "Butch" Raby, Schoolcraft's vice president of business.

"It will really, in the next 60 days, begin to look like a building," Raby said.

Designed by Redstone Associates of Southfield, the new structure occupies an acre to the south and west of the library on Haggerty Road.

According to Raby, all underground utility work is complete. Water, gas and electric services are operable. Structural steel erection is complete, with all exterior concrete block in place. The exterior face brick is 30 percent complete. The roof membrane is complete.

Major equipment like boilers, chillers and cooling towers have been set in place. The rough plumbing for heating is installed. The interior masonry work is 70 percent complete. The rough plumbing is 50 percent complete. The fire suppression system is 50 percent complete. The electrical system is 25 percent complete. The ventilating system is 40 percent complete. Overall, the project is 40 percent finished.

Half of the construction cost is being paid by the state government. Schoolcraft pays the other half.

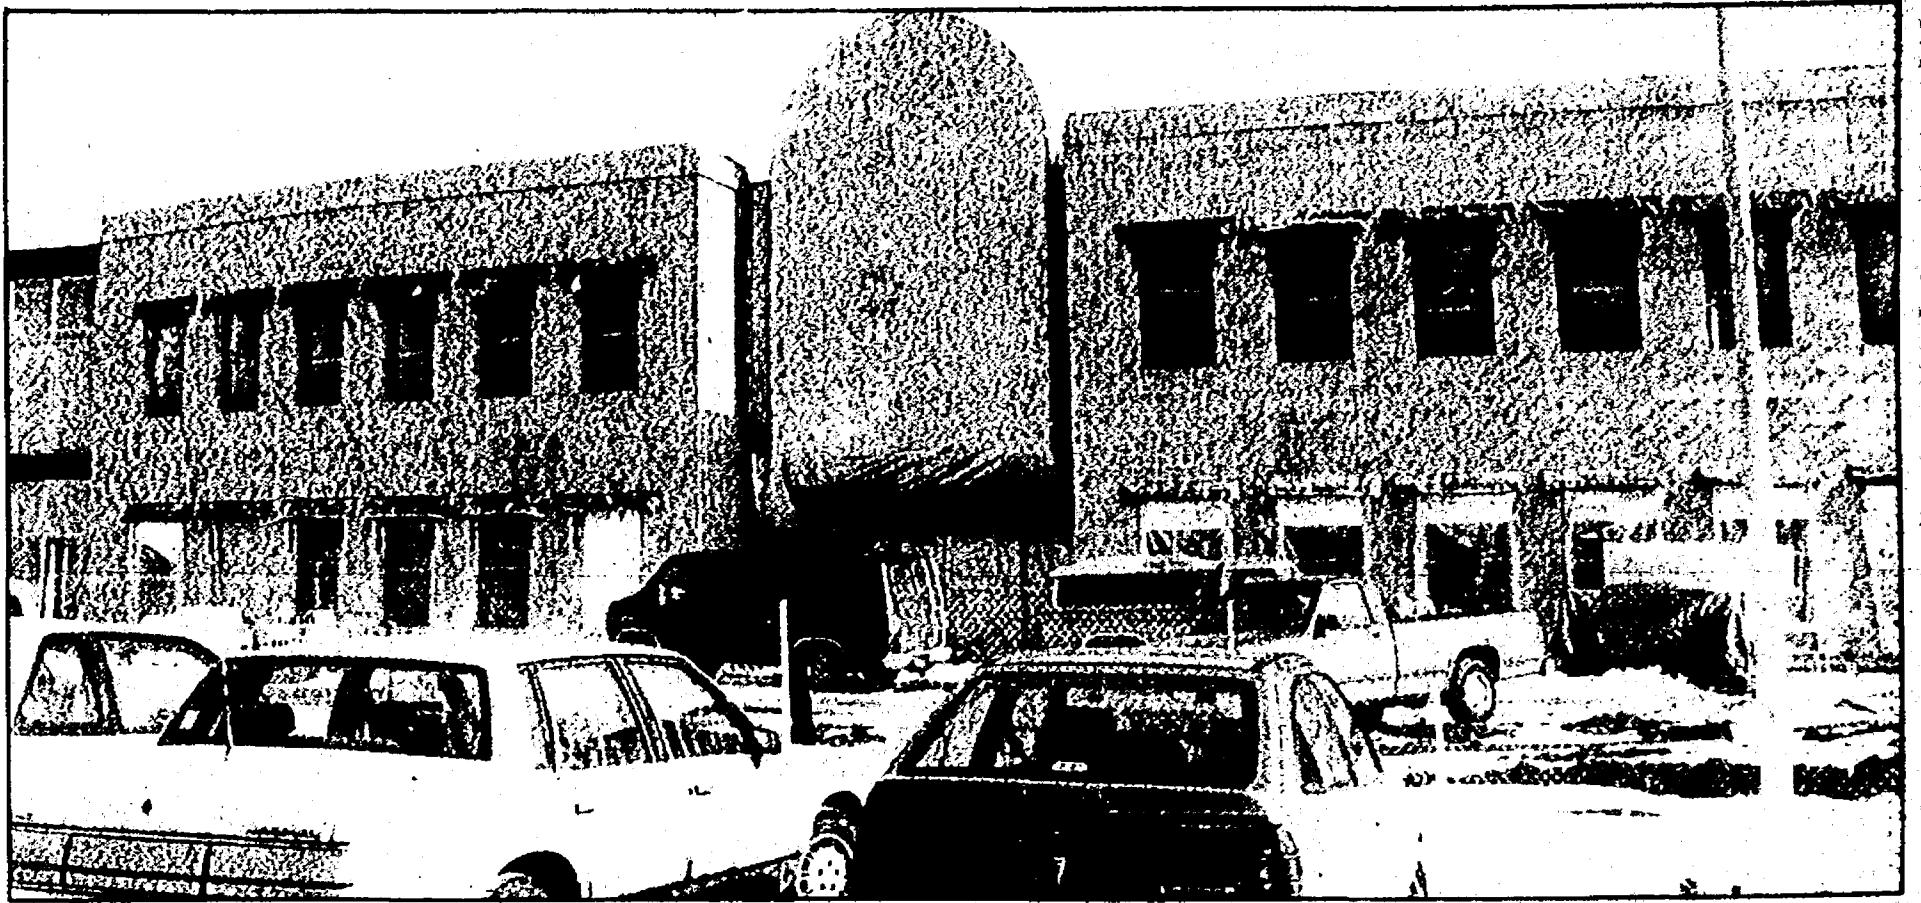

■ When everything is finished, students should be able to complete all their paperwork needs under one roof, and the college will have 13 additional classrooms and a big computer lab.

When everything is finished, students should be able to complete all their paperwork needs under one roof, and the college will have 13 additional classrooms and a big computer lab.

The offices of registration, admissions, cashier, learning assistance and counseling will move in, as will the placement office, accounting, purchasing, the Women's Resource Center and part of the business office.

The child care center, currently occupying a house, will move into the cinder-block building vacated by the counseling department. The four houses currently harboring the accounting office, purchasing office, women's center and child care center will be sold or razed.

The three-story building will also hold eight new classrooms and a computer lab with 90 computers. Five additional classrooms will be opened in the Liberal Arts Building when the learning assistance center moves.

Livonia man heads car seat drive for kids

STAFF WRITER

Livonia resident James Mariani wants more people to restrain their children — out of love and concern.

Mariani, the regional vice president of Primerica Financial Services of Farmington Hills, is leading the Michigan portion of a nationwide Primerica campaign to provide child car seats to needy families.

Mariani, 28, and his wife Juliette hope to raise $375,000 in the next four years to buy 25,000 child car seats that would be distributed by area hospitals, health agencies and fire stations.

"It was just something that kind of hit us in the heart, because we've got kids ourselves," Mariani said.

The campaign is called "Operation Baby Buckle" and ties in with the release in June of "The Flintstones" movie. Hanna-Barbera Productions Inc. and the Ron McNair Foundation are also involved. Overall, Primerica hopes to raise $1.5 million in the next four years and buy 100,000 car seats.

The seats will be purchased wholesale for $15 each from Century Carseats. These seats generally retail for $45 to $80.

Mariani is planning several fund-raising events this year. A golf outing at Livonia's Fox Creek Golf Course tees off on June 18. A 5K footrace will hit the ground running on June 14. And Baby Buckle boosters will have a display at the Livonia Spree in late June.

Mariani is also trying to get other people and companies involved. If you would like to donate money or offer help, call 851-2120.

According to state law, children up to the age of 1 must be restrained in a car seat while occupying a moving vehicle. Children between the ages of 1 and 4 must be in car seats while occupying the front seat. In the back seat children aged 1-4 need only be using the regular seat belt.

County gives green light to 14 area roads

Wayne County government hopes to quicken the flow of traffic on 14 roads by installing fancy traffic signal systems.

The cost is $8.4 million, of which the federal government pays 80 percent and county government 20 percent.

The county plans to begin installation in the spring, but the job isn't expected to be finished until sometime in 1995.

The system will involve 186 traffic signals and 61 miles of road. The new signals are supposed to be timed so that motorists hit most of the green lights.

The 1994 program includes:

■ Seven Mile from Lennane to Wyoming in Detroit and Redford Township (23 signals, 6 1/2 miles).

■ Beech Daly from Cherry Hill to Eight Mile in Inkster, Dearborn Heights and Redford (20 signals, nine miles).

The 1995 program includes:

■ Wayne Road from Goddard to West Chicago in Romulus, Wayne, Livonia and Westland (25 signals, 9 1/2 miles).

■ Farmington Road from Plymouth to Seven Mile in Livonia (eight signals, four miles).

■ Moross Road from Hayes to St. John Hospital in Detroit (eight signals, three miles).

Democrats to discuss Proposal A

The 13th Congressional District Democratic Party will host a debate on Proposal A at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, March 10, in the United Auto Workers Local 900 office, 38900 Michigan Ave. in Wayne.

State Rep. Kirk Profit, D-Ypsilanti, will argue in favor of the March 15 ballot proposal. State Rep. Greg Pitoniak, D-Taylor, will argue against it.

The public is invited. For more information, call Barbara Block at 721-2170.

Urban sprawl: SEMCOG report says slow it down

By TIM RICHARD
STAFF WRITER

Without a peep of controversy, the Southeast Michigan Council of Governments has adopted a strategy report to slow down "urban sprawl" — the development of suburban open space with little population increase.

SEMCOG's General Assembly last week approved a 40-page strategy to save older cities and infrastructure, including reclaiming contaminated sites.

"Revitalizing Urban Communities" contained no hint of the charge of "racism," which deeply offended Oakland, western Wayne and Macomb delegates two years ago during debate over the Regional Development Initiative (RDI).

"The new document started in the RDI," said John Amberger, SEMCOG's executive director. "There were five major findings in RDI. One was that we need to do a better job at the suburban level of managing growth so it doesn't turn into sprawl."

"If we can have quality growth in the suburbs, and don't just suck out jobs, that's part of the equation," Amberger said. "It (the new report) is positive for older areas."

People shifted

Crux of the problem: SEMCOG expects the amount of developed land to increase 40 percent in the seven-county region in 20 years while population rises only 6 percent — a shifting of people without real growth.

Twin evils: abandonment of older, built-up areas and heavy taxpayer burdens to serve newly developed land.

"Cooperation between urban centers and their surrounding suburbs could be enhanced," the SEMCOG policy says. "By joining together, all communities in the region will enjoy greater economic success."

One recommendation calls for "quick take" laws allowing older communities to assemble the large land parcels required by modern industry. Another would allow property tax breaks to be given only by "disinvested areas" to end the bidding war between communities.

SEMCOG points a finger of blame at a law it once praised — PA 233 of 1990, the so-called "Polluters Pay" act. The planning agency now says the law "tightly restricts" redevelopment of land in urban areas.

SEMCOG continues its call for a stronger public transit system, noting 33 percent of Detroit families and 12 percent in the region have no auto.

Amberger said the "Revitalizing" report benefited from much suburban input. Task force members included Joan Buser, Oakland Township supervisor; Don Gross, Southfield community development director; Tim Pope, Novi councilman and aide to Sen. David Honigman of West Bloomfield; Nancy Bates, an aide to Rep. Jan Dolan of Farmington Hills; and officials from such Wayne County communities as Dearborn, Southgate and Grosse Pointe Farms.

'Superb work'

SEMCOG also unveiled its new handbook "Land Use Tools and Techniques."

"It's an absolutely superb work," said Amberger. "We'd like to get a copy into the hands of every zoning official in the region, and even the state."

Oakland Township's Buser, outlining the work, said it would help suburban officials retain open space and the character of their communities even as development arrives.

County picnic permits on sale

Prosecutor's office gets new western Wayne chief

Wayne County Prosecutor John D. O'Hair has promoted Raymond P. Walsh, 47, of Northville Township, a 20-year veteran of the Wayne County Prosecutor's Office, to be new chief of the prosecutor's western Wayne Office at 3000 Henry Ruff Road in Westland.

Walsh replaces Howard (Mickey) Philippart Jr., a Redford Township resident who is retiring in April after 26 years with the prosecutor's office, the last two years as chief of the western Wayne office.

"Mickey Philippart, and Bob Sage before him, were prosecutor's prosecutors — pillars of support to the police agencies in western Wayne County," O'Hair said.

"Ray Walsh has big shoes to fill, and I have every confidence that western Wayne will be very pleased with the dedication and commitment to public safety of Ray Walsh."

In 1987, Walsh was picked "man of the year" by the Michigan Department of Agriculture for prosecuting gasoline station operators who "shorted" customers.

Walsh and his wife, Susan, are the parents of two teenage daughters, Meredith and Georganna.

Walsh is a graduate of Northern Illinois University, where he received a bachelor of arts degree in 1970, and of Wayne State University School of Law, where he earned his juris doctorate in 1973. He has extensive experience in criminal trials and appeals. For the last five years, he has specialized in warrant approval and has been the assistant prosecutor assigned to work directly with the Detroit Police Department on its campaign against illegal drugs.

Walsh's professional publications include: contributing editor, "Investigating and Prosecuting Obscenity Cases," Prosecuting Attorneys Association of Michigan (Higgins Lake, 1991); contributor, annual survey, "State of the Law, Criminal Law," Institute of Continuing Legal Education (Ann Arbor, 1979 and 1978); author of "History and Law of Detention in Michigan," State Bar of Michigan, Criminal Law Section (Mackinaw, 1978); contributing editor to "Habitual Offender Manual," Prosecuting Attorneys Association of Michigan (Lansing, 1977).

In 1993, he was honored by the American Family Association of Michigan.

The prosecutor's Western Wayne Office handles approval of requests for arrest warrants from suburban police departments, preliminary examinations in 24 suburban district courts on felony cases, and all misdemeanors and traffic violations committed in the out-county area through completion of trial.

In announcing the appointment, O'Hair said: "Our western Wayne office has been very fortunate in having had excellent leadership from committed public servants during my tenure as prosecutor."

SC schedules recital tryouts

Schoolcraft College auditions for the April 17 "Piano Honors" and "String, Flute, Guitar and Voice Honors Recitals" will be held March 25-26.

Deadline for application to audition is Wednesday, March 9.

To receive an application, or for more information, call Donald Morelock at 462-4400, Ext. 5218.

Alcohol abuse course offered

A Schoolcraft College course called "Alcohol/Drug Abuse: Prevention, Detection, Intervention and Recovery" will meet 9 a.m. to noon Saturday, March 12.

Fee is $48. For more information, call 462-4448.

Topics include how alcohol and drugs affect the family, the implications this has on individual functioning, recognizing personal or family member substance abuse and how to intervene. Current prevention and treatment methods will be discussed.

Course teaches job assertiveness

A Schoolcraft College course called "Assertive Techniques for the Workplace" will meet 7-10:10 p.m. Tuesdays, March 15 to April 12.

Fee is $129. For more information, call 462-4448.

AROUND WESTLAND

Children's storytime

The Wayne-Westland Library and the Westland recreation department will co-sponsor a free children's story-time program to be held Monday nights this month at Bailey Recreation Center, on Ford between Wayne Road and Newburgh, directly behind city hall. The free program will include crafts instruction. The activity will be 7-8 p.m.

Family life seminar

The Westland Jaycees will hold a family life seminar on Saturday, April 9, in the new Salvation Army service center, on Venoy near Dorsey. Topics to be covered will be discipline, peer mediation/peaceful conflict, divorce and children, student loans, wills and trusts, pets and children, student loans, fire safety and speakers from the Westland Youth Assistance program, a trauma/burn center and First Step. Children are encouraged to accompany parents at the seminar, to be held 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. There is a $5 registration fee for individuals, $7 per family. The registration deadline is March 30. Interested persons may contact project chairwoman Donna Gildea, 729-8763.

Registration

The Westland Youth Athletic Association is holding registration this month for T-ball, Mustang, Bronco, Shetland, Filly, Pony and Colt leagues. Registration will be noon to 2 p.m. on all Saturdays in March and 8-10 p.m. on all Wednesdays in March at the WYAA building, 6050 Farmington Road, just north of Ford. Parents are required to bring their son or daughter's birth certificate. All players must also take part in fund-raisers. The fee is $65 per family or $80 for three sports. WYAA veterans must register by March 30 to be able to return to last year's teams.

ART EMANUELE/STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

Coming clean: A sure sign of this week's warmer temperatures was the number of people lining up to use self-serve wash car washes. One patron, Tim Schuster, washed his Pontiac Sunbird at a car wash on Ford, near Wildwood. Schuster is staying at an aunt's home in Westland while attending the University of Michigan in Ann Arbor.

Annapolis Hospital offers health screening

Annapolis Hospital and Project Health-O-Rama are teaming up again to provide health screenings, tests, and counseling services to detect health problems early.

This year's tests will be held Tuesday, March 22, through Friday, March 25, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., at Westland Center.

Free health screenings include: blood pressure check, height/weight measurement, hearing test, glaucoma screening, nutrition counseling, medication counseling, and breathing test.

Other tests include: colorectal cancer screening kit for $4, blood panel test for $15, and prostate specific antigen (a blood test) for $25.

All tests are performed by health professionals. Persons must be 18 to take part.

For information, persons may call Annapolis Hospital, 467-4134.

Young, old face greater risk of burns

BY BILL COUTANT
STAFF WRITER

A young child reaches up to the stove and pulls the handle of a pan that dumps boiling liquid on him. An elderly woman reaches across a front burner to check on something on the rear burner and her robe catches fire.

These are just two of the common instances that cause serious burns that could easily have been avoided. That's what medical and public safety professionals are emphasizing to the public.

"The greatest risks seem to be to the young and the old," said Lt. Mike Garr, a fire prevention specialist.

In fact, fire and burn injuries are the second-leading cause of accidental deaths in children from ages 1 to 4 and the third-leading cause of injury and death for ages 1 to 18.

Health professionals are trying to make parents, and those who care for children such as grandparents and baby sitters, aware of the dangers, especially in the kitchen.

"About 80 percent of those accidents happen in kitchens," said Claudella Jones, director of the National Institute for Burn Medicine in Ann Arbor. "That's where there is a lot of exposure to hot water and flame. And it's usually older adults and children 0 to 4."

Burns, which can be severe, don't necessarily come as a result of catching fire or having scalding water spill on a child. A water heater that heats to 140 degrees can cause a serious burn in five seconds with water from a tap while the same damage would take five minutes with the water temperature at 120 degrees, Jones said. Another common type of burn involves drinking liquid or eating food that is too hot after it is boiled on the stove or in the microwave, where heating can be uneven and deceptive.

Burn patients require specific treatments that most hospitals cannot deal with beyond immediate first aid. For that reason, most serious burn patients in southeastern Michigan are taken to either the University of Michigan Burn Center in Ann Arbor or Detroit Receiving Hospital's burn unit.

Although burn treatment has come a long way over the years, serious burns are not only some of the most painful injuries, but often leave lasting scars.

Dawn Lang, a community relations specialist with Receiving who has also worked at the U-M Burn Center, said a camping accident that caused third-degree burns over 45 percent of her body was devastating in more than one way.

"We were camping in the U.P.," she said. "A camping stove exploded. They had to take me to U of M. I was there for 18 weeks."

