On a bus tour last week through Westland, Livonia, Canton Township, Redford and Dearborn Heights, representatives of U.S. Sen. Spencer Abraham, R-Mich., and Gov. John Engler accepted an invitation to see programs and services that local officials fear could be threatened.

Abraham is a co-sponsor of the still-pending Federal Housing Reform and Local Empowerment Act, aimed at abolishing HUD.

As hosts, local officials pointed out low-income neighborhoods, senior citizens centers, once-ailing commercial areas and a battered women's shelter, among other places, that have been aided by the federal dollars.

Specifically, the tour focused on programs and services that depend on Community Development Block Grant monles. Local officials are hoping to sway federal opinion on programs that they say work.

Long-time company blocks off the future

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN SPECIAL WRITER

After nearly 50 years, one of the community's oldest businesses, National Block Co. and Ready-Mix Inc., is looking to the future.

Unlike many businesses, the Westland concrete and masonry products supplier is in the process of expansion.

Downsizing is not even in their vocabulary.

Company president Marty Eisenstein and vice president Jim Gendron said they are committed to continually reinvesting in the plant and equipment.

Next spring, a $2.7 million stateof the art block manufacturing facility will be unveiled on the Ford Road west of Hix, on the city's western edge.

"This is very rare. You don't see many new block manufacturing facility put up but Jim and I are young guys with an eye on the future," said the 42-year old Eisenstein who lives in Plymouth with his wife and two children.

"The old method uses kilns. The new recaptures and reuses steam in a curing room kept at 130 degrees, 100 percent humidity, 24 hours a day, 365 days a year," Eisenstein said.

"The new robotic transportation system, that moves the product once the machine is through stamping out the block, makes the fork lift obsolete."

The new Internal Revenue Service building in Detroit, the African-American Museum, several Target and Home Depot stores, and the soon-to-open Summit on the Park community and cultural center in Canton Township are some of the structures built with their concrete products.

The recent acquisition of Karber Custom Block in St. Johns will enable the Westland-based company to compete in the specialty stone market.

Westland, alone, received $1,318,000 in the latest CDBG allocation, compared to $1,175,000 for Redford, $563,000 for Livonia, $432,000 for Canton Township.

"The goal isn't to cut out the programs," Laurie Bink, Abraham's aide, told local officials. "The goal is to cut the bureaucracy in getting the money to you."

Local officials, however, say they are concerned that the proposal isn't specific on how the revamped program would be run. Moreover, they have grown to trust the federal program, but they are wary of letting state and local governments handle it.

H. Shane, Livonia's assistant planning director, is among those who fear that communities could lose the flexibility that exists in using CDBG dollars. Stops on the Aug. 28 bus tour included:

"We're committed to senior citizens and low-income housing," Spearman-Leach said at one point during the tour. Statements suggesting the contrary "are absolutely not true."

Abraham has said the bill, through vouchers and block grants, would give states and local governments the power to design their own programs, rather than having them depend on HUD which he said is outdated.

Spearman-Leach said HUD cuts would streamline programs and save taxpayer dollars.

In a statement about the proposed changes, Abraham said. "I believe this legislation will help Detroit and other urban areas of my state by moving the resources and regulations out of Washington and returning authority and responsibility to local governments and families."

Last week's bus tour showed that Abraham, and others supporting the changes, have far to go in convincing local officials.

Eisenstein grew up in the business. The company was started by Eisenstein's father, cousins and close friends after World War II.

George Eisenstein, Joe Kovar, and George and Harry Valek put plenty of hard labor into the block making company they began in the backyard of Harry's Canton Township home on Cherry Hill and Palmer roads in 1946.

Since housing construction had virtually stopped during the war, the timing of this new venture was perfect.

By 1952 they'd outgrown the original facility. In the middle of a Westland farmer's field, the four veterans built their first plant, moving production to its present 13-acre site on Ford Road in 1952, and introducing the highly perishable commodity known as vakian. The idea was suggested by a Canton farmer who was making them for his own use.

"Back then it was all hard labor. All the blocks were moved by hand. The early equipment required them to hand tamp the mix into forms," said the younger Eisenstein who joined the company in 1975 after graduating from Michigan State University with a business administration degree.

All of the founders eventually sold their shares in the company. George Eisenstein sold his interest to Marty in 1990 and has since retired. Gendron, now vice president and partner, joined the company in 1988 several years after graduating from Wayne State

"The company went from a backyard operation run entirely by the four owners manufacturing and delivering the block themselves to the 50 employees we have today," Eisenstein said. The turning point or major growth spurt for the company came in the late 1960s and early 1970's with the construction and expansion of the Westland Shopping Center.

Community involvement through the years also played a part in the company's success. Donations of blocks and Ready-Mix led to a solid image in the area. One of the most recent was donating all the concrete for Habitat for Humanity's home building project in Detroit.

"The Westland Shopping Center project required necessary equipment to service the job. That gave them the stepping

"It's been a growth period since then. There was a lull in '89-'90 but we tightened up. We've got a great crew of people working for us, young, energetic, and a good corps of truck drivers," said Eisenstein.

Sales for 1994 were $12 million. An estimate of $13 million in sales is projected for this year.

New housing in the Canton Township and Plymouth area is expected to keep business booming through the end of this century. With the acquisition of the Karber Block Co., the sky's the

"Our customer base is the little contractor to the major builder. We're always looking for new designs of block, new sizes and textures. We see the I-275 corridor as an area of major growth, and Detroit has great potential," Eisenstein said.

"You have to plan for the next 25 years. Our new plant has the capability to handle just about anything."

Newest 'restaurant' is open for only one hour

BY LEONARD POGER

estland's newest "business" stayed open for only one hour, but its two partners are happy.

Julien Liss, 81/2, of Westland, and a cousin, Gavin Patridge, 9, of Belleville, operated "The Popper Restaurant" from the basement of Julien's house for one hour on a recent Thursday noontime and divided the $30.10 profit.

But Julien's mother, Elaine Liss, and grandmother, Lucille Liss, provided most of the labor and didn't charge for their services.

Elaine admitted that that only charges to the business was the food — hot dogs, hamburgers, soda pop, pop corn, potato chips and ice cream.

The "restaurant," located in the basement of the Liss home on Rustic Lane, north of Palmer and east of Merriman, was filled to its 15-person capacity by friends or relatives who were given advance invita-

"The boys were happy about the profit," she said.

Liss said she and her mother bought the food from a nearby Farmer Jack Supermarket for $10 two days before the restaurant's opening and prepared it for the partners.

'We were the cooks while Julien and Gavin were the waiters."

The menus were printed at Normandy Apartments, a Dearborn senior citizens complex managed by Elaine Liss, with the food representing relative bargains.

Hamburgers were 75 cents, hot dogs 50 cents, munchies 25 cents and soft drinks 25 cents.

The only complaint came from a young girl who muttered to a friend that "there are too many boys at my table."

Plymouth festival booth locations uncertain

BY KEVIN BROWN STAFF WRITER

Plymouth Fall Festival starts a week from Friday, and some organizers say they're still waiting to be told where to set up food booths, due to some streetscape delays.

Because the laying of brick pavers has been slow, work on the Main Street portion of the downtown streetscape is behind schedule — and it's not certain that booths will be able to set up on Main, said Joe Bida, festival publicity coordinator.

"If Main Street isn't ready, we'll probably go to Ann Arbor Trail and Forest," Bida said.

Yet. Downtown Development Authority Director Steve Guile said both Main and Penniman will be ready for Fall Festival booths starting Sept. 8.

Crews on Wednesday were to begin laying a base course of asphalt, Guile said, to smooth ruts and prepare the streets for a final paving.

"There will be temporary power streets. for the fall festival on the island on Main Street," he added.

Food booths around Kellogg Park at fall featival time are a tradition for festival goers. And for many local organizations and service clubs, food sales provide the bulk of money to conduct community activities year-round.

Some who run various groups' booths said they're not troubled by the uncertainty as to where they'll be setting up on downtown

"I have a feeling that the asphalt is going to be down and the downtown is going to be the most beautiful place in metro Detroit," said Harry Roebuck of the Plymouth Optimist Club, which is slated to sell balloons, kids toys and novelties at its booth.

"It's not a big deal, as long as the people show up," said Jack Farrow of the Plymouth-Canton schools I Care Committee, which will sell computer software at its who'll run the New Morning they're not worried. Rouge expected to be open to canoes next year

Wayne County residents can look forward to canoeing on the Rouge River next summer if all goes well with a project begun this month to clear 40 logiams by mid-October.

Mike Duggan, the chief deputy of county Executive Ed McNamara, has been put in charge of the project.

"We're going to have canoes and fishing on the river as soon as next spring," Duggan said.

Using crews comprised of people from parks and public services departments, plus 10 jail inmates from the county's Alternative Workforce, Duggan plans to clear "40 logiams in 40 days" between Newburgh Lake in Livonia and Nankin Lake. Work begins Tuesday, Sept. 5, near the dam at the east end of Newburgh Lake.

"By late October that river will be clean of logiams from Nankin Lake to Newburgh Lake," Duggan said.

Once a person sees how bucolic a canoe ride down the Rouge is, Duggan said, it's hard to. believe one is still in Wayne County.

Friends of the Rouge Director Jim Graham agreed. "It's really very pretty there, and I think most people don't think about that," he said. "It doesn't make sense that we have to go 100 miles north to put a canoe in the wa-

Beyond next year, Duggan hopes to open the Upper Rouge for canoeing from Wilcox Lake in Plymouth Township to Merriman Road in Westland.

By 1997 all of the combined sewer overflows west of Merriman are expected to be capped.

Newburgh Lake, with tons of sewage in its sediment, is scheduled to be dredged in the winter of 1997-98. Swimming, however, won't be safe for another 10 years, Duggan said.

More than 100 sewage overflow pipes dump. waste into the Rouge and its tributaries with every hard rain. In 759 tests on the Rouge from April to October 1994, the water met state standards for full body contact just 20 times.

It is also hoped that by 1998 the Lower Rouge, flowing through Canton and Westland. will be opened for canoeing.

"We only go as fast as the combined sewer overflows are cleaned up," Duggan said.

County Commission Vice Chair Kay Beard, D-Westland, who also represents Garden City, is pleased with the project.

"I'm delighted," she said. "It's a project that is going to be a wonderful recreation asset. (The Rouge) is a resource we really need to take advantage of."

Graham is also glad that Duggan is helping. The Friends' annual cleanup effort pulls tons of debris from the river every year, but can't get it all.

"We can only get to a fraction of (the logiams)," Graham said. "There are so many that are not easily accessible for volunteers."

Also chipping in is the federal government's Rouge River National Wet Weather Demonstration Project, a $1 billion-plus, 20-year endeavor begun two years ago.

Much of that money is going for the construction of 11 basins to catch the overflow from combined sewer systems.

The last basin is expected to be completed by the end of 1998, reducing sewage in the river by 33 percent.

"Most people have never known the Rouge as a place for recreation," McNamara said

DAN NAVARRE

Jammed: This Rouge River logiam and 39 others between Newburgh and Nankin lakes will be cleared by mid October if all goes well with a new project headed by deputy county executive Mike Duggan. The river is expected to be open for canoeing next summer.

SMOOTHING THE ROUGH EDGES

When teeth sustain minor fractures and chips, the best way to repair them may be to simply smooth their rough edges. Cosmetic contouring usually calls for a minimal amount of tooth reduction without the need for an anesthetic. However, in the event that a smile line would suffer by having a tooth shortened, contouring would not be appropriate. Because the aging process naturally flattens the smile line and reduces

Supreme court: State has no duty to fund courts

BY TIM RICHARD STAFF WRITER

One burner on the court reform stove was turned off Aug. 23 when the Michigan Supreme Court ruled against local governments that had sued for state funding of their trial courts.

But other burners are still generating heat in favor of state funding - heavy workloads in some courts, the outstate versus Detroit brawl, and a governor who holds tight purse strings.

"We lost all clout," said Douglas Van Essen, the Grand Rapids. attorney who handled the appeal for the plaintiffs - the Michigan Association of Counties. His was the most pessimistic reaction to the high court ruling.

"We may end up doing it (state funding) anyway," said Sen. Robert Geake, R-Northville, who serves on both the Judiciary and Appropriations committees. "There is a lot of interest in statefunded courts.'

At issue is the way state government picks up 30 percent of the tab for Wayne County trial courts versus 20 percent for the other 82 counties.

No new judges Meanwhile, Gov. John Engler has used veto threats to block creation of new judgeships in Oakland County, the Farmington district, and the northwestern Wayne County 35th District Court until there's court reorgani-

The best known plan is one backed by State Bar leaders: a single "trial court" with state funding and new districts to replace circuit, recorders, probate and district courts.

Geake said a GOP Senate task force would issue a court reform recommendation before the party's Mackinac Island conference Sept. 22,

Attorney Thomas Kienbaum predicted "a showdown" on state funding despite the Supreme ran at a loss. Court decision. "What if counties decide not to fund a court and shut it down? Is the Supreme Court saying, 'We can't enforce that either'?" said Kienbaum, president-elect of the State Bar of State Rep. Gerald Law, R-Plymouth, said the local 35th District Court is a money-maker that communities in Northville. Plymouth and Canton don't want to surrender to state aid and con-

"It makes a $1.3 million profit. The locals use that money," said

Statewide, district courts in a recent year spent $150 million and collected $125 million in fines and fees, recovering 83 percent of their costs. Other district courts broke even, while others

Said Law, a member of the House Judiciary Committee and former township official: "Show me a district court that isn't inthe black, and I'll show you one that isn't well managed."

In other courts, however, the situation is different. Circuit courts (the state's general trial courts) generate revenue to coveronly 11 percent of their costs. Probate courts cover only 7 percent of their costs.

"Right now, I'm sharing all my

A) with the rest of the state," said Law. "I don't want to share my court money, too.'

Law agreed with the high court and rejected the argument that the state has a duty to fund all lower courts. "It's just a statutory thing. (The state) hasn't fully funded revenue sharing or (aid to cities with) horse racing tracks. (The high court ruling) doesn't surprise me."

Trial courts cost a total of about $509 million a year to run. A full state takeover of funding would run an estimated $250 million, perhaps more.

It started in '80

The argument started almost as soon as the Legislature in 1980 passed a law heavily funding Wayne County and Detroit courts. The stated intention was to phase in state funding for the Wayne suburbs and the other 82 counties over five years. In the deep recession that followed, state funding never advanced.

In 1988 angry outstate politicos - 76 counties, 46 cities, 11 townships and one village — filed suit against state government in the Court of Claims. Van Essen's clients won partial victories in the Court of Claims (Ingham Circuit

But last week the Supreme Court reversed them.