Not only was her recovery a long one, Lang was 10 when the accident took place. Her teen years, a time when acceptance is important for girls, was especially difficult.

"I went through a lot of pain," she said. "It was a difficult time of my life to have to adjust."

That experience led Lang to a career in educating the public about burn prevention and treatment.

"I'm an advocate for burn awareness," she said. "And I can base it on my experience."

The best immediate first aid for burns is cold water, Garr said. Other "home remedies," such as butter or other treatments either worsen the problem, lead to infection or must be removed — a painful process — before the area can be examined and treated at a medical facility.

Children playing with matches is a problem, but one that parents can have some control over, Jones said.

"Parents can teach their kids how to use matches," she said. "Let them light birthday candles and talk about what ways it is appropriate to use matches."

Many families have both parents working, leaving the children on their own and giving them the opportunity to play with fire, Jones said. That's why guidance is important.

Older adults are often the victims of fires caused by smoking in bed. Burning trash, where the wind can shift, is also a dangerous situation for older adults who cannot respond quickly to the shift.

People should have two routes of escape, use smoke detectors and have a place to meet outside, so that no one goes back into a fire looking for someone who already may have escaped.

Science program wins award for innovation

Ignited by a mother's concern about her young daughter's science education, Lawrence Technological University's Partnership for Science Literacy was named one of eight programs nationwide to win a Merck Innovation Award in Science Teaching and a portion of the $200,000 in grants.

Lawrence Tech's partnership program was cited by Merck because it "provides workshops for Detroit area elementary and middle-school teachers to increase their knowledge of physics concepts and develop their skills in teaching physics through hands-on activities."

Maria Vaz, director of natural sciences at Lawrence Tech, has seen the partnership program through its first five years and said this national recognition is a happy milestone for the partnership.

"I think this is a measure of our success," said Vaz.

The key to the workshops, which attract more than 60 teachers from throughout the metropolitan Detroit area every year, is offering practical, hands-on exercises using inexpensive equipment that can be used in the classroom by third- to eighth-grade teachers.

The workshops touch on various scientific disciplines and principles, and provide help for teachers who feel overwhelmed in trying to make science interesting to their students.

"The problem is not that physics and chemistry are ill-suited to certain students or age groups, but that teachers themselves felt unprepared and unable to teach physical sciences creatively, in a way that connects with these students," Vaz said.

This year the Society of Automotive Engineers has joined the partnership as a sponsor and will introduce portions of its popular World in Motion program. The partnership was opened to private and parochial schools last year.

Women and minority students at Lawrence Tech also are a vital part of the partnership team. They visit the schools to wow elementary and middle school students with scientific demonstrations. The Lawrence Tech students are fulfilling one of the most important components of the partnership, Vaz said.

"They are role models who give the school children a little extra attention and motivation," Vaz said. "The Lawrence Tech students get a lot out of doing the demonstrations. They enjoy it because the children interact with them so well."

The partnership program, which is also funded by a Higher Education Competitive Grant from the Dwight D. Eisenhower Mathematics and Science Education Act, is staffed by Marilyn Randa, associate professor of physics; Scott Schneider, assistant professor of physics; and Ronald Livingston, of the Barbour Magnet Middle School in Detroit.

Council fuss Brown wrong in gavel-passing

City Council president Thomas Brown has been in government a long time. And he certainly knows parliamentary procedures. Since the late 1950s, he has been a Nankin Township trustee, treasurer and supervisor; served as Westland's first mayor; and later represented half of the city in the state Legislature.

He was named to a city council vacancy in early 1986, won election to a four-year term in 1987, and was re-elected to a second term in 1991.

But he was caught in his political underwear last week by Dorothy Smith, a longtime political watchdog and council-watcher.

She claimed that Brown violated the city charter by passing his gavel to another council member, who then presided over the council session.

While Brown vehemently denied any wrongdoing, Smith gained a surprising ally — city attorney Angelo Plakas.

The attorney, in a written legal opinion on the issue, concluded that the council president must chair council meetings. There are two narrow exceptions which are spelled out in the charter.

But the exceptions didn't mesh with what Brown was doing in allowing Councilwoman Sandra Cicirelli, who is also council president pro-tem, to chair most of a recent business meeting.

"Since this is an election year for judge, I just wondered if it was a matter of exposure," Smith commented without directly accusing anyone.

Plakas confirmed that Brown should preside over council meetings, though Cicirelli could step in during his absence.

■ Council watchdog Dorothy Smith's complaint that council president Tom Brown was wrong in allowing a colleague to chair meetings was supported by a legal opinion by the city attorney.

As lawyers would say, the most telling evidence in the political dispute comes from Plakas, who said that "the president pro tem may only chair an entire meeting of the council when the council president is absent . . ."

Smith's complaint was based on a belief that Brown was attempting to give Cicirelli greater public visibility in her planned fall campaign as a district judge candidate, opposing Judge C. Charles Bokos.

Brown and Cicirelli denied the claim.

But it appears that Smith was on target.

The bottom line is that Brown, one of the longest-serving public officials in the community's history, and Cicirelli, an attorney in private practice, should have known better than to get involved in a questionable handling of a council session.

If they had any questions about the gavel-passing change, they could have done two things: read the charter concerning the council president's duties and/or consulted with the city attorney.

In the end, Brown said the city attorney's opinion will be reviewed, and "we will conduct these meetings as prescribed."

We certainly hope so.

In the meantime, Smith and the Observer will continue to keep an eye on the gavel.

DCL to OU: A good move

Detroit College of Law is thinking about hitting Eight Mile, a phrase that has come to hold very negative connotations. This move, though, to Oakland University is one that affects Detroit little and could have a tremendous impact on Oakland County.

In the hub of Detroit are currently three law schools — the University of Detroit on Jefferson, DCL on Elizabeth and the Wayne State University Law School. Those three are more than half of the law schools in the entire state. (The other two are the University of Michigan Law School in Ann Arbor and Cooley Law School in Lansing.) Losing one law school in Detroit would have little impact on the city.

Although it's still in its earliest stage of talks, DCL is thinking of being an independent college located on the Oakland University campus in Rochester Hills. There is no law school currently in Oakland County, and a third of DCL's student body is composed of Oakland County residents. We see it as an added convenience for Oakland County residents who don't want to travel 20 or 30 miles to class each day.

Additionally, should the law school stay in Detroit and the new Tiger stadium be built, DCL officials worry about the impact on its students. DCL Dean Dave Favre already is concerned that a stadium so close to the Elizabeth Street campus would make it difficult for night students to attend night classes.

The move would also be a feather in the cap of Oakland University. The campus would offer a variety of opportunities to Oakland County residents, offering everything from bachelor's degrees to law degrees without ever having to seek new surroundings.

■ The reason that this is a "win-win" for both Oakland University and for Detroit is that moving the law school would free up land for another purpose. DCL sits on land that currently is rumored for the location of the proposed new Tiger stadium. The DCL land is relatively tight for a campus but spacious enough for added parking or other stadium-related uses.

The DCL land is relatively tight for a campus but spacious enough for added parking or other stadium-related uses.

The transformation of the land from school to business puts the land back on the city of Detroit's tax rolls, since educational institutions are tax-exempt. The added available space also gives Tigers' owner Mike Ilitch a more concentrated center of development.

Freeing up the land will also give Detroit the opportunity to establish the area with its own identity. The area near Woodward Avenue easily could become the entertainment center of Detroit, providing everything from baseball to theater to a major comedy club.

Reader is amazed

I'm reading the front page headline of your paper "Board names two administrators" in your Feb. 24 edition, and we cannot believe our eyes.

The Livonia school board approves unanimously to create two new positions to help our newly appointed superintendent in his "new executive team concept."

This announcement from a school district who has been complaining to its constituents (taxpayers) about upcoming budget concerns, school finance problems with the state, EPA clean-up requirements with a closed school (Cooper), and other anticipated money shortages.

This from a school district who has the luxury of having not one but two superintendents on its payroll, filling these positions by promoting a 25-year veteran employee to a new job classification and salary scale, and hiring another district employee, I'm sure at a higher compensation package (why else would someone move or change positions). And mentioned in the same article, "not yet replacing another executive who retired in June 1993." Amazing!

When are the taxpayers of this district going to wake up? When are they going to take control? When are people going to stop paying the bills without asking why?

Doesn't the board have the concept of reorganizing job positions or sharing additional responsibility in tough times? Don't we need to hire more classroom teachers to actually teach our children?

There is no mention of compensation on these positions but wouldn't this new-found money better serve those in the classroom for additional education equipment or be applied to next year's anticipated short fall?

Could it be that those who make our education decisions on the board have strong education backgrounds, applications, conflicts or connections and fully understand the public will always underwrite any budget to educate their children as long as the board has the final say and maintains complete control.

The taxpayers of this district better understand the rules of the education game because the education community understands it, completely.

Open the ice market

It's time to get tough! I'm disgusted about this trade deficit problem. Not the one with Japan — the one with the Canadian Eskimos.

We've been buying Eskimo ice for years! Our markets are open. The Eskimo market is closed. First, they complained about the quality of American ice. Then — when we fixed that problem — they said our ice blocks were too big, and they were the wrong shape for Eskimo ice boxes. Excuses! Nothing but excuses!

We've got to force the Eskimos to buy American ice. We need measurable standards to verify American penetration of the Eskimo ice market. Promises won't do it anymore.

Eskimo leaders say they can't force their people to buy American ice, and that Eskimos actually prefer to buy Eskimo ice. They further assert that American ice producers have neglected to establish a distributor and marketing system in Eskimo-land and have only recently expressed any interest in the Eskimo market at all. Always an excuse! Have you ever heard such nonsense? Even if it's true — what's that got to do with it? Jobs in American ice-making plants are at stake here. It's about jobs — being logical has nothing to do with it.

Eskimo leaders point out that they buy lots of American-made wool socks, and that American-made parkas and thermal underwear are the best in the world. Sure — but that won't close the trade deficit in ice. The wool sock market is peanuts. We need to sell the eskimos something expensive — you know — high value added.

I have suggested that the Eskimos buy American-made defense equipment. Things like guns, bombs, airplanes — maybe even some missiles and a couple of attack submarines. Sort of like what the Arabs do with all of that oil money.

But no! The Eskimos have got an excuse for that one, too! They claim that their tribal "constitution" outlaws war.

In 1945 the Canadian government promised to provide the Eskimos with all of their security needs free of charge. What a deal! With that burden off their backs, no wonder they make such great ice!

I say it's time to re-arm the Eskimos! If they bought just one attack submarine, we could close the trade deficit in ice for the next 50 years! Then — we could stop trying to sell ice to the Eskimos.

Teens to the rescue

On Friday, Jan. 28, I had the misfortune to hit a huge pothole on Inkster Road between Ann Arbor Trail and Joy. My tire blew out, the rim was bent, and my wheel cover was airborne. The worst was the fact it was very late and I was a woman traveling alone.

Two young men stopped and, to my relief, offered to help. They changed my tire despite sub-zero temperatures. They were friendly, courteous and refused a cash "thank you."

Counseling can help ease pain, restore dignity

A child's piercing cry as he awakens from a nightmare. A lack of trust in others. Fears of getting hurt or killed. Anger at the world. Inappropriate touching. A feeling of lack of control over one's body and life. There are behavior problems as well as depression and feelings of guilt and shame.

There is also a denial of what has happened. Headaches and stomach aches won't go away.

There is a rage that is close to spilling over the edge.

These are just a few of the symptoms which may result from the trauma of childhood sexual abuse.

Sexual abuse can be defined as any sexual contact where one individual uses his power and control in a relationship to make a victim submit to sexual demands.

Sexual abuse includes but isn't limited to fondling, exploitation for pornography or prostitution, and sexual penetration.

Research has shown that in a majority of cases, the victim knows the sexual abuser or perpetrator.

The perpetrator may be known either as a family member or as someone who has contact with the family and the child.

Childhood sexual abuse affects not only the child and his or her family but the entire community.

They may live with shattered expectations and hopes in a world where others cannot be trusted.

They may lack feelings of self-worth and dignity, be unable to pursue productive goals, and exist in the shadows of despair, loss and trauma.

Whether you are trying to help a child or if you are a childhood sexual abuse survivor, realize that it is never easy to deal with the abuse.

However, there are many positive steps

GUEST COLUMNIST

SHARI SCHWARTZ

■ Sexual abuse can be defined as any sexual contact where one individual uses his power and control in a relationship to make a victim submit to sexual demands.

you can take. Admit to yourself that you or your child was sexually abused.

This takes a lot of courage as it may feel easier to tuck your experiences and feelings inside and pretend you and your family are OK even if they are not.

Believe in yourself and your child. Sexual abuse survivors rarely lie about their abuse.

Be supportive and encouraging. Seek professional help so you and your child can have a safe place to express feelings and heal from the abuse.

Place blame for what has happened where it belongs — on the perpetrator. Don't blame yourself or your family.

If you suspect your child has been abused, see a physician immediately. Call protective services and/or your local police department. Sexual abuse is a crime and needs to be reported to the proper authorities.

Make sure your child does not have continued contact with the perpetrator. You are innocent unless you are the abuser.

You could not have seen the abuse coming or magically made it stop. Be good to yourself and your family. Believe in how special you are and get the help you need.

Having counseled many sexual abuse survivors and their families, I realize the pain can be devastating.

It can feel like your whole world is being torn apart and nothing feels good anymore. However, no matter how much pain you feel now, it does get better. Children and families do heal. Have faith.

Remember that help is only a phone call away.

Farmers catch huge break if Proposal A passes

Usually I answer readers' questions about Proposal A in the news columns.

But last week one question called for both facts and opinion, which I here-with supply.

I live in Detroit and own 19 acres on Buno Road (Milford Township). I see a bias in this school finance reform plan against a person who owns agricultural property . . .

Count them, and you will find agri-business people have many advantages over their city and suburban cousins under the new school finance laws.

Not only do agri-business people get the lower residential property tax rate (6 or 12 mills) on their homesteads, but they also get it on contiguous and adjacent farmland that is unoccupied — the business part of their property.

They will pay the full 24 mills only on non-contiguous land and on land they rent to someone else.

Contrast this with the treatment given city folks:

■ The small-town Main Street merchant who lives upstairs from his store pays 24 mills on the downstairs portion of his property.

■ The college-town widow who rents a couple of rooms to students gets the homestead rate only on the part of the home she occupies.

The students' quarters will be taxed the full 24 mills.

All along, agri-businesses have had special advantages.

Remember the Robin Hood act in which property taxes on city and suburban commerce and industry were to be shared?

Rural districts would take a share of city and suburban business taxes, but farmers wouldn't have to share taxes on agri-businesses, which are considered residential.

The school finance reform movement was fueled on the farm.

Remember that comparison of poor districts spending $2,500 per student while rich ones spent $9,000?

The poorest districts were all in the farm counties of The Thumb.

TIM RICHARD

■ Not only do agri-business people get the lower residential property tax rate (6 or 12 mills) on their homesteads, but they also get it on contiguous and adjacent farmland that is unoccupied — the business part of their property. They will pay the full 24 mills only on non-contiguous land and on land they rent to someone else.

have been alleviated by consolidation — sharing of taxes and administrative costs. Give Midland County farmers a cut of the Dow plant by making a county-wide district.

Give Berrien County farmers a cut of the nuclear plant's taxes by consolidating the rural districts around Bridgman.

Two state senators who suggested such a common-sense solution got burned.

Suburbanite Jack Faxon of Farmington Hills and city man John Schwarz of Battle Creek learned the hard way that small town politics are extremely important to agri-business people, and consolidation is heresy, even if their kids got better-run and better-financed schools.

Well, the Robin Hood law was tied up in court, and now we have a reform plan that shares all property taxes statewide.

It's a whopping victory for agri-business.

The cap on assessments in Proposal A will benefit lakelake homeowners, but we tend to overlook its special benefit to agri-business in growth corridors.

Assessment growth would be limited to 5 percent until the agri-business person sells to an industrial park developer or mega-mall.

Such are the facts. You also asked for an opinion.

Not content with these advantages, agri-businessmen are demanding that all farm property be taxed as residential — even disjointed pieces, even farms owned as investments, even rented farm land.

The Farm Bureau endorsed Proposal A but got a concession from Gov. John Engler (who was raised on a farm) to support amendments giving the agri-business lobby everything it wants.

My opinion is that any further picking of the public pocket by agri-business would be immoral and selfish beyond belief.

U-M flower and garden show brings spring a little bit closer

When I was younger, winters didn't seem to go on this long.

There was hockey on the pond, with hot cocoa afterward. I looked forward to the occasional snowstorm, if only because there would be skiing afterward. And there was always a fire in the fireplace and a warm spot to sit and read.

But this year, it seems winter has gone on forever. Here we are at the beginning of March, the snow is still on the ground, and the deep frost is still freezing the water pipes.

Worse, the flower and vegetable catalogs start fluttering through the mail at this time of the year. Looking at the bright pictures on the newest rose or thinking about planting strawberries take on a certain fictional quality when it's below-zero outside.

Coming up, however, is a good reality check: The Flower and Garden Show, sponsored by the University of Michigan's Matthaei Botanical Gardens, will open March 24 for four days at the Washtenaw Farm Council Grounds east of Ann Arbor.

I've been to past shows; they're fun and they make concrete the assertion that spring is coming.

This year's show will feature an acre of professionally designed landscapes and more than 500 horticultural and floral design exhibits. For those who are serious about their gardening, there is also a Standard Flower Show produced in cooperation with the Federated Garden Clubs of Michigan.

The show also benefits a very good and very under-reported cause, the Matthaei Botanical Gardens. Located on an enormous piece of land given to the U-M years ago by former Regent Frederick C. Matthaei, the gardens started out as a fairly standard academic collection of greenhouses and research plots.

But with Patricia Hopkinson's arrival as acting director, the place started to get with it.

New gardens were planted, this time with the interests of the average Michigan gardener in mind. Adult education classes taught pruning, plant identification and garden design. This year's perennial sale will offer 25,000 plants in early May, and wildflower tours and nature walks happen throughout the year.

The gardens adopted a new statement of purpose: "We aim to contribute to a better quality of life for the world community by maintaining a living museum and plant sanctuary where a dynamic interaction of scientific, educational and aesthetic pursuits can take place within the context of a world-class university." A Friends organization was launched to raise money. Birmingham's Frederick Matthaei Jr., son of the original donor, has continued his family's tradition of generous giving.

So if you want to get a jump on spring, get a few gardening tips and at the same time give support to a good cause, you might want to check out the Flower and Garden Show. I'll see you there.

The Washtenaw Farm Council Grounds site is located at 5055 Ann Arbor-Saline Road, just off I-94 south of town. Tickets can be purchased at the door. For information on the show, call (313) 998-7002; for information on the botanical gardens themselves, call (313) 998-9741.

DeJohn new Pats' coach

Former Schoolcraft College player Bev DeJohn has been named the new girls soccer coach at Livonia Franklin High.

Franklin athletic director Dan Freeman made the announcement Monday.

DeJohn replaces Joe Galea, who resigned last month because of job-related commitments. Galea posted a record of 27-35-1 in four seasons with the Patriots.

"Bev has playing and coaching experience, and we're looking forward to her taking over and building the program from where it is," Freeman said.

DeJohn, an Dearborn Edsel Ford High School product, also played at Missouri Valley College in Marshall, Mo. She is attending Eastern Michigan University.

DeJohn has been an assistant boys coach at Redford Thurston and was the head coach last year at Dearborn Divine Child.

DeJohn is currently attending Eastern Michigan University.

Livonia Meteors unbeaten

The Livonia Meteors, coached by Jason Corney and Doug Shooks, recently finished the second season at Total Soccer's indoor season undefeated.

Members of the under-14 boys team include Craig Bosanko, Nick Bitell, Steve Desjardin, Dominic DeRubeis, Steve Elmore, Lee Masterson, Dan Ott, Tom Pichler, Naum Popovski, Brian Shooks, Neal Wallace, Curtis White and Lou Wiloughby.

Meet Darren McCarty

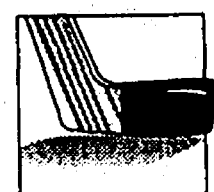

Detroit Red Wings' rookie forward Darren McCarty will be on hand to sign autographs from 2 to 4 p.m. Saturday, March 5, at Top Shelf Sports Inc., a hockey shop inside the Redford Ice Arena. McCarty will sign autographs for $5 each.