"The Legislature did not intend to create a judicially enforceable private cause of action for money judgment against the state," wrote Justice Dorothy Comstock Riley in a 7-0 opinion.

"Moreover, the Michigan Constitution does not require the state to fund the entire cost of trial court operations

Law punishes teens who buy booze

A new law went into effect Sept. 1 penalizing minors who attempt to purchase alcohol.

"We view this as a major victory," said Associated Food Dealers of Michigan director Joe Sarafa in a press release. "In the past, there was no deterrent for minors; all responsibility for their actions lay with the retail establishment and its employees. That responsibility is now shared by the seller and the minor who will both be prosecuted if the minor is caught purchasing alcoholic beverages."

For the first offense, the minor will be fined up to $100 and may be ordered to perform community service and, at his or her own expense, undergo substance abuse screening.

For the second offense, the fine is raised to $200 and the minor's driver's license will be suspended for 90-180 days. Substance abuse screening may also be ordered in addition to community service and substance abuse prevention or treatment and rehabilitation.

Three-time offenders may be fined up to $500 and have their driver's licenses suspended for 180 days to one year. They may also be required to perform community service and participate in substance abuse screening, prevention and treatment.

The bill does not relax current penalty sanctions against retailers who sell or furnish alcoholic beverages to minors.

"Prior to this law, courts placed the entire burden of enforcement on the retailer," Sarafasaid. "With little chance of punishment, minors who wanted to purchase alcohol would go from store to store until they were able to buy the products they desired."

Founded in 1916, the Associated Food Dealers of Michigan is the voice of Michigan's food and beverage industry, representing more than 2,700 retailers, wholesalers, distributors and manufacturers throughout the state.

TASTE BUDS

CHEF LARRY JANES

Don't sweat over pie make yours a cool one ith the unusually hot weather we've been sweating over lately, I can't imagine why anyone would choose to spend an afternoon in the kitchen baking pies. For a refreshing alternative, try refrigerator or freezer pies, which can take just minutes to prepare.

Contrary to popular belief, today's prepackaged pie shells aren't really as bad as momma once said. Let's face it, on a humid day, who wants to make a pie shell anyway?

In all honesty though, you can make a wonderful crust in minutes with a food processor and package of Oreo's or other store-bought cookies. Of course, if you subscribe to the "eat one, use one" theory of baking, it can get a bit fattening, especially when coupled with the tablespoon or two of butter, margarine, flavored liqueur, coconut or chopped nuts that's needed to hold the cookie crust together. Even dieters can produce elegant mouth-watering crusts with graham crackers or fat free cookies.

Cookie crusts

Making a cool pie crust can be as basic or as elegant as the baker chooses. Most of the time, crushed cream-filled cookies can be pressed into a pie pan with minimal bother.

With the addition of chopped fruit, shaved chocolate, pre-toasted and finely ground nuts, a simple Oreo crust can take on an added dimension. Further upgrades include brushing the crusts with melted chocolate chips, or a healthy dousing of Bailey's, Amaretto or any coffee-flavored liqueur. As a matter of fact, when testing the recipes for this column, I discovered that brushing bottom crusts with melted chocolate and then chilling creates a perfect barrier against melting ice cream, pudding or mousse. Bottom crusts brushed with chocolate and chilled didn't get soggy after filling was added.

Fabulous fillings

As far as fillings are concerned, the simple addition of ice cream or more complex mixtures of egg whites, gelatin and whipped cream tend to top the charts as favorites. A simple crust can be filled with softened ice cream, drizzled with fudge or chocolate sauce and garnished with cherries, More complex fillings can be made with prepackaged puddings and basic mousse recipes. Add liqueur, flavorings, chopped fruit, nuts or other confections such as coconut, sprinkles and

For optimum results, remove just enough ice cream from the freezer and allow it to soften in a bowl rather than removing the entire half-gallon carton. Once ice cream has softened, it has a tendency to crystallize when refrozen, so allow the ice cream to sit just long enough so that you can stir it. The ice cream should resemble soft serve

Again, people concerned about their fat intake will probably want to substitute fat-free ice cream, frozen yogurt or sherbet. Sorbets are made with water and, best enjoyed by themselves. Mousse pies or chilled pies made with eggs require a bit more energy during the initial production stage but are well worth the effort.

Having a good mixer is tantamount to having a spectacular chilled pie. Make sure the gelatin and sugars are well dissolved and incorporated. Follow recipe directions. You will get a higher yield of whipped cream when the whipping cream is well chilled, and bowls and beaters are also placed in the freezer for an hour or so before beating begins.

Lighter mousse or chilled pies have a tendency to pick up refrigerator or freezer tastes easily, so be sure not to store them too close to last night's garlic-ladened pasta primavera in the refrigerator or that frozen walleye buried in the freezer.

If you're looking to serve a crowd, think about preparing one of my cool pie recipes in a springform pan. The recipes can easily be doubled or tripled, and you can line up ladyfingers, vanilla wafers, gingersnaps or whatever cookie you choose around the inside perimeter of the pan. When the filling is added and well chilled or frozen, simply spring open the pan and you have a glorious dessert that looks as good as it tastes!

t's sweltering hot outside, over 90 degrees F., on a sunny, humid July afternoon, and baklava is baking in the oven at Holy Transfiguration Orthodox Church in Livonia.

At a huge wooden table in the center of the hot kitchen, barely cooled by a fan, parishioners Anna Smerechnak, Elaine Petouhoff, Helen Hall, Anne Hyrila, and Luba Smerechnak are laughing, and busily mixing dough for pierogi. A pot of freshly made beet soup is warming on the stove.

"How can you stand to cook in this heat?" I ask the women who are preparing food to be served at Holy Transfigura-tion's second annual Fall Fest on Sept. 10. "It's like taking a sauna bath while we're cooking," they laugh. "It's good for your skin, it smooths out the wrinkles." No one wanted to take credit for their part in this festival. "Our volunteers are so faithful, they're a joy to work with," said church pastor the Rev. Michael Matsko. "We started out five years ago with about 25 families. Now we're about 90, and still growing."

Festival proceeds go toward a fund that was established to build a new church on the seven acre site. Holy Transfiguration was founded as a mission parish of St. Peter & Paul Orthodox Church on Gilbert Street in Detroit.

"They purchased the property out here to serve parishioners who relocated from Detroit," said Matsko. "We're a Heinz 57. We have parishioners of all nationalities - Russian, Serbian, Macedonian, Ukrainian, Romanian, and even Irish."

The current church building, at 36075 W. Seven Mile Road, built in 1959 doubles as an activities hall. It was formerly the United Church of Christ.

Leonard and Elaine Petouhoff who have lived in Livonia for 22 years are longtime parishioners.

On this hot day, keep everyone going. Anne Hyrila of Plymouth is in the kitchen helping. Homemade kiefles are her specialty. Sisters Anna and Luba Smerchnak of Detroit are also lending a hand. "I dabble in everything," said Anna. "I wash dishes, and roll pierogi dough." Her sister made the beet soup that everyone is sampling at lunch.

Gallo Sonoma varietals are a good value Chardonneys are great with griffed poultry, sectord, curry dishes and grilled vegetables.

If you've been in a wine shop lately, has been quietly making wine in Sonoyou probably noticed Gallo Sonoma varietals, well-priced just over $10. If you're old enough to remember Hearty Burgundy, the Gallo wine that beat the socks off every red in its price category years ago, you may ask, "How good are these Gallo Sonoma wines?" Our reply is very good! Gallo 1993 Sonoma Chardonnay ($11), has attractive aromas with solid fruit and oak accents. It finishes balanced and creamy.

Zinfandel lovers alert! Gallo 1992 Sonoma Zinfandel ($14) is dynamite with berry aromas and rich fruit flavors. To paraphrase an auto ad, "this is not your father's Gallo!"

The interesting part is that the scene for all this was set in 1938, when the Gallo brothers purchased their first Sonoma County grapes in Dry Creek Spradlin & Associates, Lapeer, Mich., Valley that is today, home to a number of stellar wineries. Since 1947, Gallo ma County at its Frei Brothers Winery facility. The wine went into Gallo blends made in Modesto, Calif. Since the 1940s, Gallo has also been slowly acquiring prime benchland vineyards in Sonoma County. Today, Gallo owns more than 2,000 acres in three premier winegrowing appellations: Russian River Valley, Dry Creek Valley and Alexander Valley. Now, Gallo is the largest vineyard owner on California's North Coast which includes Napa; Sonoma and Mendocino Counties. We bet you had no idea!

$15). Borrello briefly discusses each of over 130 wineries in the region from Wisconsin's Door peninsula across Indiana, Michigan, Ohio, Ontario and into New York's Finger Lakes region. If you're planning a fall color tour and would like to stop at a winery, this soft-cover edition, available at Borders and other area bookstores, gives you everything you need to know in advance of your visit. ■ If you've experienced a corked bottle of wine, the musty, awful smell that develops from a poorly manufactured cork, relief is on the way. The first steps to solve the problem were taken by St. Francis Winery in Sonoma Valley's city of Kenwood. Several years ago, the winery changed from natural corks to a synthetic material trade-named Cellukork.

St. Francis did extensive experiments before making the change. Wines aged just fine, but consumers and restaurant wait personnel complained that they could not get the closure out of the bottle with conventional cork-

The inventive society that we are has come up with a product that's superior to Cellukork. It's trade named SupremeCorq. Again, St. Francis took a wine problem by the proverbial neck and has changed to the new synthetic. You can be one of the first to open a bottle of wine with this new cork if you purchase 1994 St. Francis Chardonnay ($12). Hopefully, this yellow-tan cork will not be the whole attraction, the wine is terrific and an excellent value!

When something's good, word travels fast and Murphy-Goode Winery in California's Alexander Valley was swift to act. The 1994 Murphy-Good Pinot Blanc ($12.50) has a purple SupremeCorq closure. "Now, I am able to guarantee the quality of every bottle of our Pinot Blanc," said winemaker Christina Benz. If you don't know pinot blane and you like chardonnay, try this one. It was 100 percent barrel fermented in a combination of 36 percent new French and air-dried American oak. The wine's interplay of fruit and oak is very harmonious. ■ It's Wine Shootout time again!

Add a chic pillow for instant design hen it comes to pillow talk, the folks at Drexel Heritage have the last word. In their glossy home design book, "Moments," the accent pillow is described as a "versatile animal." "It can assume a sofa's stripes, an armchair's florals, or stand alone in bold, beautiful contrast. Accent pillows are the icing, but they can also be the cake, bringing style, sophistication and comfort to even the most reserved seats in the house."

A few plump decorative pillows can change the entire look of a room. Layered on a bed, propped in the curve of a chair or scattered across a sofa-back, a beyy of downy-soft pillows give your tired furnishings a new personality.

Mix and match

A tip from the Drexel Heritage designers: Vary pillow sizes, shapes and even fabrics for a rich multi-layered effect. See the Drexel Heritage line of accent pillows including elegant tapestries and exotic animal prints, at Gorman's in Troy, Novi and Southfield, If you're searching for one accent pillow that makes a statement on its own. hurry over to The Print Gallery, 29203 Northwestern Hwy. in Southfield, where owner Diane DeCillis features fine art pillows by artist Barbara A. Wood, Wood's famous images of women are reproduced on corded canvas pillows. Her coveted designs include "Tea Time," "Pearl," "Solitaire," and "Tulips." ($35-$55.)

"I can't keep these exquisite pillows," says De-Cillis. "They're selling faster than I can get them in." Definitely worth a look.

The Print Gallery also offers artful pillows from the old masters, including Boticelli, Michelangelo, Monet, Renoir and Van Gogh. More abstract images by Klee and Picasso are soon to arrive ($40).

Rustic charms

At the Eddle Bauer Home Store in Twelve Oaks, in Novi, pillows are tossed on beds and sofas to enhance the casual mountain lodge mood of the furnishings. Look for woven Kilims ($59) velvety corduroys ($22) and madras patchwork plaids ($22) that enliven ever-popular denim up-

New colors and textures for fall at The Bombay Company in Twelve Oaks include throw pillows with names like Mambo, Trevi and Loden Feather. The designs are richly patterned with leaves and swirls, plumes and flowers and thistles. The pillows are edged in lush gold cording or thick fringe with tassels. Colors are warm and autumnlike, from subtle mochas to rich burgundies ($25-$35). Nothing is more inviting than a bed layered with coordinating dust ruffles, sheets and comforters. A toss of pillows finishes the composition, brings new pattern interest, and gives the room a decorator look. The Liz at Home system of bed design helps you define a style by offering a wardrobe of bedroom and bath fashions with mix and match versatility. It's the details that count, like the perfect accent pillows that pull together the entire look.

Collegiate sportswear sales take the field

BY LINDA ANN CHOMIN STAFF WRITER

The first hurran of the college sports season echoed loudly over the gridiron in Ann Arbor a few Saturdays ago as the University of Michigan Wolverines beat Virginia 18-17. After the game, alumni, students and parents rushed the M-Den at Laurel Park Place in Livonia.

Sales of college-crested merchandise - everything from sweatshirts and mugs to Waterford crystal, Cross pens, and 24k goldplated cufflinks - were booming.

Michigan including five in Ann Ar-, ington Hills.

bor, is the official retailer for the University of Michigan Athletic Department. (Not wanting to leave State fans offsides, a small area of the store is devoted to green and white wear emblazoned with the Spartan logo).

At one time when the M-Den was called The Rivalry, the merchandise mix was 50-50, but slower State sales led district manager Mark Hirth to alter the odds 90-10 in favor of Michi-

"U of M wear is number one nationally as far as sales go. U of M people are crazy. They'll buy anything The M-Den, with eight locations in with an M on it," said Hirth of Farm-

"The authentic team uniforms are very popular from football to basketball to hockey. But now, people are starting to demand other things with the M on it. That's why we can put out a mail order catalog twice a year, because there are enough customers to support it."

Collegiate wear is big business nowadays for sportswear retailers, Purchases of gift items by parents and grandparents intercept more retail dollars than ever before especially in the fall when students head back to school.

Although Big 10 merchandise is at the top of the heap, smaller institutions of learning score their share of loyal customers as well. At The Bas. ketball Court in downtown Farmington, Central, Eastern and Western Michigan University apparel outsells many of the major players.

"At Christmas we sold more CMU than U of M probably because you can't get them anywhere else," said Becky Thomas co-owner with husband Carl. Both are Central grads. "We try to target the lesser known schools because there are so many graduates and alumni in our area,"

At Champ's Sports at Twelve Oaks, in Novi, alumni are number one when it comes to buying collegiate clothing and jersey's, but full size and mini helmets, boxer shorts, and hats sporting Florida State, Texas A & M, and Georgetown imprints also do well according to spokesman Kirk Grant. "With the jerseys, it's the status thing. It's collegiate wear that's good looking that you see on TV in the championships," he said. "Right new, it's U of M, MSU, Penn State, and North Carolina."