Redford Ice Arena is on Beech Daly Road just north of Plymouth Road.

No. 1 Shamrocks sparkle, 9-1

■ Redford Catholic Central, the state's top-ranked hockey team, takes on Livonia Stevenson in tonight's regional semi-finals at the Redford Ice Arena.

STAFF WRITER

The total shot differential was 50-7. That said it all.

So the result was predictable as the state's No. 1 ranked hockey team in Class A, Redford Catholic Central, opened state tournament play Tuesday with a 9-1 win over Livonia Franklin at the Redford Ice Arena.

CC, 19-1-2 overall, advances to tonight's Class A regional semifinal against long-time nemesis Livonia Stevenson. (Game time is 8.)

The Shamrocks' biggest concern, however, may be a leg injury suffered by scoring ace Jon Heady in last Saturday's season-ending 3-0 win over Port Huron Northern.

Heady, on crutches, did not suit up against Franklin and may miss tonight's game against Stevenson.

"If I know Jon Heady, he'll find a way to get back," CC first-year coach Gordie St. John said. "We have 12 forwards and somebody has to step up and do the job. You really don't make up for a guy like him, but if everybody turns it up a notch, it can be done."

Jeff LaChapelle picked up the slack with four goals and one assist.

Ken Lauer, Jason Couture, Chris Gonzalez and Jeff Helner also scored goals for CC.

Matt Giordano collected three assists, while Lauer Kevin Pedersen each added two. Couture, Pedersen, Brad Przysiecki, Chris Wegienka and even third-string goalie Jason Hubenschmidt contributed one assist each.

Sprawled out: Franklin goalie Pete Stasevich makes the save as teammate Kevin Bernard (bottom) checks Catholic Central's Ken Lauer.

Franklin, receiving an outstanding effort from junior goalie Pete Stasevich (37 saves), trailed 3-0 after one period and 5-1 after 30 minutes.

Dominic Catanzarite's goal from Joe O'Connell and Chris Mason at 6:00 of the second period cut the deficit to 3-1.

"Their goalie did an excellent job and Franklin worked hard as a team," St. John said.

Franklin bowed out with a 12-9-1 record.

"I'm very, very proud of my hockey team," Franklin coach Terry Jobbitt said. "The goaltending was great and everybody gave 150 percent and did their job against a superior hockey team."

"We're a young hockey team and next year we'll be a year older and better."

■ CHURCHILL 5, G.P. NORTH 2: On Tuesday, Livonia Churchill opened Class A regional play at the St. Clair Shores Civic Arena by downing host Grosse Pointe North.

Dan Higham's unassisted short-handed goal in the second period highlighted the victory. Dave Higham, Todd Kesler, Dave Elenich and Jason Samelko also scored goals for the Chargers, now 15-6-1 and 9-0-1 in their last 10 games.

Justin Young, Steve Grom, Chris Kiehler, Mark Bognell, Dan McNutt, Jason Lee and Dan Higham also had assists.

Our forwards did a good job of going to the net without the puck," Churchill coach Jeff Hatley said.

The Chargers met Southgate Anderson at 8 to-night in the semifinals. The two teams tied in their last outing, 3-3.

■ STEVENSON 10, SOUTHFIELD 2: Kevin Berger and Brian Calka each scored twice, while Tony Ferrero collected four assists as Livonia Stevenson (15-8 overall) rolled to an easy win Tuesday over Southfield-Lathrup in a regional matchup at Redford. The game was halted after two periods because of the 10-goal mercy rule.

Other Stevenson goal scorers included David Gorton, Jason Baylis, Jason Wesley, Jeff Blazok, Brian Tarsin and Kyle McNeilance.

McNeilance also collected three assists, while Ferrero and Gorton each added two.

■ REDFORD CC 3, P.H. NORTHERN 0: Redford Catholic Central wrapped up the regular season Saturday at home by blanketing Port Huron Northern. Greg Vazquez, Pete Davis and Matt Giordano tallied goals, while Chris Wegienka, Brad Przysiecki, Mark Holdridge and Jason Couture added assists.

Clarenceville 3-peats in Metro Conference

"Three-peat" was the appropriate term being throw around Saturday as Livonia Clarenceville's captured the Metro Conference volleyball tournament at Rochester Hills Lutheran Northwest.

The Trojans improved to 25-5-6 overall by defeating Grosse Pointe Woods University-Liggett in the championship match, 15-12, 9-15, 15-6.

In the semifinals, Clarenceville ousted the host Crusaders, 15-10, 11-15, 15-13.

It was Clarenceville's third straight Metro crown and it also marked the 100th career victory for fourth-year coach Alisha Love.

"I thought we played consistent all day," said Love, who now has 103 total wins. "We had a mission to accomplish and we accomplished that mission.

"I told the girls that we had the pride to defend the title and the power to destroy any team who tried to take it away from us."

Clarenceville's big hitters on the day included the trio of Wendy Roy (48 kills), Jaime Zemke (46) and Tracy Sledz (40).

Roy also had 14 ace serves, 34 digs and 30 solo blocks, while Zemke was not to be outdone with 10 aces, 44 digs and 33 solo blocks.

Sledz added 13 aces and 72 digs.

Setter Kristen Przegendza collected 143 assists, 37 points serving (including nine aces) and 63 digs.

Chris Nunnery contributed 17 aces (in 35 points) with 50 digs, while Joanna Galuszka added 15 kills, 10 aces and 29 digs.

Love also praised the efforts off the bench from Stacy Bishop-Rick, Nikki Couturier, Elizabeth Trybus, Amber Noon, Stephanie Snyder, Nicole Riedl, amy Jones and Christie DeHaan.

"Everybody had a part in this," said Love, whose team finished 14-0-1 in the Metro.

In pool play, Clarenceville beat Lutheran High Westland (15-6, 15-6), Harter Woods (15-10, 15-3) and Hamtramck (15-1, 15-6). The Trojans also split with Bloomfield Hills Kingswood (8-15, 15-7) for their only conference blemish of the year.

Salem anchors in 1st

By C.J. RISAK
STAFF WRITER

The meet was over and, for many of the swimmers, the three-day affair ended the season, too.

But long before North Farmington's 400-yard freestyle relay squad overtook its counterpart from Farmington to win the final event, the outcome was known.

Plymouth Salem, meet host and defending champion in the Western Lakes Activities Association, had won once again.

This was old stuff to coach Chuck Olson, who had guided the Rocks to seven previous championships. So the traditional post-meet dunking was out of the question, certainly.

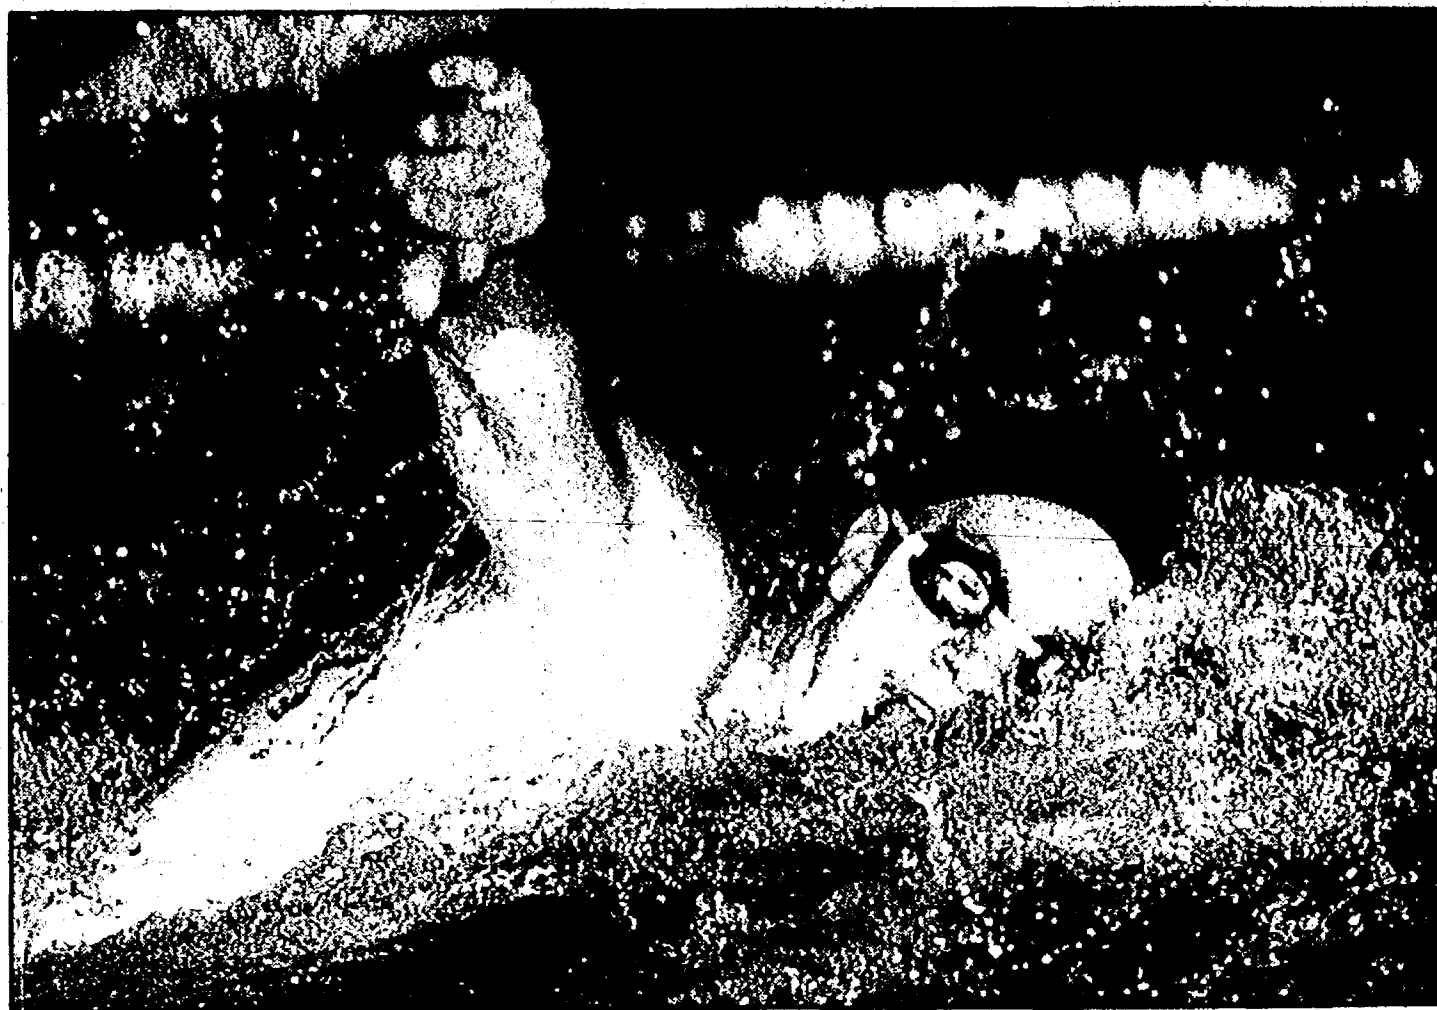

"Nah, not anymore," Olson agreed. "I'm too old for that."

Less than five minutes later, the Salem coach was bobbing in the pool — which bolsters the belief that while Olson rates among the state's best swimming coaches, he should steer away from career aspirations in the dial-a-psychic business.

Remember, it was Olson who predicted prior to the season that whichever team won the WLAA Relays to open the season usually ended up winning the league at the end. Well, Farmington collected the Relays title, but the Falcons could not keep pace with a very deep Salem squad.

"Our depth and our speed was the difference," Olson said while toweling off. "The guys worked hard to fill every event."

As proof, Olson offered this: The Rocks had 36 individuals entered in the WLAA meet. Thirty-three of them finished among the top 18, scoring points.

Salem totaled 496 points, easily outdistancing Farmington's second-place 418. North's strong performance in the 400 free relay narrowed the gap between second and third; the Raiders had 410.5, followed by Northville (357), Plymouth Canton (294), Livonia Stevenson (293) and Livonia Churchill (223) to round out the top seven. See statistical summary.

The Rocks' only win came in the 200 free relay, with the foursome of Dave Bracht, Joe Ervin, Eric Seidelman and Fred Locke clocking a 1:30.23. Salem was fourth in both the 200 medley and 400 free relays.

"Our relays swam well," said Olson. But did anyone in particular, in any event, look particularly good? "Just pick a name out," he answered.

OK, here's a prime example. In the 100 breast stroke, Salem's Scott Allen was seeded 17th after Thursday's preliminaries with a 1:09.26. In the best swim of his Salem career, he finished 13th in 1:08.34.

"He's a four-year swimmer who really stepped up," said Olson. "That's what our team is all about."

North's Karl Kozicki and Jon Kershaw and Northville's Jeff Sieving all enjoyed outstanding finals. Each won two individual events.

Kozicki's firsts came in the 200 individual medley (1:57.12) and the 500 free (4:41.18 — breaking his own league record of 4:42.62, set last year). Kershaw won the 200 free (1:44.16) and the 100 free (47.80), outdueling sprinters Locke from Salem and Jeff Clark from Canton in the latter.

Sieving, a sophomore, was a bit of a surprise, collecting firsts in the 100 butterfly (55.07) and the 100 breast stroke (1:00.85). Sieving was seeded sixth in the 100 breast going into the final, but beat highly regarded Falk Road- ing of Stevenson and Randy Cobb of Livonia Franklin.

Canton's Clark did get a win in his specialty, the 50 free (21.72 — a league record, topping Jeff Seif- ert of Walled Lake Central's 21.88 set in 1988). Other individual wins went to Northville's Jason Fisher in the 100 backstroke (54.14) and Canton's Jason Fowler in the diving (442 points).

In the 200 medley relay, Northville's Fisher, Peter Anthony, Sieving and Jason Lennig were winners (1:38.32 — a league record, bettering North's '92 mark of 1:38.72), and in the 400 free relay, North's Kershaw, Kozicki, Drew Sopha and Jason Speer took first (3:17.19).

Symposium aimed for youth coaches

While the concept isn't new, the application certainly is. And that price!

The second annual 1994 Coaching Symposium, sponsored locally by Nick O'Shea's Soccer Store and More, is scheduled for Saturday from 1:30-8 p.m. at Schoolcraft College.

Put in basic terms, this is a clinic for soccer coaches of all levels and parents of players who wish to increase their knowledge of the game. As O'Shea described it:

"Anyone interested in coaching or anyone who has a child playing."

The idea, according to O'Shea, isn't to teach coaches how to emotionally prepare their team to play. Rather, the symposium concentrates on how to play the game: passing, shooting, goal-keeping, principles of defense, officiating, etc.

All told, there are 15 hour-long sessions planned (several coincide). They will be conducted by highly regarded coaches, players and officials of the game, starting with O'Shea himself — a former pro and All-American player and the current coach of Schoolcraft's women's team and Livonia Churchill's girls squad.

O'Shea will conduct a session on finishing and organizing in the box. Others clinics will feature current Detroit Rockers' player

Lars Richters; Michigan women's coach Debbie Belkin; Michigan State Youth Soccer Association coach Bob Bukari; Schoolcraft College men's coach Van Dimi- triou; Troy Athens coach Tim Storch; Oakland University coach Ralph Torre; Kalamazoo College women's coach Scott Forrester; former Eastern Michigan player Rob Ludwig; and officials Pete Morrissey and Dale Brosser.

O'Shea has formatted the program on the Olympic Development Program-sponsored clinics conducted by national team coaches he has attended. Those are for coaches at a higher level of expertise; O'Shea's is aimed more at the novice- to medium-range coaches.

"Really, what I'm trying to do is promote the sport and educate people about it along the way," he said.

This symposium was more limited last year and still drew 150 people.

Those people will be happy to hear the price hasn't changed. There's no charge.

That's right — it's free.

For information regarding the symposium contact the Soccer Store and More at 421-7533.

Livonian Gable paces racers in junior event

Niki Gable was the Juniors II (ages 15-16) champion last weekend in the Central U.S. Ski Association Region III meet at Sugar Loaf Resort in Cedar.

The Farmington Hills Mercy junior from Livonia was second in the slalom Saturday behind Traverse City's Ellen Quirk and first in the giant slalom Sunday. Quirk was farther back in the latter, making Gable the bracket winner.

Gable was fourth in the overall standings, which included Juniors I and III skiers. She won 50.78 in the GS and 57.12 in the slalom.

She also placed sixth in slalom competition Monday in the high school state championships at Crystal Mountain.

Petoskey's Libby Kutcpal (50.29) and Jennifer Crockett (50.74) were first and second, defending champion Kelly Stemp- har of Ironwood third (51.39), Quirk fourth (52.83), West Iron County's Christy Salonen fifth (53.66) and Gable (53.77).

"She was in fourth after the first run but dropped a little on the second run," Mercy coach Tom Gable said. "She's a little disappointed but sixth in the state out of 81 girls is still quite impressive."

Gable defeated Kutcpal in the Region III giant slalom Sunday, "but every race is different," Tom Gable said. "Like football, any good team can beat another good team on any Sunday."

"Niki was upbeat about her results for the three days. I thought she skied well against some very good competition. She's motivated and a real go-getter. She's looking forward to her senior year, but she has a lot of skiing to go yet (this season)."

Petoskey won the girls team title and Traverse City its seventh consecutive boys championship.

The top four in the Region III slalom were Crockett (I), 55.90; Kutcpal (I), 56.24; Quirk (II) 56.98 and Gable (II) 57.12. In the GS it was Michelle Buron (I), who skies at the University of Alaska, 49.22; Crockett (49.52), Tammy Boyer (III) 50.66 and Gable 50.78.

CC eyes league meet encounter

The Redford Catholic Central boys swimming team, 11-4 in dual meets, heads into Sunday's Catholic League meet expecting to take second place.

Birmingham Brother Rice, the top-ranked team in Class A, is the overwhelming favorite to win the championship. The meet starts at 8 a.m. and will be held at Royal Oak Dondero's new eight-lane pool.

The Shamrocks, who placed second in the Central Division with a 4-1 record behind Rice, have qualified three individuals and two relays for the state meet, which will be held Friday, March 11.

Seniors James Leslie and Steve Reinke have qualified for two events each. Leslie has qualified in the 500-yard freestyle and 200 freestyle and Reinke has made it in the 100 backstroke and 100 butterfly. Junior Paul Magoplik has qualified in the 50 freestyle.

Leslie, Reinke, Magoplik and John Zarrow have qualified for the 200 free relay (1:30.78) and 400 free relay (3:21.13). The latter was achieved in Saturday's dual meet loss at Ann Arbor Pioneer.

Martin, Lewis regional champions

Livonia Stevenson batted .500, but hit a couple of home runs in Saturday's Class A individual wrestling regional at South Lyon.

Three of the Spartans' six regional qualifiers have advanced to the state finals, March 11-12 at Battle Creek's Kellogg Center.

Stevenson's Ben Lewis (171 pounds) and Craig Martin (189) earned regional titles, while teammate Scott Goldman (140) took second.

Other area Class A state qualifiers included Livonia Churchill's Josh Banks (119) and Westland John Glenn's Brian Kolb (160).

Martin, a junior, remained undefeated, running his record to 37-0 after beating Jeff Nadig of Saline in the finals, 6-4.

"It was a good, close match," Stevenson coach Don Berg said. "One of the toughest matches Craig's had."

Martin also decided Adrian's Alex Aldrich (9-2) and pinned Jon White of Pinckney (1:15).

Lewis, now 37-3 overall, was equally impressive in his road to the crown with decisions over Jeff Spence of Woodhaven (5-2), Chris Lavin of Pinckney (7-2) and Jeff Archey of South Lyon (10-4).

Lewis' season-long nemesis, Jesse Shakarian of Livonia Franklin, went 1-2 on the day.

Goldman, 32-8 overall, came up short in the finals against Farmington's Mike Prough, 10-5, but qualified for Battle Creek with wins over Mike Zimnicki of Dearborn Edsel Ford, 16-5, and Matt Hochleitner of Temperance Bedford, 3-2.