How fortunate for me — first to find the socks and then to get them hand delivered! Linda saved me a great deal of time to say the least. I might add that I am hardly a first time shopper. However, in my experience no one has ever "gone the extra mile" for me. I have never seen Linda; on the day she dropped off the socks I was in

we'd catch on by Whenever a

You'd think movie character walks alone in a creepy place, the music stops and the action slows. Suddenly, from outside of the frame, a mysterious figure appears out of nowhere and the audience jumps a collective mile.

Such moments happen a good five times in Clive Barker's "Lord of Illusions," which plays not so much like a well-staged magic show as a ride through a creaky carnival spook house. The tricks couldn't be cheesier, but often we're scared just the same.

Scott Bakula, late of TV's "Quantum Leap," plays Harry Demore, a private detective attracted to "the dark side." He has just finished the exorcism of a young boy and now gets mixed up with a cult case involving the world's foremost magicians.

Swann (Kevin O'Connor) sells out glitzy, David Copperfieldstyle magic spectaculars — the kind where scantily-clad dancers circle Baroque sets. He was once the student of Nix (Daniel Van Bargen), whose authentic powers allowed him to levitate, juggle fire, and plant realistic illusions REVIEW in the heads of both disciples and nonbellevers.

Nix is dead, buried deep, but Swann has good reason to believe that he is ready to stage a comeback. As the friends who helped kill Nix begin to die themselves, Swann must devise a way to protect himself and his wife from what could be the devil.

. The remaining cult members sense his coming. Wiping their mouths from a meal of raw animal flesh, the believers tear out their hair, kneel on broken glass, and prepare for the coming of their savior.

You get the sense that Clive Barker is one sick puppy who enjoys coming up with this stuff far more than we do watching it. Movies like this should be fun, but the laughs in "Lord of Illusions" are mostly unintentional since Barker and company are so seriously intent on disturbing us.

Bakula tries hard as the ghostbusting gumshoe, but he doesn't seem tough enough or romantic enough to kick down doors or woo Swann's wife. O'Connor's Swann fares better. Reluctant to use the power he possesses, he walks around in a daze, like he's seen things that no man ever should.

Some of the best horror movies ("Night of the Living Dead,"

"Texas Chainsaw Massacre") can approach something almost mystical in their low-budget minimalism. Barker's medium-size budget only makes his movie look cheap, with much of the money spent on C-grade computer imag-

Though "Lord of Illusions" is happily free of sadistic sexual content, the camera rarely turns away from gross-out effects, like tongues being severed or knives penetrating flesh.

The latter happens in one of the movie's few clever scenes, where one of Swann's Illusions goes horribly wrong. We watch from the magician's point of view as heavy swords fall from the ceiling as he tries in vain to free himself from the rotating table he's strapped to.

The magic angle is a good one, though Barker fails to even hint at what lies behind the display cases of a magicians' repository where all the secrets are stored. In "Lord of Illusions" the popular writer/director barely gives us the illusion that he knows any more about magic than we do.

'Watch It' offers sharp views of men, women, relationships

BY LEANNE ROGERS

A group of guys sharing a house, spending their time partying and playing elaborate practical jokes on each other. Sounds like a frat house but in the enjoyable 1993 film "Watch It" the guys are all in their mid-thirtles and a bit old for their lifestyle.

The title of the film comes from the game of practical jokes that started when several of the men knew each other in college. Nothing is out of bounds. The only rule to the game is that you can't get mad, you can only get even.

The owner of the house is Michael, played by Jon Tenney, a handsome but smarmy womanizer. A new addition to the household is his cousin John, played by Peter Gallagher, a guy who can't seem to settle in a career or even in one place for very long.

Things become a bit tense when John falls in love with his cousin's former girlfriend. With Michael's lack of maturity and some childhood grudges against to the cousins as the Womanizer and the Non-Committer.

There are some pretty hilarious exchanges in the film about men, women, relationships and how to avoid them. One of the roommates — there is one in everyone circle of friends - waxes philosophically about why younger women are so attracted to guys who are jerks. Since he readily puts himself in that category, he describes himself as "human cocaine."

For all the humor, "Watch It" also makes some sharp observations about its characters and the way they approach life. Even at their worst behavior, the men still have some genuine emotion and pathos. Sometimes they just can't help but be immature jerks. All of the performances are very good including John McGinnis as the philosophical roommate panic-stricken when he falls in love and Lili Taylor as a young woman wiser than her older and better educated friend.

Quirky 'Younger and Younger' lacks depth, whimsy and heart

By LEANNE ROGERS STAFF WRITER

Jonathan Younger has a pretty cushy life — sleeping late, getting his newspaper and going out to breakfast, taking long naps and going out dancing. Unfortunately for his harried wife Penclope, that lifestyle leaves her doing all the work hunched over her desk at their storage business.

An inveterate womanizer, heart attack. But Jonathan is in for a couple shocks — his wife business is soon headed down the about running the business. That's the basic scene for the 1995 film "Younger and Younger" of the business and to the appearance of Penelope, who looks younger each time she turns up.

Donald Sutherland and Lolita Davidovich, the latter hardly recognizable under heavy makeup early in the film, play the couple who may or may not have actually liked each other when they married some years earlier. Or maybe Jonathan, a transplanted Londoner, married Penelope to get into her family's storage business.

I like a film about unusual or eccentric people as well as the next guy but there needs to be more depth and feeling to make it work. Unfortunately "Younger and Younger" lacks any real feeling. Writer/director Percy Adlon skewers any possibility for genu-

Unfortunately their efforts are pretty much wasted.

Jonathan eventually starts to feel had about his wife's death - the title referring to the name but only after she starts looking young and curvaceous. He has treated her so shabbily when she was alive that it's kind of hard to understand why she still is interested in him or to care about how Adlon's other films like "Sugarbaby" and "Bagdad Cafe" had guirkiness but also whimsy and heart which "Younger and Younger" totally lacks. Watching this film makes it easy to understand why it ended up on video with little or no theatrical release.

Glenn defense stands out, 24-7

Westland John Glenn rallied from a 7-3 halftime deficit to beat Howell in its season football opener, 24-7. The Rockets were tough defensively, holding the Highlanders to just 52 total yards.

BY BRAD EMONS

Westland John Glenn Rockets started slowly, but finished with a bang in its season football opener Friday at home.

The Rockets, state Class AA semifinalists a year ago, scored 21 unanswered points in the second half to douse Howell, 24-7, avenging last year's 32-0 opening-game defeat.

It was the defense that pulled Glenn through.

The Rockets limited Howell, also a Class AA playoff qualifier last year, to a mere 52 yards total offense.

"Our defense held us in there when things were not going well early," Glenn coach Chuck Gordon said. "But they continued to play hard and gave us a chance to win the ballgame."

On the opening kickoff the Rockets muffed a designed "pooch" shot. The Highlanders' Kirk Pietila recovered at the Glenn 40-yard line.

Howell took just 4:07 to score on nine plays, capped by Matt Ventura's 6-yard swing pass to Josh Dukes out of the backfield. Kris Pennell added the extra point to make it 7-0.

But Glenn's defense played a stellar game the rest of the night, limiting the Highlanders to a pair of first downs.

Ira Bargon, Jeff Cook and Keith King all had sacks, while Bernie Toby intercepted a pass and blocked a punt, the latter leading to a Glenn

"Howell does a lot of things out of that wishbone formation that you have to be prepared for," Gordon said. "One of the disappointing things is that we forced some turnovers early and didn't take advantage, but at the same time our team kept its poise and continued to play hard.

"And the other thing is that when you're playing the first half, you don't know what to expect. We hung tough when things weren't going well, but we battled back at the end.

The Rockets got a break near the end of the first half when Ventura misfired on a third-down quick kick. Mike Sosnowski recovered at the Howell 26, leading to a 32-yard field goal by Steve Paling just as the halftime clock expired.

Trailing 7-3 at intermission, Glenn offensive line coach Craig Hnatuk cleared the air with his players.

"He set them straight on a couple of things and they came back and played the way they're capable of," Gordon said.

On the second play of the second half, Glenn linebacker Matt Griglio recovered a Howell fumble at the Highlanders' 26.

Five plays later, Glenn senior tailback Jay Jackson, who led all rushers with 93 yards on 19 carries, soared in from 5 yards out to give Glenn a 10-7 advantage (after Paling's first of three straight PATs).

On Howell's next possession, Bernie Toby charged in from right end and blocked Pennell's punt, recovering at the Highlanders' 9.

Sophomore quarterback Justin Berent, who entered the game late in the first half to direct the Glenn attack, then scored on a 2-yard sneak and Glenn was up 17-3.

"You can't scout the kicking game in the preseason, but we wanted to get some pressure on the punter,"

Agatha topples Trojans

Carino, a transfer from Redford Catholic Central, gained 136 yards on 18 carries Friday, leading the Aggies to a 24-6 non-league victory at Livonia Clarenceville. What makes Carino's performance so remarkable is that it was his first game as a running back. He was a defensive lineman on CC's freshman squad last season.

"I knew Bill was leaving, and that was one of the reasons I came here." Carino said. "I felt a lot of pressure, and I knew I had to play well. But I don't feel any more pressure after tonight."

Carino also excelled on defense as he collected two big sacks and another tackle for a loss in his first game ever at outside linebacker.

Carino had plenty of help from senior quarterback Mike Wilson. The 6foot-3, 225-pounder scored on runs of 1 and 2 yards and tossed a 10-yard touchdown pass to junior Mike Simp-

The Aggies opened the scoring, marching 68 yards in seven plays. Agatha had two breaks go its way once when Carino recovered his own fumble for a 5-yard gain and another when Wilson completed a 20-yard pass to Simpson on fourth down, just before getting drilled by two Trojans.

The drive was capped when Wilson hit a wide open Simpson on a slant pattern from 10 yards. Wilson got the two-point conversion on a bootleg. Wilson completed four of 10 passes.

Clarenceville later drove to the Aggies 14, but senior quarterback Rob Ashton was picked off at the goal line by Agatha's Mike Fenbert.

"We played a bend-but-don't-break defense, and they really stepped up when they had to," Agatha coach Gary Tuz said. Ashton completed only four of 14 passes for 49 yards. Junior Chris Lakner rushed 13 times for 45 yards and Bryan DeCaire gained 37 yards on four runs for the Trojans.

"I was happy with how Rob played, but he still has a lot to learn," Clarenceville coach Chuck Donaldson relax and not get so worked up."

The Aggies took advantage of a short kickoff to open the second half, and increased their lead to 14-0 when Wilson scored on a 2-yard sneak. Wilson found Carino in the end zone for the two-point conversion.

The Trojans had another scoring chance when Jim Vallimont recovered a fumbled punt at the Agatha 12. But three plays later they fumbled the ball back to Agatha's Mike Mil-

"We're real young and play with a lot of heart, but there were just a couple of times we couldn't stuff the ball in," Donaldson said.

The Trojans put together a 52-yard drive in nine plays, and closed the margin to 16.6 with 3:48 remaining. The score came on a 1-yard sneak by Ashton.

Clarenceville's on-side kick attempt failed and Agatha capitalized with a 40-yard scoring drive. Wilson's 1-yard sneak and ensuing pass to Simpson for the conversion ended the scoring.

"I think we still have to learn how to win, and I'm not sure how long that will take," Donaldson said. "They'll have to learn that one big play by the other team doesn't beat you.'

Tuz was happy after the game with the play of his team, in particular his underclassmen.

"I've been concerned about our youth, particularly in the skilled positions," Tuz said. "We start two freshmen and two sophomores and have a lot of room for improvement. But I'm very pleased with the win."

Livonia Stevenson head football coach Tim Gabel had just wrapped up his first-ever varsity win, 27:0, Friday night over Redford Union at Howard Kraft Field in Redford.

As the Stevenson players headed for the bus, Gabel flagged down a reporter from a distance. That had to be another first — for a reporter.

Usually it's the other way around. Gabel couldn't wait to talk about the players who made his head-coaching debut a memorable.

The Spartans, who graduated several standouts from last year's Class AA state playoff team, dominated RU in every category but punting. RU junior punter Eric Scott lived up to expectations that he might be one of the best in the state, booming six for more than a 40-yard average. The Spartana never allowed Scott to try a field goal or extra point, limiting the Panthers to

96 total yards (55 rushing, 41 passing) and three

Stevenson senior defensive end Ryan Culloty sacked RU quarterback Joe Bernwanger once for a seven-yard loss and senior defensive back Tom Dumout intercepted a pass.

Another highlight of the night didn't involve scoring - it was a big-time block by senior Rob Drolet that flattened an RU player on a punt return in the third quarter.

"Wins are for the kids, as a coach, you feel losses for weeks," said Gabel, who was an assistant under retired head coach Jack Reardon. "This senior class has been overshadowed by that group (that graduated) their whole careers. They realized in the winter it's their turn. We sent 23 players to the CMU (Central Michigan University) Camp, and it's usually seven or. eight. They're in a football mind set."

It looks like Stevenson football is alive and well, both from a public relations and coaching standpoint.

Junior tailback Gade Clark acored on a 54yard run in the first quarter and led the Spartans with a career-high 198 yards on 19 carries.

Junior tailback Kurt Bearer had 46 yards on five carries, scoring on a 35-yard TD run. Senior quarterback Dean Bacheller (four of seven for 36 yards) threw a 13-yard TD pass to senior splitend Jeff Backus and a 4-yard TD pass to junior swing back Matt Allison.

Senior fullback Rodolfo Pacheco, playing in his first game since transferring from Dearborn Divine Child, had 32 yards rushing on seven car-

"He's a class guy, my victories will come," RU first-year head coach Glenn Scala said, referring to Gabel putting his reserves in midway through the third quarter. "That's a good football team over there. We had a lot of missed assignments, didn't do a good job of tackling. We're leaving here with our heads high."

Titans' QB stings Franklin

BY BRAD EMONS

Was that Doug Flutie, or how about Fran Tarkenton?

Whatever the comparison, Sterling Heights Stevenson's scrambling quarterback Mike Morris gave Livonia Franklin fits in its season home opener, leading the Titans to a 21-7 vic-

Morris, a starter in secondary a year ago when Stevenson reached the state Class AA semifinals, was impressive in his first offensive start, hitting 16 of 32 passes for 226 yards.

But the senior was particularly sharp in the first half, throwing for 206 yards on 14 of 28 attempts, many on plays when he was rolling out of the pocket.

"They (Stevenson) are strong up front, but I thought we matched up with them," Franklin second-year coach Rick Lee said. "They wore us down a little bit. He (Morris) was elusive and he came up with some big third down plays."