Stevenson's other three regional qualifiers — Dave Ross (heavyweight), Chris Mullett (145) and Chris Jaztremski (135) were each eliminated.

"We were disappointed Mul-

lett didn't get through, but he had two tough matches," Berg said. "And not to make excuses, but Ross had 15 stitches when he banged his head in practice, and wasn't quite the same."

The biggest surprise may have been Churchill's Banks, who eliminated Observerland champ Anthony Underwood in the consolation round at 119.

Banks opened with a 5-3 win over Derek Greene of Wyandotte Roosevelt, but lost to Brighton's R.D. Dias in the second round, 5-3.

Banks rebounded with a 5-2 victory over Brian McCassey of Saline and a 4-2 triumph over Underwood. He took a third and qualified with a 5-3 victory over Howell's Rob Wendell.

At 160, Glenn's Kolb took four overall. He beat John Svec of Plymouth Salem, 7-4, and qualified with a pin in two minutes over Adam Lynch of Northville.

Glenn's Mike Henry (130) just missed going to state after falling to Dearborn's Derrick Kelp, 9-2.

Shamrocks sending 5

Redford Catholic Central is sending five wrestlers to the Class A state meet but the most likely Shamrocks are staying home.

Senior Bill Lamb, a 112-pounder who placed seventh in the state last year, and senior Liam O'Donahue, a 152-pounder who won at Observerland and was second in the Troy district, failed to qualify at Saturday's Troy High School individual regional.

O'Donahue was pinned by Roseville's Kyle Williamson in 5 minutes, 20 seconds and was eliminated in the second round when Hazel Park's Brendon Sequin recorded a pin in 4:45.

Lamb pinned his first opponent before losing to Kyle Syler of East Detroit, 14-3, and by fall to Joe Schneider of Romeo in 5:15.

All of the five CC state qualifiers are underclassmen, led by sophomore heavyweight John Spolsky and sophomore 140-pounder Kevin Griffin, both of whom placed second. Sophomore Dario Ianni (103), sophomore Dan Gardner (130) and junior Dan Krueger (171) each placed fourth.

"The nice thing about the five that are going to state is that all will be coming back," CC coach Mike Rodriguez said. "I didn't think that any were a cinch, but thought that all eight could get through."

Cville's Spiz qualifies

Steve Spiz is Livonia Clarenceville's first state qualifier in 10 years.

The 160-pound junior is headed to the Class C-D state meet, March 11-12 at Battle Creek Central High, after finishing fourth Saturday at the Goodrich regional.

Spiz, now 20-10 overall, beat Richard Hall, 16-7, avenging three straight losses to the Harper Woods grappler to earn a spot at the state meet.

Lutheran High Westland junior Brian Sellers (heavyweight) also finished fourth and will make the trip to Battle Creek.

Sellers ousted Clarenceville senior Sean Lynch, who was third the previous week in the district.

Last week, Lutheran High Westland lost its team dual regional semifinal match at Dundee, falling to state-ranked Addison, 71-3.

Danny Burk (103) was the Warriors' lone winner.

Roeper holds off Lutheran Westland

Bloomfield Hills Roeper narrowly avoided Lutheran Westland's upset bid Tuesday night.

Roeper outscored host Lutheran Westland, 7-4, in overtime to win a non-league boys basketball game 56-53.

Roeper is 16-4 overall while Lutheran Westland falls to 9-10.

Roeper made five-of-five free throw attempts in OT. Lutheran Westland trailed by three points in the last minute of OT but the Warriors were unable to get a three-point shot off in the last 10 seconds.

Senior guard Jim Hoeft led Lutheran Westland with 14 points and senior forward Jeff Lichtner added 10 points and six rebounds.

Roeper junior guard Rashad Ferguson led all scorers with 19 points.

WAYNE 80, GARDEN CITY 41: Host Garden City was no match Tuesday for the visiting Zebros, who nearly doubled the Cougars' score.

Wayne improved to 15-5 overall, 11-3 in the Mega Conference Red Division. Garden City fell to 5-15 overall, 1-12 in the Red.

Rod Harrison led three Wayne players in double figures with 17 points. Guards Gerald Adams and Lorenzo Guess added 11 points each.

Guard Pete Males led Garden City with 11 points.

On Saturday, Guess scored 17 points, had five assists and 10 rebounds in an easy victory over visiting Monroe, 73-41.

Wayne led 40-37 after three quarters and put the game out of reach with a 26-4 advantage in the fourth quarter.

Harrison and Courtney Howard scored 11 points each. Howard also had five assists and five steals.

Don Marcero and Kelly Lofton had 11 points each for Monroe.

CLARENCEVILLE 72, BAPTIST PARK 57: It was the Kalaj & Kalaj show Tuesday for Livonia Clarenceville at Taylor Baptist Park.

Senior guard John Kalaj scored a team-high 22 points with seven rebounds and five assists and senior forward Mark Kalaj had 21 points, 11 rebounds and 10 assists.

Mark Kalaj was nine-of-15 for the field.

Livonia Clarenceville outscored Taylor Baptist Park 17-8 in the third quarter to break away from a 40-40 halftime tie.

Clarenceville made 7-12 free throws and Baptist Park was 10-13 at the line.

Junior center Mark Berry contributed 10 points and 10 rebounds for the Trojans.

Teammate Chris Smith, a senior forward, added nine points.

Mike Stimpson led Baptist Park with 25 points.

JOHN GLENN 59, W.L. CENTRAL 53: Westland John Glenn bounced back from its first-round Western Lakes Activities Association playoff defeat with Tuesday's victory over visiting Walled Lake Central.

The Rockets, who are 14-4 overall, started strong, jumping out to a 16-6 lead after one quarter.

But Central hung in, outscoring Glenn 19-15 in the second quarter and 19-17 in the third quarter to trail only 48-44. The Rockets had an 11-9 advantage in the fourth quarter.

Central fell to 10-8 overall.

Senior forward Tony Golina led Glenn with 14 points and junior center Guy Rucker had 13 points, 10 rebounds and 10 blocked shots.

Central was led by sophomore guard Greg Tobler, 14 points. Senior Craig Hill had 13 points and sophomore Scott Emert added 12.

STEVENS 60, W.L. WESTERN 33: Livonia Stevenson on Tuesday used a 17-4 advantage in the second quarter to pull away from visiting Walled Lake Western.

Stevenson improved to 6-13 overall. Western is winless in 19 games.

Brett Ferris led Stevenson with 16 points and teammate Steve Jacobs added 12.

Mike Brooke led Western with seven points.

N. FARMINGTON 54, FRANKLIN 39: North Farmington avenged an earlier loss to Livonia Franklin by defeating the visiting Patriots in a WLA game Tuesday.

The Raiders were led by four seniors playing in their last home game. Scot Lord scored 14 points, Evan Ellis 12, Jon Pennells 11 and Doug Dolak four.

North led 28-22 at halftime, 42-32 after three quarters and outscored Franklin 12-7 in the fourth period.

Jason Maschke scored 14 points for the Patriots. Both teams are 10-9 overall.

"We just did not show up mentally," Franklin coach Larry Jackson said. "We set our sights on the Final Four, and when that didn't happen we went through the motions."

HARRISON 45, CHURCHILL 31: Senior forward Calvin Pruitt had 17 points and 12 rebounds Tuesday to lead the host Hawks past Livonia Churchill.

Senior center Aaron Weiss added seven points (all in the second half) and seven rebounds for the victorious Hawks (10-9).

Jedd Thorderson finished with 15 points to lead the Chargers (5-14).

Harrison led 17-15 at halftime and 30-27 after three quarters, but the Hawks outscored Churchill 15-4 in the finale.

Sharpe sees light despite 2-30 record

Some may think Bill Sharpe, coach of Madonna University's fledgling men's basketball program, welcomed the end of his first season with a sigh of relief.

Not so despite a final record of 2-30.

On Saturday, the Fighting Crusaders bowed to host Spring Arbor, 102-90, but put up a battle.

"It was their best effort of the year," Sharpe said. "They started five seniors and we started five freshmen. They're one of the two best teams in the WHAC (Wolverine-Hoosier Athletic Conference), and we played with them for 40 minutes."

Spring Arbor led 54-45 at the half, thanks in part to Madonna's poor performance at the free throw line (five of 12).

In the second half, the Crusaders' poor shooting spread to the floor — they shot 29 percent (13 of 45).

Mike Slone (from Plymouth Salem) enjoyed his best game of the season (27 points), connecting on 9-of-15 from the floor (60 percent), including six 3-pointers. Jason McNab added 16 points, eight rebounds and three blocks. Shawn Branum scored 13 and J.

Dimes finished with nine points and nine boards.

Christian Emert had eight assists.

Spring Arbor (20-10 overall) got 23 points from Enzley Mitchell.

On the bright side, the Crusaders outboarded their opponent, 48-46.

"Nothing makes up for losing 30 games," Sharpe said, "but I've seen a steady improvement. Some of the coaches we've played felt these kids, by the time their juniors and seniors, will be challenging for the league title."

Madonna's promising: Abraham

BY C.J. RISAK
STAFF WRITER

There are lots of changes facing a team that reached the NAIA District 23 championship softball game last year.

SOFTBALL

First and foremost is the new face coaching the team: Jerry Abraham. While his face may be new to Madonna softball, it's hardly new to Madonna — or to softball, for that matter.

Abraham has coached the Lady Crusaders' volleyball program for seven years, guiding them to a top-five finish at the NAIA Tournament last December. And he has coached Taylor Center's softball team for the past six years, posting a 132-49 record and winning four Tri-River League titles. The Rams reached the state semifinals in '89 and '90.

He also coached softball for two years at Redford Bishop Borgess, taking the Spartans to a Catholic League title in '84.

Abraham, who succeeds Dave Racer (forced to resign due to personal reasons), now must see if he can take his success with Madonna's volleyball and in high school softball to another level.

"I'm trying to establish a team concept here," said Abraham, who will also continue to coach Taylor Center's team. "Since I've taken over, the kids have worked hard. They've responded."

The overall record last season wasn't good — 18-26. But the Crusaders were 7-7 in the district's regular season, and made a strong run in the district tournament.

ANN HEALEY/STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

Although the coaching has changed, several experienced players return, bolstering Madonna's hopes. Leading the veterans are pitchers Dawn Terrasi, a senior, and Lynda Weichel, a junior.

Abraham's guideline for building a team is time-tested: "Strong up the middle." With his pitching and second baseman Mandi Armstrong, a senior, and shortstop Michelle Birchmeier, a sophomore, both returning, Madonna should fill that requirement.

His greatest concern is behind the plate. "I think catching is critical at this level — at any level," Abraham said. Jennifer Pinter, a sophomore, started and returns.

Providing leadership in the field are seniors Jill Burt at third base and Holly Jondro in the outfield. Both are three-year starters. Three newcomers that could have an immediate impact are Mo Paulin, a junior; Ronnie Ronco, a senior; and Jeanie Baxter, a freshman. Paulin was a four-year starter and an all-league pitcher while at Farmington Hills Mercy; she's played on Madonna's volleyball team for three years.

Baxter, an outfielder, was all-league at Redford St. Agatha last season. Ronco, a utility player, was with Abraham at Center and played two seasons at Wayne State before transferring.

There are others, some recruited from Madonna's other teams: freshmen Becca Bloch (Livonia Franklin) and Maria Liwag, both basketball players, and Jenny Czach; and Christy Pydyn.

Crusaders taking aim

BY C.J. RISAK
STAFF WRITER

There's no doubting the losses are considerable for Madonna University's baseball squad, which departs Friday on its 12-game trip to Florida.

Gone from last season's 43-22 team, a team that won the NAIA District 23 regular-season title with a 22-4 mark, are six key players — three of them all-district performers.

"I don't think we had a weakness," coach Mike George said in examining last year's accomplishments. "I think it was as good a team as the team that won the national championship."

That says a lot. But it doesn't say much about this year's team. Can the Fighting Crusaders match that performance?

George thinks yes. Sure, he has lost pitchers Shaun Hayward (three-time all-district pick, 7-0 record, 1.45 earned run average) and Mike Coleman (2-4, 3.83); second baseman Joe Brusseau (three times all-district, .310 batting average, 13 doubles, three triples, five home runs, 26 runs batted in, 60 runs scored, 17 stolen bases); right-fielder Rich Roy (Madonna's Mr. Baseball, all-district, .338, 11 doubles, eight homers, 40 RBI); outfielder Bill Terski (.270, 25 RBI); and catcher Steve Coffell (.217).

But the cupboard is hardly bare. Quite the opposite.

"This year's team has all the makings of last year's," said George. "I know they're good. They have a chance to be very good."

BASEBALL

Even with the losses of Hayward and Coleman, George figures this team will feature better pitching. The defense should be improved, too.

And there's still plenty of experience. George could start seven seniors.

"I've told them we'll only go as far as the pitching and seniors will take us," he said.

Bolstering that nucleus is junior right-hander Sean Henkel (Livonia Stevenson; 0-2, 3.93, school-record four saves), who injured his shoulder one game after last year's Florida trip and was fed-shirted; junior right-hander Jim Solak (Redford/Divine Child), who played outfield all last season but will pitch more this year; and freshman right-hander Craig Benedict (Canton).

The team's everyday lineup seems strong too, with senior George Leung at first base (.292, 10 RBI), senior Jeff Miller at shortstop (.313, 13 doubles, three triples, three homers, 32 RBI, 36 errors), senior Jeff Pendell at third (Livonia Churchill; .322, 27 RBI, 15 errors); senior Craig Overaitis in left field (Livonia Franklin; .273, seven homers, 33 RBI); junior Scott Anderson in center (.365, 14 stolen bases); and Solak in right (.291, 11 doubles, nine homers, 26 RBI).

A pair of freshmen, Tim Kasubowski and Kurt Wilczynski, will split time at second base.

The key to Madonna's season, according to George, is at catcher. Chris Gajewski returns for his senior season (.264, 10 RBI); the question is how much catching he can do. There are no experienced substitutes — backing him up are Steve Zann (20 at-bats in '93) and freshman Craig Peterson.

"Catching's the key," said George. "If (Gajewski) gets hurt, we won't be nearly as good."

It seems to be the only question mark, however.

If the snow melts by April, this could be George's finest team in his six years as Madonna coach.

Homeowner affidavit deadline extended

Homeowners will have until May 1 to file affidavits for a reduced property tax rate.

The state Legislature finished action March 1 — deadline under the original school finance reform laws — by extending the filing date two months. Senate action came on a 34-0 vote Tuesday.

The House last Thursday gave the bill 102-0 approval, although the bill had been opposed in the Taxation Committee by Democratic gubernatorial hopeful Lyn Jondahl of Okemos.

Gov. John Engler promised to sign the measure.

The reform laws place a 24-mill state property tax on all property except the principal homestead. If voters approve Proposal A on March 15, the homestead rate will be six mills; if A is rejected, 12 mills.

The postponement was prompted by slow delivery of affidavit forms to homeowners in some sections of the state and by the need to get the word to Michiganders on long Sun Belt vacations. The affidavit takes less than a minute to fill out.

I-94 airport ramp work begins

Construction that started last year is resuming this week to improve the interchange of Merriman Road and I-94 near Metro Airport.

On I-94 from Middlebelt to Merriman until Sept. 1 through traffic will use the newly constructed collector-distributor roads parallel to I-94, according to a press release from the Michigan Department of Transportation.

On Merriman Road, one lane of traffic in each direction will be maintained at all times.

The result will be two larger interchanges serving Metro Airport. The Merriman and Middlebelt bridges over I-94 will be reconstructed.

Alternative to assisted suicide offered

STAFF WRITER

The Michigan Senate has bought the idea of "pain management" as an alternative to assisted suicide.

"We're making hospices and pain management the priority. We're attempting to break new ground," said Sen. Fred Dillingham, R-Fowlerville, sponsor of five bills that won Senate approval by 33-0 and 34-0 votes Tuesday. The bills go to the House.

Dillingham has been leading Lansing's hottest battles to regulate abortion and outlaw physician-assisted suicide. This time, however, he had a consensus to:

■ Require medical schools to have a core curriculum on pain and symptom management. Continuing education for already-licensed physicians and other health professionals would be required.

■ Tell the Department of Public Health to develop a written outline of pain and symptom management and to increase public awareness of pain management.

■ Ensure offering of hospice care in three bills regulating different types of health insurers.

All area senators voted yes except the absent George Z. Hart, D-Dearborn, and David Honigman, R-West Bloomfield. Honigman Tuesday was reported undergoing surgery.

During hearings, the bills were scoffed at by Hemlock of Michigan, which advocates physician-assisted suicide, and Friends of Dr. Jack Kevorkian, who said "there is no such thing as pain management."

The only debate was over amendments to the three insurance bills by Sen. John Kelly, D-Grosse Pointe Farms. Kelly wanted to mandate hospice coverage.

"I know many on the other side of the aisle don't like mandates," Kelly said, nodding toward Republicans, "but there are no costs associated with this — only savings." Every $1 spent on hospice care saves $1.26 in other medical institutions, Kelly said.

"If I didn't have to worry about a consensus," replied Dillingham, "I could support his amendments." But he vowed to watch insurers to make sure they were offering hospice coverage.

Senators voted 16 in favor and 18 against all three Kelly amendments.

Backing Dillingham were Republicans Michael Bouchard of Birmingham and Robert Geake of Northville.

Dillingham's bills grew out of discussions of the state Commission on Death and Dying, an expert panel appointed to recommend state policy when the law outlawing assisted suicide expires.

In the balcony were Barbara Listing, president of Right to Life of Michigan, who called the bills "a positive care package that shows the Legislature has a deep interest in addressing the issue of suffering and pain," and members of Visiting Nurse Home Care & Hospice, who held a convention in Lansing that day.

PaineWebber asks:

Are you planning for retirement? Receiving a lump-sum distribution?

New legislation can cut your retirement payout by 20%.

Under new legislation, if you leave your company, your employer could be required to take a tax withholding of 20% from the money you're getting from a lump-sum distribution. PaineWebber can show you an easy way to keep your payout intact. You'll also learn:

- How to interpret the paperwork necessary to request your distribution.
- How to work within the new tax legislation to minimize your tax liability.
- How to invest your distribution to maximize your income and preserve your principal for the rest of your life.

Unexpected pregnancy turns 'Angie's' life upside down

Thank you for participating in this contest. It was a lot of fun, and a bright spot in what has been a long, cold winter.

The technical challenges of "The Chase" were formidable. "We're racing at 90 miles per hour from beginning to end in this film," said Wyman. Still, top priority was given to carefully delineating the film's two leading characters: the fugitive Jack Hammond and his initially reluctant passenger, Natalie Voss. "We have to care about who's in the car," said Riskin. "They're real underdogs, and we want the audience to be rooting for them."

The panel discussion will address "childhood trauma and abuse within the framework of the Holocaust and the Holocaust within the framework of art."

Rochester Symphony salutes Broadway tunes

Some of your favorite Broadway show tunes will be performed by the Rochester Symphony Orchestra 8 p.m. Friday, March 4 at Varner Hall on the campus of Oakland University in Rochester. Tickets $12, $8 children 12 and under, available at the door or call 651-4181.

Guest artist is baritone Lewis Von Schlanbusch who will be singing tunes by Cole Porter, Rogers and Hart, Lerner and Low, Hammerstein, Jerome Kern and others.

Schlanbusch has recorded with the Cincinnati Pops, Rochester, New York Pops, and the Winnipeg Symphony. He is a frequent performer at summer music festivals.

On March 18 the Rochester Symphony Guild will present a dinner-auction to benefit the orchestra at Great Oaks Country Club. Call 661-8956 for details.

Music lovers, and saxophone fans, take note! The Edinborough Saxophone Quartet, will present a free concert 3 p.m. Sunday, March 6 at Farmington First United Methodist Church, 33112 Grand River, one block east of Farmington Road. "Music Around the World" will feature folk, pop, Latin, classical and contemporary music, all performed by the Edinborough Saxophone Quartet. Funded by the Recording Industries Music Performance Trust Fund, the free concert will include child care, provided at no cost, and refreshments after the program. For information, call (810) 474-6573.

Area choral groups have also been busy rehearsing. Here are some notable concerts.