Despite being outgained 474. 64 in total yardage and 19-3 in first downs, Franklin's defense kept the count close until Kyle Komusin's 85-yard touchdown run with 43 seconds left sealed the Patriots' fate.

"Franklin came out and played a game a lot like we had here two years ago," said Stevenson coach Rick Bye, referring to the Titans' 21-12 win in 1993. "We needed a long run at the end to put them away. It was almost an identical game.

"Those Franklin kids are good and they played us tough. They hung in there." Stevenson controlled the ball for much of the lengthy first quarter. Ironically, game officials failed to detect that the scoreboard clock had been mistakenly set an additional three minutes (from 12:00 to 15:00) at the outset of the ballgame. The Titans ran 21 plays during the period to Franklin's six. Stevenson scored with 1:01 left in the quarter on a 17-yard touchdown toss from Morris to Tim Steele. Ed Speck added the first of his three extra points to make it 7-0. Then, with 7:07 left in the first half, Morris eluded Franklin's rush and connected with Steele again, this time on an 11yard scoring pass for a 14-0 advantage. Franklin, limited to 18 first-half total yards, answered Stevenson's second score when speedy 5-foot-11, 141-pound senior Aaron Smith split the middle, made a couple of nifty. moves at midfield, and broke an 86-yard kickoff return for a TD.

Smith converted the extra point to slice the deficit to 14-7.

"That play kept them in there," Bye said. "And that play made things difficult for us the rest of the day."

In the third quarter, Stevenson began to pound the ball on the ground behind its massive line, but couldn't put any more points on the board.

Speck's 34-yard field goal attempt with 3:45 left in the third fell just below the crossbar.

Franklin, meanwhile, had trouble getting any type of offense going, but gained some life with 3:48 left in the game when defender David McMullen tipped a Morris pass and Kevin Biga intercepted the ball at the Patriots' 30.

Anthony Greco then gained 4 vards on a run and McMullen hit tight end Paul Terek with a 9-yard pass for Franklin's third first down of the game.

tion, that's for sure," said Lee, whose team lost 31-0 to the Titans in last year's opener. "Take away that long run at the end and I don't think they were two touchdowns better than us today, but we're still a step away. Dave's pass (to Smith) was a little underthrown.

"We still need discipline and patience with our offense."

Bye, meanwhile, was just happy to get out of Franklin with a

"I think we're on track," he said. "Our quarterback made some big plays and we did what we had to do today. You can't expect to be polished or perfect in your opener, but we have a lot of things to build on. We're getting better and better."

Franklin, which forced three fumbles, but couldn't come up with any, will face another Stevenson team this Saturday at home. The Patriots take on the crosstown rival Spartans from Livonia, who opened their season with a 27.0 triumph at Redford Union.

"Number 20 (Gade Clark) is a strong runner," Lee said. "And even though they (Livonia Stevenson) lost a lot of people, they're still big up front. He (Clark) proved he's a strong runner."

Stevenson wins 5th straight relays

By C.J. RISAK STAFF WRITER

Another year, another title . . . Or so it seems to go for Livonia Stevenson's girls swim team. Is there anyone in the Western Lakes Activities Association capable of stopping this Spartan express?

Not at this juncture — meaning in this decade.

The season-opening WLAA Relays, hosted by Plymouth Salem Thursday, is a typical example. By the mid-point of the event, coaches from the other 10 teams: knew (if indeed they needed convincing prior to the meet) that Stevenson could collect top honors by almost any margin.

"Are you kidding?" answered Salem coach Chuck Olson, when asked who other than Stevenson last won the Relays. "I can't remember when they didn't win.

(five, to be precise)."

Olson pondered the question for a moment longer, then continued. "They had that 'down' period a few years back. And we really enjoyed taking advantage of it."

It's unlikely any WLAA team will be able to reap such pleasure any time soon. The Spartans rolled to a first-place finish in the '95 Relays, sponsored by the Plymouth and Canton Rotary Clubs, scoring 262 points. Northville was second (226). See team standings..

The Spartans won five of the 10 relays, but — as if to prove their dominance - four of their firsts came in the first five events.

Tina Caranicolas, Becky Noechel, Julie Kern and Marti McKenzie combined for a win in the first event, the 400-yard medley relay (4:18.67). Noechel.

"It's been four years, at least Heather Dallas, McKenzie and al medley relay, and it came with Jordyn Godfroid teammed for a win in the third event, the 200 breaststroke relay (2:14.60).

> Two wins in three races, and Stevenson's top swimmer -Anne Aristeo, a double-winner at last year's Class A finals hadn't even competed yet. "You can put her with any other three awimmers, in any race, and they'll win," Olson said of Aristeo, with little (or no) exaggeration.

> Aristeo, a junior, did get in the 200 backstroke relay and was part of a winner, with Julie Gallagher, Tonya Culp and Anne Moore (2:02.17). The Spartans collected their fourth first in the fifth race, the 200 butterfly relay, with Kelly Carlisle, Lynn Knapp, Jenny Marlowe and Marla McKenzie (1:56.60).

No. 5 came in the 400 individua record-breaking performance from Aristeo, Carlisle, Gallagher and Marlowe (4:18.63; old record, 4:24,29, set by Canton in '92).

The host Rocks had two wins to buoy their third-place finish. Zoe Yockey, the defending WLAA champion in diving, and Laura Berezak combined for a first 'in the diving relay (407.25 points), and Yvonne Lynn, Katie Bonner, Sara Casillas and Kellyann Williams won the 200 medley relay (1:58.77).

Other wins went to Harrison's Lisa Richardson, Julie Kluka, Karina Forberger and Dona Schwalm in the 400 free relay (3:56.33); North Farmington's Stephanie Cohen, Amanda Whitten, Cheri Farber and Amy Finkel in the 200 free relay (1;46.92); and Northville's took the crescendo free relay.

Phill rates Spartans 4th in Class A poll

BY BRAD EMONS STAFF WRITER

Livonia Stevenson girls swim coach Greg Phill is trying to keep the preseason hype to a minimum.

Although the Spartans rolled through the Western Lakes Relays Thursday (see related story), it's too early to tell what kind of team Phill will send to state Class A meet this November.

Last year Stevenson took sixth, but Phill admits this team may be a little better.

We're probably a little deeper," he said. "I'd rank us fourth right now behind Ann Arbor Pioneer. (Birmingham) Seaholm and (Grand Rapids) Forest Hills Central (the defending champs)."

Stevenson returns several standouts including junior Anne Aristeo, a U.S. Olympic Trials qualifier and state champ in the 500-yard freestyle and 200 individual medlev.

Other notable returnees include Tina Caranicolas, Julie Gallagher, Kelly Carlisle, Becky Noechel, Lynn Knapp, Heather Dallas, Jordyn Godfroid, Marla McKenzie, Tonya Culp, Anne

Moore and Jenny Marlowe. Two freshmen, Julie Kern and Marti McKenzie, also made their presence immediately known at the WLAA Relays.

"Julie should score at the state meet," Phill said. "Some of her splits were three seconds faster than the state cut.

"And Marti is pretty good, too. Her goal is to qualify for the state. She's a lot like her older sister Michelle, who swam for me here." Stevenson could also get a boost from diver Beth Gallagher, who helped the Spartans take a third in the WLAA meet. Gallagher is on track to break Jenny Sabina's 1993 school record.

"She's been diving really well and she might be the best diver Stevenson has had in awhile," Phill said.

Phill spread out his lineup during Thursday's opening-season meet.

'It's real early and we didn'tload up in any event, but I thought we swam really well and we had a couple of surprising drops from other people," he said. "But you put Aristeo on any team and they're going to be good. But we also have others. We swam real well. It's nothing I didn't expect because most of our kids swim year-round."

and perhaps not quite ready for the new beginning. Sometimes a word to the wise is a handy thing to do, and while I do not claim to know more than anyone else about the sport, I offer some advice for my fellow bowlers.

Ray Krauter of Ray's Bowling Pro Shop in Westland Bowl says a common problem for those who put the ball away for the Summer is "It doesn't fit right," when they return. The size and span of the holes did not change at all. Your hand did, said Krauter.

The fact is that it may have just shrunk or atrophied a little from lack of bowling for three months. Ray says to get out and throw a few practice games for a couple of days and see if your hand doesn't just stretch right back to where the ball fits the same as it always

For those who gained or lost a lot of weight, you may have to have it plugged and re-drilled to fit properly. If your finger or. thumb is just a fraction off, it could affect your release and take a lot of pins off your game.

He also suggests that you check the soles of your bowling shoes very carefully if they have been stored with the ball over the summer, as some of the lane oil which gets on the ball could work it's way into the the shoes.

If this happens to you, a good working over with a wire brush or season is sud- finish and your slide will be as practice. denly upon us, you would expect it to be.

Another thing to do is take an some of us were : inventory of your supplies, if you use bowlers tape, easy slide or other such items.

Krauter does not recommend the use of a resin bag for bowling, there are better "grip" items on the market than resin bags and much less messy to have around.

If the lanes at first seem to be hooking a lot, or not very much, do not panic. They could have been resurfaced over the Summer and have more than the usual amount of oil to begin the season.

If you bowl in several different houses, you may choose to have a different ball that works best in each place.

I am not suggesting that you must have a dozen different bowling balls, maybe two or three would suffice, but in many cases, a different ball will seem to work better in different conditions. Unless you are a pro, it may take a while to figure it out.

Physically, if you have not bowled for a while, try a little stretching exercise before you hit the lanes.

Another thing you may want to do is keep a record of your scores. Most bowling centers have those pocket size scorecards on the counter and they are free for the taking. I have kept them up since I started bowling in 1961 and can tell you exactly how many 200 games, 600 series and 700's I have

It's really pretty easy, and if you miss a week or so, the secretary has all your scores for the season. If you want to improve your game, the best way is simply

The bowling Brillo pad will restore the natural to get out and practice, practice,

Many houses have special rates at certain times which makes the practice sessions more affordable, especially if you happen to be a senior citizen. When you are on practice time, don't be shy about experimenting with a different "line."

That's something you may not want to try during league play, so check with your local bowling center on open play, especially for when they would have any special

I suggest a visit to the local pro shop at the beginning of the season. You may want to have your ball professionally sanded or polished, depending on lane condi-

At any rate it's a good idea to get to know your pro shop operator. He will give you the best advice. If they do any coaching, he may be just the person to see during practice time.

■ There is still time to sign up for the Pro-Am at Taylor Lanes in conjunction with the PBA Greater Detroit Open Pro Tournament. It is a chance to bowl with the pros, win some money, and come away with a new ball, the Red Zone from Brunswick.

Squad times are 1, 5:30, 8 and 10:30 p.m. Friday, Oct. 6th; also, 2:30, 5, 7:30 and 10 p.m. Saturday

Youth bowling squads (ages 5-21) will meet at 3:30 p.m. Friday, Oct. 6.

Hurry up and get in on the action while there are still some spots open, as some of the squads are already full. For further details call (313) 946-9092.

Pontiac Sunfire burns up the road

By Anne Fracassa Avanti NewsFeatures

CLARKSVILLE, Tenn. -The news came suddenly and there wasn't time to get another car. The prospect of traveling hundreds of miles from Detroit to northern Tennessee overnight in a small car like the 1995 Pontiac Sunfire didn't seem too inviting.

After all, the Sunfire is a subcompact. And I'm tall. I like to have room when I'm in a car for more than a couple of hours.

Gomer Pyle would have yelled "shazammm!" if he could have driven a Sunfire instead of an Army jeep. Believe it or not, the Sunfire was a pleasant surrrprise, surrrprise, surrrprise, Sgt. Carter, because it logged an incredible 54 miles per gallon on the freeway, significantly higher than the 32 mpg estimate reported by the Environmental Protection Agency for this can More on to the trip back home. It's new from Pontiac this year, replacing the Pontiac Sunbird (I owned a 1980 Sunbird in college, by the way, and it was a sweet car, too). The Sunfire replaces the Sunbird in the segment, but is clearly all-new from the ground up.

It's truly a Pontiac, with the The Sunfire surprised me so Firebird's aggressive front end, much I actually looked forward that cute lighted "Pontiac" and gorgeous styling. It's not too aggressive, however, and can easily be a lady's car.

The Sunfire is powered by a standard 2.2-liter 4-cylinder overhead valve engine outfitted with a smooth shifting 5speed manual transmission. Driven was the 2-door SE coupe, which is the base model priced at just over $11,000.

It performed well on the trip - which was mostly straight interstate driving. Exiting and entering the highway didn't produce any white knuckles, so it accelerated well, but didn't leave anyone in the dust.

The interior instrumentation is wrapped around the driver — almost to the exclusion of the front passenger. It's got full instrumentation, including fort. a tachometer — sometimes those higher-priced sports jobs.

The center console is well planned and includes cupholders, armrest and a side-mounted parking brake. Take out the ashtray, and you've got yet another functional cupholder.

Built in Lordstown, Ohio, and Lansing, Mich. (along with the Chevrolet Cavalier), the Sunfire's rear seating area is nearly non-existent, mostly because taller people tend to flat-out maximize the leg room in front. We jammed a cooler, some snacks, the road atlas and a AAA Trip-Tik (with some bad info), a ton of magazines and the laptop back there and it all seemed comfortable. There are rear heating and air conditioning ducts — also usually found in more expensive cars — for rear passenger com-can almost hold a 5-liter box of wine — without the box. though. Pontiac engineers say it's actually 4.9 liters. An average-size ladies purse (not mine, though) could actually fit in there.

Another good thing — the ashtray/lighter area has a little pocket for the lighter to be stored in. You know how annoying it is to hear that little lighter roll around somewhere when you've plugged in the cell phone? Well, this little pocket keeps it secure and out of your way. A nice touch. Now ... Pontiac engineers say this is impossible. But we don't work for Pontiac so we'll tell you what we found: Our car totaled 54 miles per gallon on flat interstate driving in the neighborhood of 1,100 miles. The test Sunfire was especially fuelish going from Detroit to Dayton ($4 in gas) and from Dayton to Louisville (another $5 in gas).

From Detroit to Clarksville, we had put only $17 in the tank. The ride home cost us $22.75 in gas taking the exact AVANTI 1054, Avanti's same route.

few groceries fit nicely. The If we had flown, it would have cost more than $1,000 per per-

Official EPA numbers are 24 city and 36 highway. All I know is the car got great mileage.

The Sunfire comes in four flavors: The base SE coupe, the 4-door SE sedan, the 150-And the glove box: The thing horsepower 2.3-liter Quad 4 GT model and the SE convert-

> Smart styling and the decent price make this a great small car. And if the base model is this good, imagine what fun the GT or convertible must be.