The 45-voice Choir of Christ Church Cranbrook will present a musical service of Lent Evensong — sung Evening Prayer — 5 p.m. Sunday, March 6 at the church on the corner of Cranbrook and Lone Pine Roads in Bloomfield Hills. The public is invited, and there is no charge. Call (810) 644-5210 for information.

Attend a performance of Franz Joseph Haydn's "Missa in Angustiis" (Nelson Mass) presented by the Langford Singers, 3 p.m. Sunday, March 6 at First Baptist Church of Detroit, 21200 Southfield Road, Southfield. Tickets $6, seniors and students, $4. Call (810) 682-5028.

Their name is Sing Out Dearborn, but the group includes teenagers from Garden City, Westland, and Livonia. They'll be presenting their annual "Big Show" 7:30 p.m. Saturday, March 5 and 3 p.m. Sunday, March 6 at Ford Motor Company World Headquarters in Dearborn. Call 525-5409 for tickets.

J.S. Bach's "Mass in B Minor" will be performed 4 p.m. Sunday, March 13 by the 75-voice Detroit Concert choir at St. Hugo of the Hills Church, 2215 Opdyke Road in Bloomfield Hills.

LOOKING AHEAD

What to watch for in Entertainment next week:

- Places to celebrate St. Patrick's Day.
- Upcoming plays and concerts in your community.

Follow Huck Finn down 'Big River'

Journey on down the "Big River" with this crowd-pleasing adventure in which two men discover joy and sorrow, fear and friendship.

The adventures of Huckleberry Finn come to life on stage in Dearborn Community Theatre's presentation of the musical "Big River" opening 8 p.m. Friday, March 4 at the Mackenzie Fine Arts Adray Auditorium on the campus of Henry Ford Community College in Dearborn. Shows 8 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays through March 12, 8 p.m. Thursday, March 10 and 3 p.m. Sunday, March 13.

Henry Ford Community College is at 5101 Evergreen, south of Ford Road. Tickets $10 adults, $8 students and senior citizens. Tickets available at the door or call (313) 943-2354.

In "Big River," Huck and Jim set out in search of their destinies along the mighty Mississippi River. Full of laughter and warmth, "Big River" features such memorable characters as the Widow Douglas, Miss Watson, Pap Finn, Tom Sawyer, and a pair of scheming con men known as the Duke and the King.

The cast includes Canton residents Corinne Fine (Widow Douglas), Kerry Plague (Silas Phelps), Lauracindy Plague (ensemble), and Parker Plague (ensemble). Donald Boettcher of Farmington Hills wears two hats — Pap Finn and Sheriff Bell.

Debra Greka of Redford portrays Sally Phelps and Sergio Mautone, also of Redford juggles the roles of Mark Twain/Doctor, and Harvey Wilkes.

Musical: Brian Townsend of Redford as Huckleberry Finn, Sherry Candea as Sally Phelps and Kerry Plague of Canton as Silas Phelps rehearse a scene from "Big River."

Four Westland residents have roles in "Big River" — Thomas Downey (King), Rob Facione (Ben, Andy, and Young Fool), Walter Krause Jr. (Tom Sawyer) and Christine Sullivan (ensemble).

One of the musicians is from Canton, Dwight Kish who plays bass guitar.

Entertaining events to benefit arts

Two events, a mystery dinner theater and presentation by the Michigan Opera Theatre offer an evening of fine entertainment to benefit the arts.

Plymouth Community Arts Council is sponsoring a Mystery Dinner Theater Saturday, March 5 at Laurel Manor Banquet and Conference Center, 39000 Schoolcraft, Livonia. Cocktails will be served at 7:15 p.m., dinner at 8 p.m. Tickets are $40 per person, and are available at the PCAC office, 332 S. Main St. in Plymouth, 9 a.m. to noon Monday through Friday. Or call the office, 455-5260 or Randy Lee, 459-5572 for ticket information. Proceeds will benefit the arts council.

Broadway and the Michigan Opera

Theatre are coming to Canton 8 p.m. Saturday, March 12. "An Evening of Broadway Music" will feature selections by Andrew Lloyd Webber and Leonard Bernstein at the Canton Little Theatre in Plymouth-Canton High School. The event sponsor is Canton Project Arts.

Tickets are $10 and can be purchased at Dearborn Music in Canton, ARnoldt Williams Music in Canton and at the Canton Township administration building, or by calling 455-9009 or 459-4971.

"The show will be a cabaret-style concert. We'll do medleys from 'Evita,' 'Cats,' 'Phantom of the Opera' 'West Side Story,' and many more popular tunes," said Mark Vondrak of the community programs department for the Michigan Opera Theatre and a member of the cast. "Canton Project Arts has selected a lively program which is always well received in communities we visit."

Other members of the cast will include soprano Maria Cimarelli, mezzo-soprano Betsy Bronson, tenor Karl Schmidt and pianist Kevin Bylsma. Vondrak is a baritone.

The Michigan Opera Theatre, which is one of the 10 largest theater companies in the country, has been offering the metro Detroit community outstanding main stage repertory since 1971. For the last 18 years it has sponsored a popular and successful community programs department which tours the state.

"We're very excited about the performance. The evening will mark the first time the Michigan Opera Theatre appears in Canton," said Gene Hammonds, program chairman and a Canton Project Arts executive board member.

Fund-raiser proceeds will be used to help sponsor other art and cultural activities in Canton, including a juried fine arts show in the fall.

Sisters meet challenge of 'Charlotte's Web'

BY CINDY ZEITZ
SPECIAL WRITER

Lindsay Fortune, 9, and Kalli, 11, of Farmington Hills, are two talented, energetic and hard working sisters who will be performing in "Charlotte's Web" at the Marquis Theatre in Northville, 2:30 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays, March 5 through April 10. Tickets are $6.50, call (313) 349-8110.

Kalli, who has performed at the Marquis Theatre since she was 8, introduced her younger sister to the theater. While Kalli appeared in "Peter Pan" at the Marquis, Lindsay memorized the entire show, and would act it out at home.

Both girls sing and dance as part of the children's chorus of "Charlotte's Web." Kalli is one of three children playing the part of Baby Wilbur in the three different children's casts of "Charlotte's Web" which will rotate throughout the run so the children don't miss too much school.

For Lindsay, performing in her first play, "Charlotte's Web," is very special, and exciting. This vivacious and good-natured 9-year-old continues to overcome health problems, including hearing loss, that have challenged her young life. But that has not stopped her from pursuing her dream of performing on stage.

Kalli and Lindsay have very loving, and supportive parents, Brynn and Clark, who encourage their daughters to develop their interests and talents. The Fortunes believe that people overcoming special needs and challenges in their life, like anyone else, need to be given opportunities to participate in community activities.

"Twenty years ago, communities were not equipped to support people with special needs and challenges, so they could not take part in projects. All parents have hopes and dreams for their children. That is not any different for Lindsay. We, have hopes and dreams for both our daughters," said Lindsay's mom. "Lindsay is thrilled to be having the entire third grade of her school come to see her in 'Charlotte's Web.'"

During rehearsals for the play, Kalli has helped her sister learn the music and dances, and helps her overcome her hearing challenges on stage. The Marquis Theatre staff has been equally supportive and willing to attend to Lindsay's special needs.

Kalli said she wishes that people with disabilities would not be made fun of, but treated the same as anyone else. "On the outside they may look a little different, but on the inside they are the same," she said.

Cindy Zeitz of Canton is a freelance writer who specializes in the arts.

Sisters: Lindsay and Kalli Fortune of Farmington Hills appear in "Charlotte's Web" at the Marquis Theatre in Northville.

Genevieve Terry, a member of the Farmington Players Guild, faxed over these excerpted comments about the Plymouth Theatre Guild's production of "Guys and Dolls."

"What a joy to hear the beautiful music of Frank Loesser. The costumes were very striking. Stephanie Hindmarsh was excellent as Adelaide. Stephanie has a beautiful voice and is very believable in her role. The Havannah dance sequence was great ensemble work with Rami Farhat's sparkling acrobatics and tumbling. In 'If I Were A Bell,' Lisa Brandow was simply great as Sarah."

"One of the hardest characterizations on stage is that of a drunk and Lisa played it with perfection. 'My Time of Day' is a beautiful song sung with the very beautiful voice of Adam Carey as Sky. Lisa and Adam really made me believe they were in love the way they looked at each other in 'I've Never Been In Love Before.' I really felt the words they were singing."

"The most successful change in character was from Arvide to Arvine because of Jeanette Sowman's very natural, tender, believable and beautiful voice and characterization. 'Sue Me' by Stephanie and John Jordan (as Nathan Detroit) was a tremendous success. 'Sit Down You're Rocking the Boat' was the most energetic and toe tapping number in the show."

"Ivory McKay, as Nicely, really had the audience rocking the boat along with him. Sitting in the front row, I heard and loved every note of music from a very talented orchestra."

On display: Freelance photographer Guy Warren documents the life of the homeless in America in an upcoming exhibition at the Urban Park Gallery-Detroit Art Center.

Photographs capture life of homeless

They are images of life in America that shatter the belief of it being the land of plenty. They are the images of people living on the edge with nowhere to go. They are the images of America's homeless.

The plight of the homeless of this country hits home in a series of documentary photographs by photographer Guy Warren on exhibit Friday, March 11, through Monday, April 4, at the Urban Park-Detroit Art Center.

The exhibit's at the gallery. The opening reception will be 6-9 p.m. Friday, March 11. At that time, Warren, a Westland resident, will talk about the stories behind the haunting images.

Using the stark, sometimes harsh elements of black and white photography, Warren shows what it means to tough it out on the streets of America's major cities. Detroit, Boston, New York City, Washington, D.C., Seattle, San Diego and San Francisco serve as backdrops for the men, women and children without homes.

From disabled Vietnam veterans to the elderly, they carry all their worldly possessions in plastic bags or packed in shopping carts. From New York City to Rodeo Drive in Los Angeles, they pick through city trash bins in search of food.

They sleep in laundry carts, in homes made from cardboard boxes and in the subways of lower Manhattan. Others, unable to find an available bed in area shelters, wander the streets in search of a safe place to lay their heads at night.

Warren originated the series of photographs focusing on the homeless as a book project in the spring of 1991 because he "recognized the need to bring a greater awareness to the problem of homelessness in the U.S."

"I also felt a need to contribute whatever I could to help," he said.

Warren is asking that those who view the exhibit bring a donation of canned food, blankets or money which will be distributed to the homeless in the Detroit area.

Thanks to the generosity of Urban Park-Detroit Art Center and Laura Hardy of Nelson's Gallery in Livonia, who provided framing materials at cost and donated the labor, 50 percent of the proceeds from the sale of the prints will also benefit the homeless.

Warren has been a freelance photojournalist since 1984. It was his photographs of individuals visiting a center providing food, clothing and furniture for the needy and accompanying stories on the poor in suburbia, "Poverty: A Case of Mistaken Identity," by Observer & Eccentric staff writer Sue Mason that landed them a first-place award for best feature in 1990 from Suburban Newspapers of America.

"Granted, the problem of homelessness is of enormous proportion all across the United States," said Warren. "It is obvious that I can't even begin to scratch the surface of the problem but I can help."

Urban Park is at 508 Monroe in Greektown's Trapper's Alley.

Live theater in your neighborhood

Performers of Parlour Theatre Productions will take their act just about anywhere. A Farmington Hills couple began flirting with theater in their teens and years later began the traveling production company.

BY DIANE GALE
STAFF WRITER

If you enjoy live theater but hesitate to patronize fine area companies because it seems you have to drive a long way to see a production, sit back and relax. Parlour Theatre Productions will bring the stage to you.

The traveling theater company delivers the stage, set and performers to retirement centers, church or civic group gatherings, dinner theaters and just about anywhere you can imagine.

"We can go into a fairly small area," said PTP founder Ed Meade of Farmington Hills.

"Our purpose is to make drama available at your convenience, which means that we bring the stage to you," a PTP brochure said. "We believe that whatever your mood, the stage is the ideal way to amuse, enlighten, move, challenge or maybe bring a tear. Comedy and tragedy often go hand-in-hand in theater and we try and bring a little of both."

Love blooms

Meade came up with the idea for PTP after a lifetime fascination with the theater. In fact, he met his wife, Jeannine, while they both performed in a high school production in 1947.

They continued flirting with theater through college at Eastern Michigan University. They also performed in musical variety shows with the St. Damian's Singers and Players in Garden City and an Indian Village theater group in Detroit, Meade said.

And when they retired they decided to continue their passion for theater by starting PTP. Jeannine is retired from National Bank of Detroit.

Meade comes to the task as a retired music and drama teacher from Dearborn Heights. He also has a traveling chorus, Voices in Time, which has been running about 14 years under various names.

Group flourishes

One year after their first performance with PTP, Meade said, the group goes most often in retirement centers.

"Older people still like theater, but they don't have a chance to get out much," Meade said. "So we bring it into them."

PTP recently had a sold-out performance at Botsford Inn in Farmington, Meade said, adding that he is working with Botsford management to bring PTP there on a regular basis.

The usual charge is $150 for each performance, which lasts about two hours. Meade said PTP just about breaks even when considering costs.

"Actually we're just getting out of the red," he said. "We try to meet the (performers') expenses."

Expanding repertoire

Currently, PTP performs "Bedroom Farce," a British comedy by Alan Ayckbourn. The story is about three "happily married" couples who find their relationships crumbling while they cope with a fourth husband and wife who are "trying to communicate."

"My wife and I saw this show in New York and it was very funny," Meade said.

PTP recently added to the repertoire "Steel Magnolias," a story involving six women and their various life experiences.

Meade said he plans to bring in another show that involves primarily men this spring. The company performs two to four times monthly.

"Everyone (PTP performers) works and this gives them a chance to do theater and it's not too time-consuming," Meade said.

The performers come to the company with varied backgrounds, including work in film, at the Attic Theatre in Detroit and with area community theater groups. The performers live in Farmington Hills, Livonia, Garden City, Ann Arbor, Detroit and Northville.

For more information about PTP, call Meade at (810) 477-5540.

ANNIVERSARIES

Bolin

A dinner with family members living in Michigan helped kick off a celebration of 60 years of marriage for Fred and Elizabeth Bolin of Canton.

The Bolins exchanged vows on Jan. 20, 1934, in Chicago, Ill. She is the former Elizabeth Warken-hien.

The couple raised three children — Gloria Butzow of Plymouth, Fred Bolin of Gurnee, Ill., and the late Judith O'Connell who had lived in Gurnee at the time of her death. They also have 10 grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

The Bolins have lived in Canton since November 1975. Anniversary plans include a celebration at a later date with family members living in Illinois.

He is a retiree of ITT Bell & Gossett of Morton Grove, Ill., where he was employed as an industrial engineer.

They are members of St. Peter's Lutheran Church in Plymouth, where he worked as a janitor at the church school long after his retirement from Bell & Gossett.

Fennelly

Edward and Harriet Fennelly of Livonia will be the guests of honor at an anniversary dinner Feb. 12 at the Steak and Ale Restaurant in Farmington Hills, followed by a small party at their son Dennis's home.

Residents of Livonia since 1968, the Fennellys will mark their 50th wedding anniversary that day. They exchanged vows on Feb. 12, 1944, at All Saints Church in Detroit. She is the former Harriet Formaz. They will renew their wedding vows as part of the anniversary celebration.

The couple has six children — Susan McGillivray of Livonia and the late Ronald McGillivray, Bill and Mary Fennelly of Taylor, Dennis and Susan Fennelly of Farmington Hills, Lynn and Howard Treichel of Livonia, David Fennelly of Canton and Edward and Cathy Fennelly of California. They also have eight grandchildren.

Their children are treating the couple to a second honeymoon in Lake Tahoe. From there, they will travel to California to be with their son Edward and his family.

A former Detroit police officer, Edward Fennelly is a retiree of Chrysler in Highland Park. She is a homemaker.

Alphonso

Joseph and Daphne Alphonso of Canton recently celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary.

They exchanged vows on Dec. 29, 1968, at Cathedral of Our Lady of Mount Carmel in Ahmedabad, India.

He is a senior engineer at Ford Motor Co. She is self-employed.

breast, salad, vegetable medley, potatoes, dessert and refreshments. A cash bar will be available.

The door prizes have been donated by many area businesses, including Garden City Hospital, Orin Jewelers, The Ritz-Carlton Hotel, Lona's Pizza, Amagift, Garden City Florist, Olga's Kitchen, Alexander the Great Restaurant, Fantastic Sam's and Fox Den Hair Salon.

Organizers of the fund-raiser are Doris Closser and Amelia Oliverio, officers of the local BPW which includes members from Garden City, Westland, Livonia, Plymouth Township, Redford Township and Dearborn.

"The event started with the idea of a simple show, but it has grown and we're offering a lot of value for $20," said Oliverio, who works at Garden City Hospital.

Tickets are available from BPW members and at Orin Jewelers, corner of Middlebelt and Ford roads, in Garden City.

Guest models include State Rep. Lyn Bankes, Wayne County Probate Court Judge Cathie B. Maher and Ann Pawlak a physician at Garden City Hospital. Observer "Taste" columnist Chef Larry Janes will be the emcee.

In addition, a raffle to benefit the club's scholarship fund will be held. Prizes include a trip for two to Chicago by Designing Destinations of Garden City, a one-day trip for two to Atlantic City compliments of Travel Desk of Garden City and a $100 cash prize.

Tickets are $1 each or six for $5. For ticket information, call Joyce Pappas at Orin Jewelers at 422-7030.

The fund-raiser supports scholarships for women. The Garden City BPW is part of a national federation of BPW/USA, an organization which promotes full participation, equity and economic self-sufficiency for working women.

"Good to the last drop" aptly describes the Women's Resource Center's luncheon where Diana Dimitroff of the Coffee Beanery spoke of her trade.

Women who attended the luncheon were so enthusiastic that Dimitroff nearly ran out of the Mocha Cinnamon Swirl and Vanilla Almond coffees that were served during the meal. They went through more than 100 cups of the coffees.

Dimitroff took the chill off winter, opening the winter luncheon series sponsored by the Women's Resource Center at Schoolcraft College. As Dimitroff traced the history and traditions of coffee, the 100 guests passed around a basket filled with different kinds of coffee beans. They compared the smells of Guatemalan Coban, Supreme Extra Fancy, Green beans, Breakfast Blend, Espresso Roast, Vienna Roast and Kenya AM beans.

Meanwhile Dimitroff spoke of the beverage's origins in Ethiopia. At first, the beans were consumed; they weren't "brewed as a beverage," she said. Since then, coffee has become the second most traded commodity, the first being gold.

She also served up some coffee trivia.

■ One tree produces five pounds of coffee beans but only one-fifth of the beans are of good enough quality to be used.

"We drink a lot more coffee than many of the trees are able to produce," said Dimitroff, who runs the Coffee Beanery store in Laurel Park Place in Livonia.

■ Soil and rain water result in different tasting coffee.

■ Coffee beans can be kept for one to two months in an airtight container. However, don't think about freezing them. Coffee beans don't freeze because there isn't enough water in them.

STAFF PHOTOS BY JIM JAGDFELD

■ There's no such thing as naturally decaffeinated coffee. Chemicals are used to get rid of most of the caffeine.

While Dimitroff spoke, her assistant Megan Beale passed out more samples of coffee — Cafe Caramel (regular coffee with caramel syrup) and Hot Spiced Viennese (regular coffee with cinnamon).

tendance, Fran Joswiak of Highland enjoyed the Hot Spiced Viennese the most.

St. Pat's party helps Hospice Services

Come and experience a wee bit o' Ireland when St. Aidan Catholic Church holds its second annual St. Patrick's Dinner-Dance Saturday, March 12, to benefit Hospice Services of Western Wayne County Inc.

The festive evening begins at 7 p.m. when Irish bagpiper Derrick Marshall performs during a cocktail reception. A traditional Irish dinner of corned beef and cabbage, Galway Bay chicken o' Flourentine, St. Patrick's Fettuccine, Killarney green beans, Blarney Stone potatoes, Shillelagh parfait and Irish coffee begins at 7:45 p.m.

Entertainment follows dinner and includes the Renaissance Barbershop Chorus. Also featured will be the comedic talents of Jim Skelly, an Irish sing-along and dancing.

The benefit will be in the Monsignor Alex Brunett Activity Center, 17500 Farmington Road, north of Six Mile Road, Livonia.

Ticket prices are $35 for a supporter, $50 for a sponsor and $100 for a benefactor. The tickets include a cocktail reception, traditional Irish dinner, open bar, entertainment, dancing and door prizes. In addition to special recognition, sponsors and benefactors will be invited to a pre-party cocktail reception at 6 p.m.

Tables of eight or more can be reserved on a first-come, first-served basis. Tickets are available at St. Aidan Church and Hospice Services' Garden City or Plymouth offices. Call Vicki Martin or Maureen Karby at 522-4244 or 459-0548 for more information.

"As we look to the future of Hospice Services, we know that we will be able to grow and expand the services we offer because of events like the St. Patrick's Dinner-Dance," said Maureen Butrico, executive director of Hospice Services. "Events such as this help to offset the costs associated with many non-reimbursable programs which we offer to the general public."

"Hospice care is synonymous with the symbol of the Irish Claddagh ring which I wear all the time. The heart symbolizes love, the hands holding the heart symbolize friendship, and the crown over all symbolizes fidelity. These symbols promote the values with which Hospice Services works."

Hospice Services was established in 1981 to offer compassionate skilled home care to those individuals who face an incurable illness. Hospice offers supportive care, promotes quality of life and provides comfort and emotional healing for the patient and family members.

Rule # 6 of Bible study is: READ THE SCRIPTURES TO LEARN THEIR TEACHINGS. NOT TO SUPPORT WHAT YOU BELIEVE. When the Bible is READ DISTINCTLY AND GIVEN THE SENSE THEN UNDERSTANDING OF what God wants us to know is the result. (Nehemiah 8:9) Does your Bible teacher fulfill this for you? You are invited to worship God and study His Word with us!

Nature programs highlight March

TIMOTHY NOWICKI

For me, part of the pleasure of a vacation or an event is the anticipation. Planning, reading and counting the days before the experience all help to make it special. So I thought I would share some events that I'm looking forward to, so you can put them on your calendar if you like.

On March 5 and 6 the Bluebird Festival will be on at the Jackson Community College near Jackson, Michigan. From Livonia heading west on I-94 it takes approximately 90 minutes to get there. It's right next to the Michigan Space Center.

Several environmental groups will have items dealing with nature for sale, as well as information on a variety of subjects. Many artists setup their carvings, paintings and photographs of plants and animals for sale too. These exhibits are in the large field house on campus.

In the adjacent classroom building there will be several speakers presenting programs. There will be programs on loons, tropical rain forests, black bears and a visit from Prof. Avian Guano (a must see).

Plan to spend the day. It will take you that long to see everything. For more information, call 517-782-3453.

At 6 p.m. on Sunday, March 13, in the Cranbrook Science Center, Joe Rogers and Jim Battles will present an evening everyone who is interested in nature will enjoy. Rogers will have several live birds of prey to show and talk about. He rehabilitates injured birds and through the years has returned 7,500 birds to the wild.

It's hard to beat seeing live birds of prey like hawks and owls only a few feet away, but Battles will add variety to your animal list that night by showing slides of "Wildlife Across North America."

Some of Battles' photos have been published in magazines like "Audubon," "National Wildlife," "Birder's World" and "Wild Birds." For $5 a ticket, how can you beat it. Call 810-545-2929 for ticket information.

The weekend of March 25-27, the 11th annual Michigan Wildlife Art Festival, sponsored by the Michigan Habitat Foundation, will be held at the Southfield Pavilion in Southfield. If you want to see some of the premier wildlife artists of the country, this is the show to see. Paintings, bronze sculptures, scratch board, decoys and more will be on display for sale.

In addition to viewing the art work, there will be lectures on the gray wolf in Michigan, butterflies and moths, wildlife at night and establishing a wildflower patch. There is an entry fee of $7 for adults. Children under 12 are free, but proceeds from the event enable the foundation to fund several conservation projects that improve habitats throughout the state.

Tickets will be available at the door, but for more information call 517-882-3630.

Well, that certainly fills up my March calendar. Hopefully, it will fill yours too.

Tim Nowicki is a naturalist at Independence Oaks County Park in Oakland County. He lives in Livonia. You can leave him a message using a Touch-Tone phone at 953-2047, mailbox 1874.

SC offers home seminar

Schoolcraft College will host the first annual "Home Improvement Seminar" from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Saturday, April 9.

The seminar consists of 10 90-minute, hands-on clinics revealing the mysteries of ceramic tile installation, glass block installation, kitchen design ideas, wallpapering, and toilet installation, each offered twice; plus one three-hour clinic on basic deck construction.

Each person will get a 10-percent discount coupon from Handy Andy and a chance to win the 8-by-8-foot deck that will be assembled in the deck clinic. Handy Andy personnel will transport the deck to the winner's abode, but installation is up to the winner.

Cost is $30. To register, call 462-4448.

SC to award scholarship

The Schoolcraft College Foundation is accepting applications for the 1994-95 Foundation Scholarship Award.

The $1,100 scholarship covers tuition and fees.

To be eligible, candidates must be Schoolcraft students, have completed 30 credit hours by the end of the spring 1994 semester, have a minimum 3.0 grade point average, be enrolled as a full-time student carrying a minimum of 12 credit hours and plan to be a full-time Schoolcraft student in the fall 1994 and winter 1995 semesters.

Applications are available in the financial aid office. The deadline to submit applications is May 2. For more information, call 462-4433.

You share the same body, the same life-giving nutrients for nine months. Each of you affects the other in countless ways.

Why is it then that many hospitals treat you and your baby like completely unrelated people?

OUR NURSES SEE THEM AS STILL BEING ATTACHED

You stay in your room. Your baby stays in the nursery. And you're each cared for by a different nurse.

A better way

At St. Mary Hospital we offer a better way to begin. A personal nurse takes care of you and your baby together to encourage the best possible start. So your nurse can tell how your comfort level, moods and medication may be affecting your baby. And how your baby's behavior influences you. This new way of caring is called mother-baby nursing.

Mother-baby nurses

With mother-baby nurses, you can learn by watching the nurse care for your newborn at your bedside instead of out of your sight in a nursery. If you have a question about your baby, the nurse can answer it immediately. You won't have to wait for the "baby nurse."

The Miracle of Life Maternity Center at St. Mary Hospital has mother-baby nursing all the time.

More support, more education. It's a better way of caring. To learn more about the benefits of mother-baby nursing call 313-591-2882. Ask for a free brochure, tour, or physician referral.

VICTORIA DIAZ

Plymouth scriptwriter fulfills 10-year dream

These days, he seems a little distracted. He worries he'll run late for appointments. Sometimes, he misses them altogether. For a recent meeting, he arrives slightly breathless, his glasses just a bit askew.

His conversation tumbles out, riddled with exclamation points, bristling with italics. There's a sense he's keeping his fingers crossed, somehow holding his breath — most of all, counting the days.

Welcome to the world of Plymouth's screenwriter-in-residence Jim Burnstein.

One evening this summer, he and his wife, Cyn- dy, will get all dressed up and go out to a movie. The movie, titled "Renaissance Man," won't be just any movie, however. It will star Danny DeVito. It will be directed by Penny Marshall. It will be released through Touchstone, a division of Disney Studios. And it will mark Burnstein's debut as a screenwriter.

"I don't plan to be excited," he deadpanned recently, over a quick lunch at a popular Plymouth eatery. He means, of course, that as the lights go down in the theater that night and the movie at last begins, he will feel as if he is just about the most excited person on Earth.

More than 10 years ago, he wrote a screenplay about a man who teaches Shakespeare to a group of young soldiers on a U.S. Army base. He didn't have to go far for his idea.

Burnstein, a University of Michigan graduate, taught Shakespeare (still does) to military personnel at Selfridge ANG base. He had gleaned from his classroom experiences a story he felt he was compelled to tell, about the value of education.

On its completion, several film folk showed interest in the script, but somehow "Renaissance Man" never reached the screen. Burnstein performed numerous rewrites, wrote other screenplays (none were produced, although most sold), one stage play ("Learn To Fall," performed at the Attic Theatre in 1988), and kept hoping.

Then, one day last May, a call came from Hollywood producer Sara Colleton, informing Burnstein that Penny Marshall, who had been considering the script for some time, was definitely interested in the film if she could get actor Danny DeVito to play the lead.

Within 48 hours, DeVito had read the script and quickly agreed to join the crew. With the actor's signature on the dotted line, "Renaissance Man" was headed for the screen.

When the film crew arrived in Detroit for a week's shooting last September, Burnstein was on hand each day, doing brief, last-minute revisions, and generally making himself available for any questions Marshall might have. He watched as the company filmed a traffic jam on Jefferson Avenue, the opening scene at the Renaissance Center, plus another shot at a brokerage firm on Griswold.

He also went along when the crew traveled to the Port Huron area for a scene on the Blue Water Bridge. (From Michigan, the company headed for Ft. Jackson, S.C., and then back to Los Angeles to complete filming.)

"Except for the producer, Sara Colleton, who came into the picture in 1989, I've spent roughly 10 years nearly alone with this project," says Burnstein. "And then, on the first day of shooting, it's like the circus comes to town. You see all those people and all those cameras, and you really realize then that, ultimately, this is a collaborative effort."

As a matter of fact, Burnstein ended up collaborating during shooting in a way he never anticipated. At a special request from Marshall, he and his wife and two of their three children ("the baby didn't make it") actually make an appearance in the film.

If their big moment survives the cutting room, you'll spot them in the Tiger Stadium scene, seated just behind DeVito, cheering on the home team. "We had to be out there before the game at night to shoot and because the scene is set in summer, we had to be dressed for summer," says the screenwriter. "It was 35 degrees and I was in T-shirt and shorts for 13 hours! That's the coldest I've ever been."

While it doesn't look like he'll be appearing before the cameras again, Burnstein is already looking toward his next big screenwriting project.

"Once you get a movie in production, you suddenly get the kind of film offers you never saw before," he says. "You want to say yes to so many."

Plymouth home to new arts co-op

■ Michigan Art Exchange kicks off the opening of the first artists cooperative gallery in Plymouth with a live auction Sunday, March 6.

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN
SPECIAL WRITER

Fun, families and reasonably priced artwork — that's the concept behind Michigan Art Exchange, an artists cooperative gallery in Plymouth.

The fine arts enterprise opened Feb. 13 to provide a place for artists to show their work, demonstrate how it's created and teach others about the process.

Inside Forest Place Mall, the gallery boasts nearly 1,100 square feet for exhibiting two- and three-dimensional artworks. A separate area is set aside for hands-on types of learning activities: classes, workshops and lectures.

"It's strictly Michigan artists, a group of local fine artists interested in showing their work and making it a working gallery," said co-director Frank Kuszak of Plymouth.

"The concept is not a new one. We're just approaching it differently. We want it to be fun. We want people to come in as a family. In Plymouth, it has to be an event. People come to see things happening."

Knowing most people feel uncomfortable entering a gallery, extra steps were taken to welcome visitors.

"We wanted it to be well-lit, open, a comfortable atmosphere — not to intimidate people," said co-director Clifford Holdampf of Farmington Hills.

The gallery fare includes glass by Don Schneider, paintings by Andrea DeZell and sculpture by Judith Shellhaas of Plymouth; paintings by Diane Tasselmyer of Westland, Marie Tuthill of Livonia and Shirley Mohout of Redford; wheel-thrown raku by Melissa Emery of Southfield; fiber art by Terri Wilva Jurewicz of Dexter; mixed media by Lisa Miller of Northville; graphic art by Amy Conner of Belleville; and textiles by Sylvia Stetev of Pinckney.

"We've been very selective," said Holdampf. "We're really happy with the quality of artists in the gallery."

Eventually, the coop, which is still looking for more members, hopes to show between 15 to 30 fine artists. Initially, Kuszak and Holdampf juried artists into the gallery. Now that a membership of artists exists, they will serve as jurors.

"We are, for the most part, non-profit. We're trying to make it so it's profitable for the artists," said Kuszak.

Local art adorns Garden City mayor's office

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN
SPECIAL WRITER

When Garden City Mayor Michael Breen took office in January, the walls of his city hall office were stark and empty.

Instead of spending tax dollars to decorate the space, Breen chose to put into play an innovative concept to display a local artist's work without cost.

Today, four acrylic paintings by Norma McQueen, one of which features the lush greenery of the Caribbean, adds warmth to an otherwise cold office environment.

"Norma McQueen is one of our fine local artists," Breen said. "I believe her paintings deserve to be shown in a public place where people are able to enjoy them."

The idea to ask McQueen to display her paintings in the mayor's office originated with Winnie Wiacek.

Once contacted, McQueen had a few ideas of her own. Before long, she had rescued an old couch from storage and rearranged the existing furniture. What began as a concept for furnishing the office without a budget evolved into McQueen providing full interior design services.

McQueen had one final suggestion to showcase other artists' works.

"When Mike first moved into the office the walls were bare. He didn't want to invest any money to redecorate the office," said Breen's wife, Elissa.

"Councilman Wiacek's wife suggested we contact Norma. Since artwork is already displayed on the one wall in city hall, it just sort of naturally extended down the hall. It was Norma's idea to rotate the work every three to four months. The public is

■ LIVING ON THE EDGE

Urban Park-Detroit Art Center opens a special exhibition focusing on the homeless by Westland photographer Guy M. Warren 6-9 p.m. Friday, March 11, at the gallery, 508 Monroe in Trapper's Alley, Grosse Pointe.

The public is invited to meet the artist and hear the stories behind the haunting images. "Living on the Edge: Homeless in America" documents the army of homeless people living on the streets of America's major cities.

Through the use of black and white images, Warren brings to life the struggles and pain of these men, women and children who have been forgotten by society.

If you're planning to view this moving exhibit, Warren asks that you donate a blanket, a couple of cans of food or money, which will be distributed to homeless in the Detroit area.

Thanks to the generosity of Urban Park-Detroit Art Center and Laura Hardy at Nelson's Gallery in Livonia, who provided framing materials at cost plus volunteered the labor to assemble them, 50 percent from the sale of Warren's prints also will go to the homeless.

"Living on the Edge: Homeless in America" continues through April 4. Hours are 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday-Thursday, 10 a.m. to 11 p.m. Friday and Saturday, and noon to 7 p.m. Sunday.

■ WOMEN IN ARTISTRY

The Livonia Civic Center Library is hosting a fine art exhibition by Women of Artistry.

The show features the work of five Observer-land artists: Susan Argiroff of Livonia, Sharon Lee Dillenbeck of Canton, Julie Giordano of Northville, Carol Lynn McCreedy of Westland and Norma McQueen of Garden City.

The exhibition continues to March 13. Hours are 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Monday-Thursday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Friday-Saturday and 1-5 p.m. Sunday.

A reception to meet the artist runs 1-4 p.m. Sunday, March 6, in the Michigan Room on the library's first floor. Works will be available for purchase at that time.

The library is at Farmington Road and Five Mile.

Botsford antique show marks 25 years

The Botsford Inn Antique Show, celebrating its 25th anniversary, runs Saturday-Sunday, March 5-6.

Because it's held several times a year, this will mark the 83rd show, making it Michigan's longest running antique show.

The silver anniversary show will feature 22 dealers from Michigan and Ohio selected by manager Dorothy O'Bara.

The fare will include an array of collectible antiques, including furniture, jewelry, glassware and pottery. It has a reputation for offering quality items at moderate prices.

Hours are noon to 7 p.m. Saturday March 5 and noon to 6 p.m. Sunday, March 6. Admission is $2 and entitles the purchaser to return to the show an unlimited number of times without an additional charge.

Botsford Inn, at Eight Mile and Grand River in Farmington Hills, is a former stagecoach stop between Detroit and Lansing. It's furnished with antiques assembled by Henry Ford during his ownership of the inn during the 1920s.

Antique show customers are encouraged to browse through the main floor of the inn to view the antiques and historic Ford-related artifacts. Lunch and inner are available in the warm atmosphere of the inn's dining room.

During the first few years of the show, half of the dealer booths were placed in a canvas-covered structure attached to the inn's carriage house. Snow and rain leaked in through holes in the roof and the wind howled through the dikes of the tent. The roof-mounted heaters smelled so bad that they had to be frequently turned off and then it became uncomfortably cold. Today, the structure is replaced by a modern banquet room.

When the show's founder, the late Marge Kulifay, attempted to sign up dealers to do the first couple of shows, all of the well-established, long-time dealers refused to participate. They said the show was not commercial enough and would not survive. Today, after 82 events it still draws shoulder-to-shoulder crowds at its opening.

The first participating dealers were all new to the business and were entering the antiques field on a part-time basis. The established dealers referred to it as the "Housewife's show."

Getting ready: Ruth Heilmann (left), Livonia antique dealer, Botsford Inn owner Creon Smith and Ruth's son, Andy, also an antique dealer, examine a piece of silver as they plan for the Botsford Inn Antique Show.

Industrial design students dazzle with dramatic works

By MARY KLEMIC

The shape of things to come — if you're talking about furniture designs — is esthetic and exciting.

That would describe the dramatic, imaginative works by industrial design students at the Center for Creative Studies. Original pieces by CCS students were displayed at Scott Shuptrine Furniture's showroom on 14 Mile in Troy Feb. 10, in the second annual Student Furniture Design Competition.

The designs were created as part of a scholarship competition sponsored by Scott Shuptrine Furniture and PPG Industries. First, second and third place prizes were awarded in color and design categories. Award winners included Greg Darby of Canton, second place in the color category, and Jeff Tilley of Plymouth, third place in the design category.

Among the tantalizing furnishings was a cocktail table by Maureen Voorheis of West Bloomfield, a sophomore. The silver piece has a wavy form, with wavy patterns in the surface. The single leg is another wave. Tilley, a freshman, presented a silver coffee table

Susan Brookshire of Livonia, a senior, showed a chaise lounge with a gracefully curving headboard and legs, and cushions with a star pattern. A table by Stephanie Scheafer of Birmingham, a sophomore, features long, wavy legs, one of which reaches up over the top to hold a thick slab in place.

The chair by Jason Coffey of Troy combines wood and metal in a compact form, as sturdy as a clothespin. Darby showed a tall, slender display case, the wood of which seems to accent as well as form the shape. Coffey is a junior and Darby is a sophomore.

Kristyn Koth of West Bloomfield fashioned a chair out of wood and steel, the shape of the back like a roller. Koth is a junior. Fairuz Arabo of West Bloomfield designed two chairs. Their backs look like sunbursts and their arms curve around to almost embrace the sitter. Arabo is a senior.

Other area students who submitted pieces were senior Gregory MacIntyre of Troy, who designed a sofa, and freshman Brad Madalena of Bloomfield Hills, who designed a couch.

Dazzling display case: Greg Darby of Canton, a sophomore at the Center for Creative Studies, was awarded second place in the color category for this piece. The display case was one of the CCS student designs shown at Scott Shuptrine Furniture in Troy last week.

An offer (from Touchstone) to do a feature-length film based on a true, contemporary story eventually got the nod from Burnstein. At the moment, he can't provide any real details, he says, since Touchstone discourages preproduction publicity.

The Plymouth Community Arts Council will be in charge of plans for the Michigan premiere of "Renaissance Man." Release date, according to Burnstein, is expected to be around June 1.

"It's a tough, tough business," says the determined screenwriter, who never gave up on the project he conceived and created almost entirely from inside his at-home office in Plymouth. "But we can hope, and it looks good right now. In fact, from what I've seen, it looks great."

Last words: The Books Connection of Livonia will host a reception and tea in honor of new authors Martha Schaefer-Kuciban and Linda Hazell-Szovinsky, who will present their new book, "Sweet Nothings Ultra Lo Fat Desserts" 2-4 p.m. Sunday, March 6. "I was flattered when Mayor Breen's wife asked me to show my work. Now I'm even more excited about showing other artists' works," McQueen said.

"The mayor and his wife, Elisa, have been very supportive of showing the art. I want it to be appealing because he has a lot of dignitaries in there."

McQueen will be in charge of changing the art displays in Breen's office. For now, she plans to show work by members of the Garden City Fine Arts Association.

Viewing hours at city hall in Garden City are 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. weekdays.

Forum: arts promotion

"Effective Marketing for the '90s," a workshop on marketing and promoting arts and cultural organizations, will take place 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Friday, March 11, at Schoolcraft College.

The program will be held in Room 200 of the Liberal Arts Building, 18600 Haggerty, between Six Mile and Seven Mile.

Dr. Linda Delene, marketing professor and Service Quality Institute director at Western Michigan University, will lead the workshop.

The workshop is designed for staffs, board members and volunteers of nonprofit organizations. The fee of $35 includes lunch and workshop materials. To register, call the Accounting Aid Society: 313-961-1840.

"It's our business, but it's their gallery."

Michigan Art Exchange is next to Francis Jewelers, which Kuszak and Holdampf opened last July. Both design contemporary fine jewelry.

The idea for the gallery sprang from plans to hold an annual jewelry show. When space next to the jewelry shop became available last spring, the brainstorming began.

"We wanted to have a jewelry show and decided why not keep the space open all year long and exhibit fine art," said Holdampf, who's been designing jewelry 17 years.

Unlike regular retail galleries, which take up to 50-percent commission from the sale of a work, MAE takes only 9 percent.

"Great exposure without great expense" — that's the gallery motto. However, artists must work two days a week for four hours a session in addition to paying a monthly maintenance fee of $65.

As varied as the media of the artists, so too are the reasons why artists signed up with the Michigan Art Exchange.

gan Art Exchange.

Shellhaas became a member of the cooperative not only to be able to sell her work in a gallery setting but to network with fellow artists.

"Art is such a personal experience. I wanted the input of other artists," said Shellhaas, who graduated with a bachelor's of fine arts degree from Eastern Michigan University in 1991.

Tasselmeyer, who paints vibrant watercolor still lifes, joined the cooperative because it allows her to paint while putting in her time at the gallery. "I can bring my paints and paint away."

Formerly a clay modeler for Ford Motor Co. for 14 years, Tasselmeyer added, "Frank's enthusiasm for what they're doing turned me so that I want to be part of something now."

Stetev, formerly of Plymouth, needed exposure for her work. She constructs and machine embellishes clothing. Stetev took first place in national competition by Vogue-Butterick Pattern Co. and Pfaff Sewing Machine Co. for a two-piece outfit on display at Michigan Art Exchange.

"I like to work with natural fibers. This is all done on silk with metallic threads," said Stetev, motioning to a white Oriental-style jacket. "The gallery enables me to get my work out to the public."

Prices in the gallery range from $20 to $2,000. "There's something here for everyone," said Kuszak. "You can actually meet the artist and buy a beautiful piece of pottery for $20."

From 1-4 p.m. Saturday, March 12, the artists cooperative will hold a grand opening with a live auction of works donated by members. The celebrity auctioneer will be Farmington Hills artist Edee Joppich, who owns Edee Joppich's Bay Street Gallery in Northport. Proceeds will go toward operating and improving the gallery.

For more information, call 313-459-1980. Michigan Art Exchange is at 470 Forest, one block west of Main. Hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Monday-Wednesday, 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Thursday-Friday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, and noon to 5 p.m. Sunday.

Schoolcraft hosts garden seminar

Learn how to make your garden a work of art at a one-day conference 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, March 5, at Schoolcraft College, 18600 Haggerty, Livonia.

Cost to attend is $85. It includes lectures, lunch and handouts. The fourth annual "Gardening from the Ground Up" will offer inspiration for gardening on a small scale, using light to set the mood, choosing trees for beauty in all four seasons, then photographing it all.

A special session will cover how to create a living painting in your yard with garden sculpture. Chainsaw artist Ken Borshelle of Northville will be on hand to answer questions about his work, including his baying wolf, totem pole, and 12-foot owl with young in Sylvan Lake.

"I'm very excited about the way the speakers have responded, the way they're working together to make the conference specially tailored to meet the needs of gardeners in this area," said Janet Macunovich, owner of Perennial

Favorites and author of "Easy Garden Designs."

Macunovich began the conferences four years ago to help local gardeners hone their skills without extensive travels.

"I'm also very excited about the container gardening class, shaping up small places and containers into something spectacular."

To register, call Schoolcraft at (313) 462-4448, or for more information about this gardener's extravaganza, call Perennial Favorites at (810) 681-7850.

Friday, March 4 — "New Works in Wood" continues to March 26, featuring pieces by Virginia Dotson, Ron Fleming, Michelle Holzapfel, Todd Hoyer, William Hunter, Ron Kent, Bruce Mitchell, Philip Moulthrop and Mike Shuler. Opening reception 6-8 p.m. Friday, informal lecture by Ron Fleming 7 p.m. Friday. Dotson, Fleming, Kent and Moulthrop are part of the White House Crafts Collection. Hours are 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday, 132 N. Woodward, Birmingham, 810-645-6212.

CENTER GALLERIES

Friday, March 4 — "War Toys" by California sculptor Bella Feldman will continue to April 15. Opening reception 5-7 p.m. Friday. Feldman's assembly of 26 small-scale "toys" is disarmingly childlike and potentially lethal. Created in response to the Gulf War, they bristle with antennae, threatening projections and razor-sharp saw blades. Installed on the floor like children's toys left out after a day's play, they imply that playthings may lead to destructive impulses. Hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday, closed April 1-4, in the Park Shelton Building at 15 E. Kirby, ground floor, Suite 107, Detroit, 313-874-1955.

CARY GALLERY

Saturday, March 5 — "Color Redefined" will continue to April 2, featuring works by Neil Frankenhauser and Norma Goldsmith. Opening reception for the artists 6-8 p.m. Saturday. Frankenhauser has been a teacher and professional artist for more than 25 years and considers himself to be a colorist in both oil and pastel paintings. Color calligraphy has been the connecting thread in Goldsmith's work. She has broken new ground in watercolor, pastel and crayon. Hours are 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday, 226 Walnut Blvd., Rochester, 810-651-3656.

HABATAT GALLERIES

Saturday, March 5 — A two-man exhibit, continuing through March 26, will feature the works of Dutch artist Sien van Muers and American artist William Morris. Opening reception to meet the artists 8 p.m. Saturday. Hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday, 32255 Northwestern Highway, Suite 45, Farmington Hills, 810-851-9090.

HABATAT/SHAW GALLERY

Saturday, March 5 — Two exhibits will continue through March 26: a show of the work of internationally recognized ceramist John Chalke and "Mid-century Italian Ceramics: Gambone, Fantoni and Other Master Modernists." Opening reception for both displays 8 p.m. Saturday. Chalke's simple, minimal, handbuilt forms serve as wonderful canvases for his amazingly colored and tactile glazes. In Italy, the repression of the Fascist era was succeeded by an amazing cultural renaissance and an explosive outburst of creative energy that thrust Italian designers to the forefront of contemporary design. Hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday, 32255 Northwestern Highway, Suite 25, Farmington Hills, 810-851-8767.

REVOLUTION: A GALLERY PROJECT

Saturday, March 5 — Three new exhibits involved in telling stories will continue through April 16. Opening reception 5-8 p.m. Saturday. Informal gallery talk and discussion 7 p.m. Thursday, March 10. The shows are sculpture by Gary Martin; comic book drawings by David Wojnarowicz and James Romberger; and photography by Debbie Fleming Caffery and Doris Ulmann and fiber by the Crossroads Quilters. Hours are 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday, 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Thursday and by appointment, 23257 Woodward, one-half mile south of I-696 (10 Mile) in Ferndale, 810-541-3444.

DETROIT INSTITUTE OF ARTS

Saturday, March 5 — "The World of Pat Oliphant: Caricatures, Drawings and Sculptures," continuing to April 17, includes 100 original works by Oliphant, a Pulitzer Prize winner and the most widely circulated political cartoonist in the world. His work appears in more than 500 newspapers internationally, and his drawings are in such distinguished collections as the National Portrait Gallery and the Library of Congress. In "Talk and Draw with Pat Oliphant" 2 p.m. Saturday in the DIA Lecture Hall, he will talk with the audience while creating topical drawings that will be projected on a large screen as they are produced. The Saturday event is free with museum admission (recommended: $4 adults, $1 children, free for members). Call 313-833-7900.

REAL ESTATE LISTINGS

Study up to know if assessment's wrong

BY DOUG FUNKE
STAFF WRITER

Mary, a Livonia resident, owned a ranch in a neighborhood of colonials. She couldn't obtain the original listing price when she put her house for sale.

Mary eventually lowered her asking price. Then she started looking around and became convinced that her property was over-assessed for tax purposes. However, she eventually sold the house before she could appeal to the board of review.

Mary was probably right in her assessment of her assessment and definitely not alone, said Robert E. Mattler, an attorney who specializes in real estate law in Southfield.

"I have found, and I've been in the business about five years, that probably one in three properties, residential and commercial, one way or another is assessed improperly," he said.

The most common mistake? "Over-generalization in sales studies," Mattler said. "Assessors take a whole neighborhood and slap a rate on it and not every house is the same."

The window of opportunity for error actually can open much earlier in the process, Mattler said.

Mistakes arise on field cards filed in city, village and township halls that describe physical attributes of buildings. Then there's the possibility of mathematical miscalculations.

Sometimes, mistakes are made in a homeowner's favor, like when improvements are made without a permit. "It cuts both ways," Mattler said.

Assessment notices are on the way and local boards of review, empowered to revise assessments, will soon convene. State law requires assessments at 50 percent of true cash value.

"We work very hard to make sure they're equitable," said Judie Nagy, Livonia assessor. "If we find something that's broken, we fix it. Because of our computer set-up, we're able to break down into subs."

"The hardest thing for people to understand is how much their houses are worth," Nagy said. "Twenty five years ago, they bought for $14,000, $15,000. It's hard to believe now they're worth $110,000, $120,000. It's a fact."

What is an aggrieved property owner to do?

"The first thing to do is ask for a copy of the field sheet, the property record card," Mattler said. "Make sure it's all right. Make sure the calculations are right."

"If you believe the assessment is still out of whack, pull your neighbors' field sheets and other houses like yours. You have to compare apples to apples. If you have a ranch with three bedrooms and two baths, you want to look at others."

"If there's a big disparity, I think you have a good argument based on uniformity," he said.

Ask a Realtor for a comparative market analysis for recent listings and selling prices of houses similar to yours in the neighborhood, Mattler advised. "If all listed or sold for less, I think you have a great argument for lowering your assessment."

"A recent sale or a recent appraisal if you refinance is the best evidence you can give an assessor for a reduction," Mattler said.

It doesn't pay to get emotional and rant and rave about taxes in general at board of review hearings.

"You have to understand the intense pressures and problems of assessing people," Mattler said. "They're underpaid and overburdened."

"Values are never stagnant. They either go up or down. An assessor's task is to try and conduct studies, mail out surveys and keep up with values."

"Just don't take the assessor's word for it," Mattler said. "He's not trying to screw you. He's overburdened and doesn't have time to look at every house."

"You have to make sure you aren't swallowed up in these studies. That's your job. You have to be well informed and have the right arguments. Do research. Be well prepared."

"People need to know we're always willing to talk to them," Nagy said.

And don't be afraid to appeal to the Michigan Tax Tribunal if you're unhappy with a local decision, Mattler said. Upwards of 70 percent who continue the fight get some kind of reduction in Lansing.

Independent relationships a must

ROBERT M. MEISNER

Q. We are in the process of preparing for turnover and the managing agent retained by the developer is recommending certain contractors and an attorney to us.

One of the members of the steering committee is somewhat suspect because he believes the developer wants the management company to recommend persons who will not aggressively pursue the developer and is using the excuse that he can find "inexpensive contractors and professionals with whom he has worked in the past to assist the association." How do I investigate this matter?

A. It is not clear from the question whether the managing agent retained by the developer is a subsidiary of the developer or a so-called independent management company.

Even in the latter case, there may be some implied or express understanding between the management company and the developer regarding the retention of personnel by the association after turnover, particularly if the management company has worked with the developer in the past and wants to get business in the future.

Obviously, the choosing of contractors, legal counsel and other professionals necessary to assist the association should be made by the board of directors elected from the homeowners, independently from any other person or entity.

Indeed, one of the questions you may ask of the management company is how many associations that management company is involved in with the contractors and/or professionals involved to determine whether there is an arm's-length relationship between the parties.

You should also do your own investigation as to whom you wish to hire and make sure they are independent from any influence from the developer and/or the management company that would inhibit the ability of the association to pursue its interests in behalf of its members.

Custom Connect Classifieds

The New Voice In Classified Advertising

YOUR CLASSIFIED NEWSPAPER AD IS ONLY A PHONE CALL AWAY

New Custom Connect Classifieds extend the range and power of the traditional print ad with voice Classified Service PLUS extended customer access through the Ameritech PagesPlus front of the book section of the Yellow Pages.

Custom Connect Classifieds Feature:

- ☐ Advertise in one newspaper, but reach potential customers throughout the network.
- ☐ Target markets and respondents.
- ☐ Provide 24-Hour Access and Security, screen responses at your convenience and leave messages or further instructions. There is no need to release your name, phone number or business address.
- ☐ Promote Employment, Vehicles/Boats and Accessories for Sale and Real Estate classifieds with additional categories on the way.

With Custom Connect Classifieds all types of businesses can screen responses faster, at a reduced overhead. You won't tie up phones or valuable personnel waiting for customers to answer your classified ads.

To Place Advertising

1. When you place a classified ad for Real Estate, Employment or Vehicles/Boats tell the representative that you are interested in Custom Connect Classifieds. (C) will appear at the end of your ad, preceded by (810) 433-4800 and followed by two 4-digit extensions.
2. Any one with a touch-tone phone throughout the network who responds to your ad will hear your personally recorded message, and can leave a message on your mailbox.
3. Call Custom Connect Classifieds from any touch-tone phone 24-hours a day, seven days a week, to check responses to your ad. You will have a personal password to access your messages, your privacy will be protected.

Catherine B. Davis-Cartey of Southfield was named private banking division vice president of Michigan National Corp., Farmington Hills. She'll manage lending, investments and trust services for the bank's high net worth clients.

Davis-Cartey

Jim Montroy of Garden City was named quality achiever of the month at Farmington Hills-based Jervis B. Webb. As the human resource manager based in the New Hudson facility, the 13-year employee gives "110-percent commitment to quality improvement," the company said.

Montroy

Gerald L. Vogelei of Rochester Hills was named regional manager and consultant for Benefits Plus Inc., a Bloomfield Hills administrator of 401 (k) retirement plans and Section 125 cafeteria plans. He retired as vice president of trust business development from Manufacturers National Bank in 1991.

Vogelei

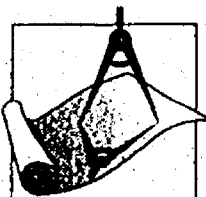

Andrew W. Zeisser of Plymouth was appointed director, automotive engineering at General Tire's original equipment sales office in Farmington Hills. He'll handle engineering activity involving the original equipment market. He joined the company in 1981 and previously was a senior engineering account manager.

Sherwood model: This house, with four bedrooms, 3 1/2 baths and a double staircase is one of his most popular currently, said Claudio Rossi.

Plymouth Commons: big and luxurious

Not every residential subdivision moves problem free from start to finish. Outside events intervene. But seasoned builders ride out storms and continue to offer quality products that eventually sell when confident buyers return to the market.

BY DOUG FUNKE
STAFF WRITER

Sometimes, plans take a little longer to materialize than first anticipated.

A. Rossi & Son Builders, for instance, started erecting spacious houses in Plymouth Commons - off Ridge between North Territorial and Powell in Plymouth Township - in 1989. Shortly thereafter, the economy soured. Then war broke out in the Middle East.

Orders tapered off.

Business picked up again last year. Now, only about 18 building sites and three sales models remain available in the initial phase of the subdivision.

Rossi & Son offers 10 different models, all two stories, and all with a choice of four possible exterior appearances. The watchwords are big and luxurious.

Prices, including lots, range from $259,900 for 3,300 square feet (Sherwood) to $309,900 for 3,400 square feet (Dynasty) to $319,900 for 3,575 square feet (Nottingham) to $409,700 for about 4,000 square feet (LaMirage).

The three models on site, all with upgraded features, range from $345,050 to $592,250.

"We give our customers a lot of choices, so you're not tied down to what you see is what you get," said Claudio Rossi, construction manager. "That's why we're custom builders."

The typical buyer here already has owned a couple of new houses, Rossi said. "Most are executives, people who work for Ford or GM, some doctors, people in the upper echelon, so to say, or self-employed."

The Sherwood model, with four bedrooms, 3 1/2 baths, a double staircase, two-story foyer on a 3/4-acre lot is especially popular now.

"It's a real nice layout, a real low price," Rossi said.

Quality construction, attention to detail and the opportunity to deal directly with family members throughout the process from start to finish make his company stand out, Rossi said.

"It's a family-run business," he said. "We do our own sales, our own supervision. When you deal directly with a builder face-to-face, you know what you're getting."

"We put in a lot of custom touches - a more expensive interior door, crown moldings, oak staircases. Our craftsmanship is really good," Rossi said. "Personally, I think we're very quality oriented."

Students work masonry into building designs

STAFF WRITER

The challenge was direct - to design a building utilizing masonry that would showcase modular housing models and include administrative offices, a daycare center, lecture hall, library and a small restaurant.

Juniors at Lawrence Technological University's college of architecture in Southfield stepped up to the task as part of their academic program and a biennial competition sponsored by the Masonry Institute of Michigan.

Laura Clary of Northville placed second, Todd Rankine of Livonia third.

"It's always fun and impressive to see students' work like that," said Victor Saroki, a Birmingham architect, who chaired the judging panel. "The overall effort was excellent, the level of drawings and models quite high."

Clary, 25, produced a fan-shaped design that features a retractable nylon roof over four modular houses, offices on either side of models, the lecture hall behind the models off the main entrance and the daycare and restaurant on a second level overlooking the models.

"The most challenging part is combining the civic center and community of homes," she said. "You're incorporating two functions - large areas for display and small spaces for individual offices."

Clary utilized precast concrete panels and brick on the exterior.

Rankine, 22, designed a single-story, T-shaped building with the restaurant, conference center, daycare, and meeting rooms along the long corridor leading from the front entrance and the models at the top.

A skylight runs along the spine of the structure. Precast granite panels and brick were used on the exterior.

"Our class almost had a bad attitude about buying a house in a mall," Rankine said. "I was going to try to make it a little more personal than it appeared to be."

Clary prefers to create by working with models, while

'It's always fun and impressive to see students' work like that. The overall effort was excellent, the level of drawings and models quite high.'

Victor Saroki
judging panel chairman

Rankine vacillates between drawings and models. Both said they prefer to sketch by hand rather than use computer-aided design systems. They enjoy that personal, artistic touch.

Rankine currently works part time drafting and dispatching for Siegal/Tuomaala Associates in Farmington Hills, Clary as an assistant designer doing kitchens and baths for Living Spaces in Sylvan Lake.

Both are optimistic about future professional prospects.

"I'd like to teach as well as practice... perhaps publish as well," Clary said. "I see myself doing a variety of things."

"I basically want to design," Rankine said. "An architect always has a tool that can be used. There's always going to be someone even in down turns that wants something built, remodeled or fixed."

Daniel S. Zechmeister, executive director of the masonry institute in Livonia, said the main purpose of the competition is to introduce students to working with brick, block and stone.

"The biggest problem we have is masonry isn't a required course for architects and engineers," Zechmeister said. "Our goal is to promote masonry. Before we do that, we have to educate."

"They're getting better and better every year," Zechmeister said of the student entries.

"They work very hard," said Betty Lee Sweatt, assistant dean at LTU. "Requirements included plans, elevations and a model so they (judges) had a sense of what the building was like."

Laura Clary: Second place.

Todd Rankine: Third place.

HELPING THE HOMESTEAD

Spring seems to be the time when decisions crystallize about home improvements, maintenance projects and major appliance upgrades. We're interested in your plans. Plymouth from page 1F

All of the lots are at least 100 feet wide. A premium foundation waterproofing system for basement walls is standard. The exterior has brick on all four sides, including the entire front, and wood siding.

All garages are side entry. Plymouth Commons is serviced by city water and sewers. The subdivision is off a gravel road but just a short drive to the M-14 freeway.

Buyers still look for a wide-open feeling of spaciousness, especially at this level of construction, Rossi said.

"Everyone is looking more and more for privacy — private bath, walk-in closet," he said. "That seems to be the thing on larger houses."

Dave and Vicki Williams moved their family to Plymouth Commons from another neighborhood in Plymouth Township about three years ago. The LaMirage model is their third new house.

"We liked the floor plan — it's open, the way it flows," Vicki said. "We were ready to move up. There was nothing else in the Plymouth area with this quality, this size lots.

"All of their houses, especially this house, the quality is outstanding," Vicki said. "They're great. We've had no problems with them. They were here when we needed them. They're small and family, not a big construction company. They have a lot of pride in what they do."

Richard and Kathryn Topolewski bought LeChateau, a model with the master suite on the main floor and three bedrooms upstairs.

"The first house I built was a ranch, the second a colonial with all the bedrooms upstairs," Richard said. "As I get older, I may want all my belongings on the main level and not go up and down steps."

"Naturally, when you build homes you build for what you want, but you have resale in mind," he continued. "I got all the amenities I could afford."

Those extras included a private bath in each bedroom and an oversized three-car garage. "He (Rossi) puts a lot of extras in a house," Richard said. "I, myself, have a residential builders license and he does it right."

Topolewski has two major concerns — the quality of construction by other builders in subsequent phases and the unpaved condition of Ridge Road.

Plymouth Commons is serviced by the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools.

The current property tax rate including schools, township and county is $52.22 per $1,000 of state equalized valuation, half of market value.

That means the owner of a $300,000 house in the subdivision would pay about $7,800 annually in property taxes. But that will change pending the result of the statewide March 15 school financing ballot proposal.

Sales models offered by A. Rossi & Son Builders at Plymouth Commons are open 2-6 p.m. daily, closed Thursday. The telephone number is 313-453-4350.

Forum focus: home owners

BY JANICE TIGAR-KRAMER
SPECIAL WRITER

If you're buying a new home, building yourself or just dreaming about new home ownership, an upcoming workshop may answer questions you wouldn't think of asking.

"Meet the Contractors Day" runs 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., Saturday, March 12, in the Novi Expo Center, 43700 Expo Center Drive, at I-96 and the Novi Road exit. Registration begins at 8 a.m. Tuition is $20, with 10 percent going to Hugs 'n Tugs, a nonprofit group that donates Teddy bears to victims of domestic violence.

The one-day workshop, sponsored by Livonia-based Home Building Workshops, gives prospective home owners/builders a chance to meet more than 60 contractors who represent virtually every field of home construction, says Jim Nawrot, Home Building Workshop director.

contractor relations, says Nawrot, a Livonian, who's built more than 200 custom homes during his 30-year building career.

The day's speakers represent Detroit Edison, Central Michigan Lumber, Hunter Building, New Tech Drywall, Savoie Insulation, Concepts in Design, Miles Homes, WaterFurnace, Anthony Builders, Goodsell Cement, Lakeside Window, Sackett Brick, G.W. Carpentry, Insulation Products, Mans Building Centers, First Security Savings Bank, Insulation Products, Oakland Energy Sealers, Pullum Window, Contemporary Trim, Neumeyer Builders and Permanent Wood Foundations and other vendors.

Home Building Workshops will conduct more than 72 workshops this year, focusing on money-saving land acquisition ideas, home design, financing, construction methods and materials, supplier selection and negotiation.

For workshop information, call 800-462-0899.

Home Depot opens 1st Midwest store in Pontiac

SPECIAL WRITER

Atlanta-based Home Depot Inc., the nation's biggest retail home improvement center, today opened its first Midwest store at 545 S. Telegraph, Pontiac, near the borders of both Bloomfield and West Bloomfield townships.

The sprawling 122,000-square-foot, warehouse-style store employs about 200 people. It's one of five locations the retailer plans to open in metro-Detroit this year, a spokesman said. Other stores are planned in Canton, Redford, Northville Township and Warren.

The Warren store will open Thursday, March 10, at 25879 Hoover. The Canton store is planned at the southeast corner of Ford and Lutz; the Redford store will be on Inkster Road, between Plymouth and Road, 1-96. The Northville store will go in at Seven Mile and Haggerty.

By the end of 1999, another 15 stores could be built in metro-Detroit, providing about 3,000 more jobs. Another 10 stores are planned elsewhere in Michigan by the end of 1997, the retailer said.

The Pontiac store, managed by Gregg Gerstenburger, is a boon to the city, which didn't have much hope for the location at Orchard Lake Road and Old Telegraph, said Richard Hahn, Pontiac city planner. To build its expansive warehouse, Home Depot razed an old concrete block manufacturing plant that was "out-of-place in the business district" and did extensive excavating, Hahn said.

"Just by the nature of its business, the plant wasn't sightly and we had problems with it for years. There was a next gravel spread on Orchard Lake. It was a non-conforming site that didn't fit the city's long-range plan," he said.

Since the retailer started landscaping, a nearby business owner has spruced up his storefront, Hahn said.

Every Home Depot conducts free in-store home improvement clinics geared for the growing do-it-yourself market.

The warehouse's inventory includes more than 30,000 kinds of building materials, home improvement supplies and lawn and garden materials. The in-store design center is staffed with professional designers who give free consultation for home improvement projects that range from lighting placement to computer-assisted design for kitchens and bathrooms.

Here's a roundup of the March/April clinics in the Pontiac store:

- 7 p.m. Mondays: Basic wiring.
- 7 p.m. Tuesdays: Install a water heater.
- 7 p.m. Wednesdays: Install blown-in insulation.
- 7 p.m. Thursdays: Hang an interior door.

■ 6 p.m. Fridays: Repair/replace toilet.

■ 7 p.m. Fridays: Refinish a wood floor.

■ 10 a.m. Saturdays: Lay ceramic tile.

■ 11 a.m. Saturdays: Hang wall paper.

■ 1 p.m. Saturdays: Install a drop ceiling.

■ 1 p.m. Sundays: Install a storm door.

■ 2 p.m. Sundays: Install a lock set.

■ 3 p.m. Sundays: Install a ceiling fan.

O&E Newspapers offer tax form request service

The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers is making the tax season a little easier for the taxpayer this year by offering a tax form request service.

Taxpayers can selectively order the tax form they need by calling 1-800-947-4368 and ordering any of the federal or Michigan forms available through this service.

Callers must use a Visa, MasterCard or American Express card for payment of the $4.95 fee per form. Forms can be mailed or faxed to the caller.

Simply indicate which delivery method is desired and give the complete mailing address or the 10-digit fax telephone number. If the caller doesn't know the specific item number of the tax form desired, federal or Michigan directories (which list all available forms) can be requested for $1.95 each.

This service includes commonly used Michigan forms such as Amended Michigan Income Tax (dial no. 0141), SBT Credit for Small Business (dial no. 0801), Request for More Time to File (dial no. 0426), just to name a few.

The federal list of available forms is extensive and ranges from the Common Capital Gains & Losses (dial no. 1044), Employee Business Expenses (dial no. 2106) to the elusive Sale of Your Home (dial no. 2119) and Noncash Charitable Contributions (dial no. 8283).

"Tax by Fax" service also includes instructions for a number of the available forms. Dial codes preceded by a "+" on the directory listing have instructions sheets that can be ordered for $1.95 each. For more information, call Bryan at 313-953-2297.

Consumer Connection simplifies home improvement

The hardest thing about starting a home improvement project is finding the right contractor to do the work.

The right contractor needs to perform quality work at a reasonable price. The right contractor needs to be completely qualified and able to complete the job on time. Knowing this, where does a homeowner look?

A small Livonia company called Consumer Connection takes the big worry out of finding reliable contractors.

Founded last March by co-owners Ben Ciccarelli and Cesar Roman, Consumer Connection specializes in referring pre-screened and qualified trades people and companies for persons who need home improvements and don't necessarily have the time or patience to find a good, qualified contractor.

Best of all, the service is offered free to homeowners.

"We looked at home improvement projects both from a homeowner's and a contractor's point-of-view and our service benefits both. Consumer Connection protects homeowners and good contractors alike," Roman said.

To take advantage of the service, homeowners call Consumer

Connection and let them know what home improvement project they need done. Consumer Connection then refers a contractor in close geographical location to the homeowner and gives information about the contractor. The contractor is then called by Consumer Connection to let them know the homeowner will be calling them.

All contractors are given a thorough screening. Consumer Connection investigates each of the contractors they refer for excellence in reputation, workmanship, quality, politeness, guarantees, timeliness and affordability. It also makes sure each of the contractors is completely insured and licensed.

Consumer Connection produces The Consumer Connection Newsletter every quarter and distributes it to homeowners and companies around metropolitan Detroit. The newsletter informs readers about the service and keeps them updated on any new contractors in the area, as well as handy hints and an events calendar.

For information on Consumer Connection and its services, call (313) 721-6257.

MARKETPLACE

Marketplace features a glimpse of suburban business news and notes, including corporate name changes, new products, new store or office openings, new affiliations, new positions, mergers, acquisitions and new ways of doing business. Write: Marketplace, Building & Business, Observer & Eccentric Newspapers, 36251 Schoolcraft, Livonia 48150. Our fax number is (313) 591-7279.

HONOR LAW FIRM

Dykema Gossett, a Detroit-based law firm with offices in Bloomfield Hills, was named 1993 Volunteer Law Firm of the Year by the American Bar Association. The firm tripled its pro bono participation after the ABA's 1992 challenge to all law firms to increase pro bono work, particularly on behalf of the indigent.

Five attorneys from Dykema Gossett were honored at the firm's first annual pro bono awards dinner, including two from the Bloomfield Hills office: Fred J. Fechheimer of Bloomfield Hills and C. Kim Shierk of Birmingham.

The firm's pro bono program focuses on aid to children, housing issues and victims of domestic violence, said Jonathan D. Rowe, a partner of the firm.

NEW HEAT TREATMENT

Michigan Induction, Canton, has developed an improved induction process for powdered metal drive hubs and sprockets. The new method reduces scrap, cracking and dimensional distortion that occurs in conventional heat-treating methods, the company said.

FIRM PURCHASED

A.Z. Shmina & Sons Co., a Livonia building contractor, has purchased Shmina Construction, Inc., Livonia, from Peter A. Bastile.

LAND ACCOUNTS

Rein Nomm & Associates, Plymouth, will handle marketing, public relations and advertising for St. Louis-based Powell Fabrication & Manufacturing, a designer and manufacturer of chemical processing equipment. W.B. Doner, Southfield, will handle Frank's Nursery & Crafts' advertising account. Doner will strengthen the retailer's position in the lawn, garden and craft industries and develop marketing for Frank's SuperCrafts, a concept started last November. Doner also has received these new accounts: National Car Rental/Interrent, Musciland, National Tire Warehouse, F&M Distributors and Professional Veterinary Hospitals of America.

ACCREDIT STAFF

Jim Jablonski, Thomas Morgan and Pete Reber, sales representatives at A Arpin of Michigan, a Westland mover, have passed the company's accredited moving consultant exam. The test covers estimating, knowledge of tariffs and general corporate policy.

LASER OPERATIONS

Rofin-Sinar Inc., a Plymouth producer of lasers for industrial and manufacturing applications, has completed the first phase of expansions to its Midwest base of operations to include the manufacture of high-power CO2 lasers, product research and development functions, and a central service facility.

The project consisted of adding 35,000 square feet to the 23,000-square-foot Plymouth facility, which allowed consolidation of the firm's North American operations.

The company's manufacturing and product research facilities in San Jose were moved to Plymouth to join sales and marketing, applications research, and managerial functions, which have been based in Plymouth for four years. The Plymouth operation employs 85.

Richard Walker, Rofin-Sinar vice president, said proximity to its major customer base and a more efficient use of resources prompted the move.

"The laser has demonstrated its value as a versatile manufacturing tool, being used for welding and cutting in industries throughout the U.S. In the late 1980s, however, a clear concentration of customers emerged in the Midwest and especially within automotive OEMs (original equipment manufacturers) and their suppliers.

"Locating our application research center in Plymouth in 1989 was done to better service and support this customer base. The consolidation of our manufacturing operations is a natural progression of that service-based philosophy."

NEW BUYERS CLUB

American Buyers Group, a buying club for small to mid-size metro Detroit businesses, has opened at 180 Oakland, Suite 350, Birmingham.

Members can get discounts of 15 to 70 percent on a range of products and services, including office supplies, computer and office equipment, cellular and telephone service and payroll services. Retail credit card processing is available to members at 2.09 percent.

American Buyers has a start-up fee and a monthly processing fee. Most members annually save three to five times more on routine purchases than they pay in processing fees, the company said.

"It's a total win-win situation for everyone involved," said Dennis Morse, director.

American Buyers offers a free consultation to prospective members. For information, call (810) 645-8604.

NEW NAME

D.W. Zimmerman Manufacturing, a 35-year-old Troy-based manufacturer of materials handling equipment, changed its name to Zimmerman International Corp. The new name responds to the firm's growth and global expansion over the past five years, the company said.

MARKETER TALKS

Anil Selby, vice president of sales at Dialogue Marketing, Southfield, was the featured speaker at the 1994 National Grocers Association's annual convention in Atlanta, Ga.

His talk, "A Centesimal Approach to Niche Marketing," included cost-effective ways for retailers to identify the attitudes and shopping patterns of their target customer groups.

BARNEY FACTOR?

If trend-trackers are right, look for purple and gold vehicles in the next year or so, plus rising consumer interest in bi-color effects, says Troy-based DuPont Automotive.

Is it a Barney factor? Whatever, DuPont says purple, especially in dark, rich reddish hues, will show up on sport/compact models and full/intermediate sized vehicles.

Light and bright gold will emerge over the next two to three years and bi-color effects (where hue changes at different angles) will appear in all four vehicle categories.

The top five vehicle colors for 1993 were white, green medium red, bright red and black. Green doubled in popularity last year and was the most popular choice for sport/compact cars, DuPont reports.

Besides being the environment's color, green represents balance, normalcy and security. "People who select it are socially well-adjusted, civilized and suburban," says Roseann Forde for DuPont Fibers.

AUTOMATIC BILL PAYMENT

The Troy-based Michigan Automated Clearing House Association has initiated a joint customer authorization program that brings together Ameritech (Michigan Bell), Consumers Power, Detroit Edison and Michigan gas utilities to help customers easily sign up for automatic monthly bill payment.

The effort allows each major utility to offer an automatic bill payment service via a single computerized customer authorization form.

"The development and implementation of this form allows customers the opportunity to sign up with one or more utilities in one step, using a single form," said William Thornton, MACHA president.

Each joint utility authorization form includes a postage-paid envelope. Once completed by the customer, it is mailed to MACHA, where the information is reviewed and then distributed to the designated utilities. Each utility, upon receipt of this information, prepares the necessary information that allows the originating financial institution to initiate customer pre-notification transactions and subsequent debits.

All MACRA member financial institutions are eligible to participate in the program. Distribution of the forms will take place through these member institutions, as well as through Ameritech, Consumers Power, Detroit Edison and Michigan gas utilities.

Since 1974, MACHA has provided the private business sector a means of active participation in the electronic transfer of funds.

ENTREPRENEUR AWARDS

Entrepreneur of the Year Award sponsors are looking for Michigan's most successful and dynamic business people.

The award, created in 1986 by Detroit-based Ernst & Young, will go to business people in 41 major markets on June 16 at The Ritz-Carlton in Dearborn.

Nominees should demonstrate excellence and success, especially in the areas of innovation, financial performance and commitment to business and community. Self-nominees and people who've supported business ventures are eligible, as are suppliers and customers of entrepreneurs. The nominee's company must be at least two years old. If the company is publicly held, the founder must be in top management. There's no nomination fee.

Judges are leaders of Michigan businesses, academic and civic groups. Ernst & Young, Comerica Bank, Crain's Detroit Business, Dickson, Wright, Moon, Van-Dusen & Freeman and WJR are sponsoring the search with national sponsors, Inc. magazine and Merrill Lynch.

Michigan winners are eligible for the National Entrepreneur of the Year award.

For information or nomination forms, write Michele Kapp, Entrepreneur of the Year Awards, Ernst & Young, Comerica Tower at Detroit Center, Suite 1700, 500 Woodward Ave., Detroit, MI 48226, or call the award hot line at (313) 596-7493. Nominations must be received by April 8.

NEW TUB SHOP

Tension Tamer SOFTUB has opened a new location in Novi Town Center, at Grand River and Novi Road, Novi. Tension Tamer sells a portable, self-contained spa that can be set up by one person. The retailer has another location in Rochester Hills.

NAMED DISTRIBUTOR

Daiek Products, Troy, was named the exclusive Michigan distributor for New Jersey-based Century Shower Door.

Daiek is at 1725 Blaney. The phone number is (810) 816-1360.

ACQUIRES FIRM

Troy-based Smith Security Corp. has acquired R.O.I. Security Systems, Farmington, R.I.O. was founded in 1982 and provides contract security and patrol service to retail and commercial customers.

JOINS ASSOCIATION

Professional Underwriters, Farmington Hills, has joined the Professional Independent Insurance Agents of Michigan, a trade association that represents 10,000 independent agents and industry employees in Michigan.

TOP PERFORMER

An article in the Feb. 7 issue of U.S. News & World Report ranks a Michigan-based mutual fund among the top 4 percent of long-term growth funds. RCM Fund was ranked 18th in a list of 465 funds based on its relative performance over time.

RCM, a no-load common stock mutual fund, is managed by Schwartz Investment Council, Bloomfield Hills and Ann Arbor. The minimum initial investment for new investors in the fund is $25,000.

HIRING AGENTS

The Prudential expects to hire more than 800 sales representatives this year in an 11-state territory, including 75 at its Renaissance Agency, which handles business in southeast Michigan.

Custom Connect Classifieds

The New Voice in Classified Advertising

New Custom Connect Classifieds extend the range and power of the traditional print ad with voice Classified Service PLUS extended customer access through the Ameritech Pages Plus section of the Yellow Pages phone book.

Custom Connect Classifieds Feature:

- Provide 24-Hour Access and Security, screen responses at your convenience and leave messages or further instructions. There is no need to release your name, phone number or business address.
- Promote Employment, Vehicles/Boats and Accessories for Sale and Real Estate classifieds with additional categories on the way.
- Advertise in one newspaper, but reach potential customers throughout the network.
- Target markets and respondents.

With Custom Connect Classifieds all types of businesses can screen responses faster, at a reduced overhead. You won't tie up phones or valuable personnel waiting for customers to answer your classified ads.

To Place Advertising

- When you place a classified ad for Real Estate, Employment or Vehicles/Boats tell the representative that you are interested in Custom Connect Classifieds. (C) will appear at the end of your ad, preceded by (810) 433-4800 and followed by two 4-digit extensions.
- Any one with a touch-tone phone throughout the network who responds to your ad will hear your personally recorded message, and can leave a message on your mailbox.
- Call Custom Connect Classifieds from any touch-tone phone 24-hours a day, seven days a week, to check responses to your ad. You will have a personal password to access your messages, your privacy will be protected.

The Observer & Eccentric Newspapers Inc. assumes no responsibility for accuracy of content of voice recorded messages.

Simple, honest, straightforward. How else would you expect to lease a Saturn?

By now, you've probably heard about the Saturn buying experience. No hassles, no pressure, no fuss, just common courtesy, along with a pretty great car.

Well, the way we see it, your experience shouldn't be any different if you want to lease a Saturn. After all, what could we possibly gain by making things any less straightforward than they have to be?

The Saturn SL

($168/Month $1000/Down 36/Months)

SmartLease payments based on 1994 Saturn SL Sedan, 5 speed, AC, MSRP $11,210 excluding taxes, title, license fee and insurance. First month's lease payment of $168 plus $200 refundable security deposit and down payment of $1,000 for a total of $1,368 due at lease signing. Option to purchase at lease end for $6614. Payments total $6048.

GMAC must approve lease. Mileage charge of $0.10 per mile over 45,000 miles. Your payments may be higher or lower. Lessee pays for excessive wear and use.
